SYDNEY HARBOUR TRUST.
DEPARTURE OF THEIR ROYAL HIGHNESSES THE DUKE AND DUCHESS OF CORNWALL and YORK.
REGULATIONS FOR THE CONTROL OF TRAFFIC IN THE HARBOUR.
On the occasion of the departure from the Port of Sydney of their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York on board the Royal Yacht OPHIR, the following regulations must be observed by all vessels of whatsoever description which may be afloat on the waters of Port Jackson on the day during which the departure is made—namely, on THURSDAY, the 6th June:—
1. After 11 a.m., and until H.M.S. OPHIR and Consorts clear the Heads, all incoming vessels must keep east of a line drawn between outer North Head and Hornby Light.
2. After 11 a.m., and until H.M.S. OPHIR and Consorts clear the Heads, the ferry steamers must not navigate south of Fort Denison, but may navigate north thereof at their own risk. Those plying down the Harbour must navigate the west Channel, and all ferry steamers must proceed at their usual rate of speed.
3. Any description of craft afloat on the waters of Port Jackson for the purpose of following H.M.S. OPHIR and Consorts must keep astern of the launches of the Harbour Trust or Water Police. Any master or person in charge of any vessel who disobeys any order aforesaid will be liable to a penalty not exceeding £100.

WHY PAY MIDDLEMEN'S PROFITS?
It is perfectly plain that the more hands any article passes through the more expensive it gets. Each has to have its profits, and the CONSUMER MUST PAY IT. If you purchase your Tea through a traveller you are most certainly PAYING DEARLY FOR IT—paying at least ONE UNNECESSARY middleman's PROFIT. When you buy LLOYD'S TEA you buy from FIRST HANDS, and pay but ONE FAIR PROFIT above the ACTUAL FIRST COST.
BUY LLOYD'S 1s 3d TEA.
It has all the qualities you want, with none of those you don't want. Sold in ½, 1, and 2 lb. pkts., Boxes, and Chests, at Lloyd's Three Tea Stores.

ANTHONY HORDERN'S,
ONLY UNIVERSAL PROVIDERS.

LAST WEEK
was a funny KIND OF WEEK. ROYALTIES were strongly IN EVIDENCE, and DEMOCRACIES held their own in SPLENDID STYLE. FUN was rampant, and BUSINESS was brisk. Such a blend of HIGH-TONED FESTIVITY and OUT FOR THE DAY enjoyment, of SHOPPING and SKYLARKING, seldom happens; but SYDNEYITES are SMART as well as JOLLY, so they took it ALL AS IT CAME, and had a RARE TIME.

THIS WEEK
things are GOING TO HUM. ROYALTIES are still at it, but DEMOCRACIES have gone back to their DAILY TOIL, and the CARES OF EVERYDAY LIFE have to be met. It's ALL VERY WELL to LAUGH AND GROW FAT, but continual LAUGHTER ending in a SUPERFLUITY of GREASE is hardly the thing for the FAMILY MAN and his dear little wife. For "MEN MUST WORK AND WOMEN MUST WEEP," and the LIGHTER the WORK and the FEWER the TEARS if they'll only

LAST WEEK
gave (taking Saturday and Monday as half-days) FOUR DAYS' WORK and TWO DAYS' PLAY, and no one could say, excepting the few UNWISE ONES who KEPT THEIR SHOPS OPEN on TUESDAY, that the GOOD OLD PROVERB was not applied. It says:—
"ALL WORK AND NO PLAY MAKES JACK A DULL BOY."
Well, all the JACKS AND ALL THE JILLS (excepting the SMALL MINORITY mentioned) had a HIGH TIME, and we guarantee that both JACK AND JILL, as well as all the others who followed in their FOOTSTEPS, are ALL THE BETTER for the change. THEIR BODIES are stronger and their HEADS clearer for the outing. INDEED, we have proof of this, for as a consequence of a CLEARER MENTAL VISION, heaps of people who, being in the SUBMERGED SIXTEENTH, hitherto have not done so, have determined to these converts are going to start to swell the HAPPY CROWD who visit the ONLY UNIVERSAL PROVIDERS every day, to cease the ETERNAL expensiveness and the EVERLASTING SHORTAGE that results from DOING BUSINESS at other stores, and to join the NOBLE ARMY of SPOT-CASHERS who, week in, week out, from JANUARY to DECEMBER, whether they've a PENNY to spend or a POUND,

THIS WEEK

A DRAMATIC BOOM.

NIGHT BIRDS OF LONDON	The Talk of Sydney The Talk of Sydney The Talk of Sydney The Talk of Sydney	NIGHT BIRDS OF LONDON

The Lyceum Theatre was again last evening packed from floor to ceiling, making the grand total over 26,200 persons who have witnessed this powerful and cleverly-written drama.

NIGHT BIRDS OF LONDON.

A play that possesses more Interesting Features, more Dramatic Effect, more Life and Colour, more Thrilling Sensation than any other drama ever witnessed.

The curtain raised six times nightly on the Great Gas Explosion Scene.

The Greatest Fire Scene ever Attempted.	NIGHT BIRDS OF LONDON.	The Most Realistic Scene of a London Thoroughfare.

Presented by

WILLIAM ANDERSON'S
FAMOUS DRAMATIC ORGANISATION, headed by Miss EUGENIE DUGGAN.

Since the opening night the Lyceum Theatre has been crowded, and has indicated how well the piece has hit the public taste. It has a well-connected plot, with an abundance of incidents for good dramatic effect, and as the characters are well interpreted, and the scenes are splendidly represented, a continuance of the bill is anticipated.

THE LEGEND OF FLORODORA,
By B. B.

In the far-off Philippines,
Where the sun is always shining,
Dwelt a dainty little maiden,
'Neath the waving palms reclining.
Though her lips were wreathed with roses,
Yet her heart was Phili-pining!

Now her name was Flora Dora
(Oh! the palms are green above her),
And the cause of all her grieving
It was easy to discover;
For her maiden heart was given
To an unresponsive lover.

And he sailed away and left her
In a melancholy hour,
And she pined and drooped and sorrowed
In her palm-fringed island bower,
Till the gods who saw and pitied
Turned her soul into a flower.

So although she's gone for ever,
There is warrant for presuming,
There her tender soul is floating,
All the summer air perfuming,
On the Isle of Florodora,
Where the golden buds are blooming.

NINTH WEEK of the FLORODORA BOOM in Sydney, and the 171st Consecutive Performance in Australia.

It is asserted, on the authority of no less a personage than Professor Tweedlepunch, that FLORODORA has the
"BUMP OF LONGEVITY"
most strongly developed. In fact, in the words of that remarkable man,
"IT STICKS OUT LIKE A WATERMELON."

Since its first production Florodora has packed the auditorium of Her Majesty's, and the story of its marvellous success and popularity is a topic of conversation on every side. The fact that over
ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND PEOPLE have witnessed Florodora in Sydney speaks for itself.

Houses and Land for Sale.

A ONE HUNDRED ACRE (Freehold, Torrens Title) MODEL FARM and ORCHARD COMBINED, together with Homestead, Stock, Outbuildings, Working Plant, &c., &c., all in full and good working order and condition.
The Property is situated 60 miles from Sydney, and about five miles from a RAILWAY STATION.
The Land has a frontage of about half a mile to a main Government road, and has also a large never-failing WATER SUPPLY.
The whole is laid out into about 10 acres of Orchard, some 20 acres of Cultivation Paddocks, a small portion into Kitchen and Flower Garden, and the balance is now used as grazing land. The property is securely fenced with posts, rails, wire, and wire netting. The orchard has been planted about 10 years with a carefully picked assortment of trees. About one-half consists of the very best known kinds of apples, the balance being pears, plums, cherries, apricots, and peaches.
The Homestead is a substantial and well-finished W.B. Cottage, with usual rooms and all needful outhouses.
The Farm Buildings and Plant consist of everything needful and up to date.
The stock comprises two brood mares, one foal, a good buggy horse, a magnificent pedigree Jersey bull, four cows, eight heifers, and three calves, all pure bred and guaranteed pedigree. There are also three young full-grown Berkshire pigs, and some 50 to 60 head of poultry. All these go with the FREEHOLD, and will be sold at a great sacrifice. Cash or Terms. A chance for a young man just leaving college. All particulars.

CHAPTER I.—Continued.

The lama did not wake till the evening life of the city had begun with lamp-lighting and the return of white robed clerks and subordinates from the Government offices. He stared dizzily in all directions, but none looked at him save a Hindu urchin in dirty turban and Isabella-coloured clothes. Suddenly he bowed his head on his knees and wailed.

"What is this?" said the boy, standing before him. "Hast thou been robbed?"

"It is my new chela (my disciple) that has gone away from me, and I know not where he is."

"And what like of man was thy disciple?"

"It was a boy who came to me in place of him who died, on account of the merit which I had gained when I bowed before the Law within there." He pointed towards the Museum. "He came upon me to show me a road which I had lost. He led me into the Wonder House, and by his talk emboldened to speak to the Keeper of the Images, so that I was cheered and made strong. And when I was faint with hunger he begged for me, as would a chela for his teacher. Suddenly was he sent. Suddenly has he gone away. It was in my mind to have taught him the Law upon the road to Benares."

Kim stood amazed at this, because he had overheard the talk in the Museum, and knew that the old man was speaking the truth, which is a thing a native seldom presents to a stranger.

"But I see now that he was but sent upon a purpose. By this I know that I shall find a certain River for which I seek."

"The River of the Arrow?" said Kim, with a superior smile.

"Is this yet another sending?" cried the lama. "To none have I spoken of my search, save to the Priest of the Images. Who art thou?"

"Thy chela," said Kim simply, sitting on his heels. "I have never seen anyone like to thee in all this my life. I go with thee to Benares. And, too, I think that so old a man as thou, speaking truth to chance-met people in the dusk, is in great need of a disciple."

"But the River—the River of the Arrow?"

"Oh, that I heard when thou wast speaking to the Englishman. I lay against the door."

The lama sighed. "I thought thou hadst been a guide permitted. Such things fall sometimes—but I am not worthy. Thou dost not, then, know the River?"

"Not I." Kim laughed uneasily. "I go to look for—for a bull—a Red Bull on a green field who shall help me." Boylike, if an acquaintance had a scheme, Kim was quite ready with one of his own; and, boylike, he had really thought for as much as twenty minutes at a time of his father's prophecy.

"To what, child?" said the lama.

"God knows, but so my father told me. I heard thy talk in the Wonder House of all those new strange places in the hills, and if one so old and so little—so used to truth-telling—may go out for the small matter of a river, it seemed to me that I—too must go a-travelling. If it is our fate to find those things we shall find them—thou, thy river; and I, my bull, and the strong Pillars and some other matters that I forget."

"It is not pillars but a Wheel from which I would be free," said the lama.

"That is all one. Perhaps they will make me a king," said Kim, serenely prepared for anything.

"I will teach thee other and better desires upon the road," the lama replied in the voice of authority. "Let us go to Benares."

"Not by night. Thieves are abroad. Wait till the day."

"But there is no place to sleep." The old man was used to the order of his monastery, and though he slept on the ground, as the Rule decrees, preferred a decency in these things.

"We shall get good lodging at Kashmir Serai," said Kim, laughing at his perplexity. "I have a friend there. Come!"

The hot and crowded bazars blazed with light as they made their way through the press of all the races in Upper India, and the lama mooned through it like a man in a dream. It was his first experience of a large manufacturing city, and the crowded tram-car with its continually squealing brakes frightened him. Half pushed, half towed, he arrived at the high gate of the Kashmir Serai: that huge open square over against the railway station, surrounded with arched cloisters where the camel and horse-caravans put up on their return from Central Asia. Here were all manner of Northern folk, tending tethered ponies and kneeling camels; loading and unloading bales and bundles; drawing water for the evening meal at the creaking well-windlasses; piling grass before the shrieking, wild-eyed stallions; cuffing the surly caravan dogs; paying off camel-drivers; taking on new grooms; swearing, shouting, arguing, and chaffering in the packed square. The cloisters, reached by three or four masonry steps, made a haven of refuge around this turbulent sea. Most of them were rented to traders, as we rent the arches of a viaduct, the space between pillar and pillar being bricked or boarded off into rooms, which were guarded by heavy wooden doors and cumbrous native padlocks. Locked doors showed that the owner was away, and a few rude—sometimes very rude—chalk or paint scratches told where he had gone. Thus: "Lutuf Ullah is gone to Kurdistan." Below, in coarse verse: "O Allah who sufferest lice to live on the coat of a Kabuli, why hast thou allowed this louse Lutuf to live so long?"

Kim, fending the lama between excited men and excited beasts, sidled along the cloisters to the far end, nearest the railway station, where Mahbub Ali, the horse-trader, lived when he came in from that mysterious land beyond the Passes of the North.

Kim had had many dealings with Mahbub in his little life—especially between his tenth and his thirteenth year,—and the big burly Afghan, his beard dyed scarlet with lime (for he was elderly and did not wish his gray hairs to show) knew the boy's value as a gossip. Sometimes he would tell Kim to watch a man who had nothing whatever to do with horses: to follow him for one whole day and report every soul with whom he talked. Kim would deliver himself of his tale at evening, and Mahbub would listen without a word or gesture. It was intrigue of some kind, Kim knew; but its worth lay in saying nothing whatever to anyone except Mahbub, who gave him beautiful meals all hot from the cookshop at the head of the serai, and once as much as eight annas in money.

"Here is here," said Kim, hitting a bad-tempered camel on the nose. "Ohe, Mahbub Ali!" He halted at a dark arch and slipped behind the bewildered lama.

The horse-trader, his deep, embroidered Bokhariot belt unloosed, was lying on a pair of silk carpet saddle-bags, pulling lazily at an immense silver hookah. He turned his head very slightly at the cry; and seeing only the tall silent figure, chuckled in his deep chest.

"Allah! A lama! A Red Lama! It is far from Lahore to the Passes. What dost thou do here?"

The lama held out the begging-bowl mechanically.

"God's curse on all unbelievers!" said Mahbub. "I do not give to a lousy Tibetan; but ask my Baltis over yonder behind the camels. They may value your blessings. Oh, horse-boys, here is a countryman of yours. See if he be hungry."

A shaven, crouching Balti, who had come down with the horses, and who was nominally some sort of degraded Buddhist, fawned upon the priest, and in thick gutturals besought the Holy One to sit at the horse-boys' fire.

"Go!" said Kim, pushing him lightly, and the lama strode away, leaving Kim at the head of the cloister.

"Go!" said Mahbub Ali, returning to his hookah. "Little Hindu, run away. God's curse on all unbelievers! Beg from those of my tail who are of thy faith."

"Maharaj," whined Kim, using the Hindu form of address, and thoroughly enjoying the situation; "my father is dead—my mother is dead—my stomach is empty."

"Beg from my men among the horses, I say. There must be some Hindus in my tail."

"Oh, Mahbub Ali, but am I a Hindu?" said Kim in English.

TRISTRAM OF BLENT.

AN EPISODE IN THE STORY OF AN ANCIENT HOUSE.

CHAPTER XXX.

TILL THE NEXT GENERATION.

Major Duplay had taken a flat in town, and Mina had come up to aid him in the task of furnishing it. The Major was busy and prosperous in these days. Blinkhampton was turning up trumps for all concerned, for Iver, for Harry, for Southend, and for him; the scheme even promised to be remunerative to the investing public. So he had told Mina that he must be on the spot, and that henceforward the country and the Continent would know him only in occasional days of recreation. He also murmured something about having met a very attractive woman, a widow of thirty-five. The general result seemed to be that he had forgotten his sorrows, was well content, and a good deal more independent of his niece's society and countenance than he had been before. All this Mina told to Lady Evenswood when she went to lunch in Green-street.

"Yes, I think I've launched uncle," said she complacently, "and now I shall devote myself to the Tristrams."

"You've been doing that for a long time, my dear."

"Yes, I suppose I have really," she laughed. "I've been a sort of Miss Swinkerton—I wish you knew her! Only I devoted myself to one family and she does it for all the neighbourhood."

Lady Evenswood looked at her with a kindly smile.

"You were rather in love with Harry, you know," she said.

"Which was very absurd, but—yes, I was. Only then Cecily came and—well, it was altogether too artistic for me even to want to interfere. If I had wanted, it would have made no difference, of course. They've been pressing me to go on living at Merrion, and I shall."

"Oh, if you could get nothing but a pigsty on the estate, you'd take it. Though I don't know what you'll find to do."

"To do? Oh, plenty! Why, they're only just beginning, and ——!" The wave of her hands expressed the endless possibilities of a Tristram household.

"And gradually you'll glide into being an old woman like me—looking at the new generation!"

"Her children and his! There ought to be something to look at," said Mina wistfully. "But we've not done with Harry himself yet."

"Robert says he's too fond of making money, or he might do something in politics."

"It isn't money exactly. It's a good deal Blent. He wants to make that splendid. Perhaps he'll come to the politics in time."

"He's made you believe in him, anyhow."

"Yes, and I know I don't count. All the same I've seen a good deal of him. Mr. Neeld and I have been in it right from the beginning."

"And in the end it was all a mare's nest. Fancy, if Addie Tristram had known that!"

"I think she liked it just as well as she thought it was. And I'm sure Harry did."

"Oh, if he's like that, he'll never do for the British public, my dear. He may get their money but he won't get their votes. After all, would you have the country governed by Addie Tristram's son?"

"I suppose it would be rather risky," said the Imp reluctantly. But she cheered up directly on the strength of an obvious thought. "There are much more interesting things than politics," she said.

"And how is Cecily?" asked Lady Evenswood.

"Oh, she's just adorable—and Mrs. Iver's got her a very good housekeeper."

The old lady laughed as she turned to welcome Lord Southend.

"I've just met Disney," he remarked. "He doesn't seem to mind being out."

"Oh, he'll be back before long, and without his incumbrances. And Flora's delighted to get a winter abroad. It couldn't have happened more conveniently, she says."

"He told me to tell you that he thought your young friend—he meant Harry Tristram—was lost for ever now."

"What a shame!" cried Mina indignantly.

"Just like Robert! He never could understand that a man has a history just as a country has. He is and ought to be part of his family."

"No sense of historical continuity," nodded Southend. "I agree, and that's just why, though I admire Disney enormously, I——"

"Generally vote against him on critical occasions? Yes, Robert makes so many admirers like that."

"Is his work at Blinkhampton nothing?" demanded Mina.

"He got in for that while he was dispossessed," smiled Southend. "I say, thank heaven he wouldn't have the viscounty!"

"That would have been deplorable," agreed Lady Evenswood.

"It's all a very curious little episode."

"Yes. No more than that."

"Yes, it is more," cried Mina. "Without it he'd never have married Cecily."

"Romance, Madame Zabriska, romance!" Southend shook his head at her severely.

Mina flinched a little under the opprobrium of the word. Yet why? In these days we have come to recognise—indeed there has been small choice in the matter, unless a man would throw away books and wear cotton wool in his ears—that the romance of one generation makes the realities of the next, and that a love-affair twenty years old becomes a problem in heredity, demanding the attention of the learned, and receiving that of the general public also. So that though the affair and the man be to all seeming insignificant, consolation may be found in the prospect of a posthumous importance; and he who did nothing very visible in his lifetime may, when his son's biography comes to be written, be held grandfather to an epic poem or a murder on the high seas—and it seems to be considered that it is touch and go which way the thing turns out. Are there, then, any episodes left? Does not everything become an enterprise of great pith and moment, with results that will probably, some day or other, be found to admit of mathematical demonstration? Happily the human race, in practice if not in theory, declines the conclusion. We know that we are free, and there's an end of it, said Dr. Johnson. Well, at least we can still think that we are doing what we like—and that's the beginning of most things.

That temporary inferiority of Bob Broadley's, on which Cecily had touched so feelingly, was soon redressed, and after the wedding Harry had a talk with the bride. It was not unnatural that she should blush a little when he spoke to her—a passing tribute to the thought of what might have been. Harry greeted it with a laugh.

"I suppose we'd better be straightforward about this?" he said. "Mingham's so near Blent, you see. We're both very glad, aren't we, Mrs. Broadley?"

"I imagine so," said Janie. "You show no signs of pining anyhow."

"And as to our behaviour—there's not a father in the kingdom who wouldn't think us right."

"I was the worst—because I think I was in love with Bob all the time."

"I was just as bad—because I thought you were too," said Harry.

"How could we do it then?" she asked.

"That's the odd thing. It didn't seem at all out of the way at the time," he pondered.

"You'd do it again now, if the case arose, but I shouldn't. That's the difference," said she.

Harry considered this remark for a moment with an imperial air. "Well, perhaps I should," he admitted at last, "but you needn't tell that to Cecily. Content yourself with discussing it with Mina or Mr. Neeld."

"I'm tired of both of them," she cried. "They do nothing but talk about you."

That night as he sat in the garden at Blent with his wife Harry returned the compliment by talking of the Imp. He looked up towards Merrion and saw the lights in the windows.

"I think Mina is with us for life, Cecily," said he.

"I like her to be," she answered with a laugh. "First because I like being loved, and she loves me. And then I like you to be loved, and she loves you. Besides, she's been so closely mixed up with it all, hasn't she? She knew about you before I did, she knew Blent before I did. And it's not only with you and me. She knew your mother, Addie Tristram, too."

"Yes, Mina goes right back to the beginning of the thing."

"And the thing as you call it is what brought us here together. So Mina seems to have had something to do with that too. It all comes back to me when I look at her, and I like to have her here."

"Well, she's part of the family story now. And she'll probably keep a journal and make entries about us, like the late Mr. Cholderton, and some day be edited by a future Mr. Neeld. Mina must stop, that's clear."

"It's clear anyhow—because nothing would make her go," said Cecily.

"Let's go up the hill and see her now?" he suggested.

Together they climbed the hill and reached the terrace. There were people in the drawing-room, and Harry signed to Cecily to keep out of sight. They approached stealthily.

"Who's with her? I didn't know anyone was staying here," whispered Cecily.

Harry turned his face towards her smiling. "Hush, it's old Neeld!"

They peeped in. Neeld was sitting in an armchair with some sheets of paper in his hand. He had his spectacles on and apparently had been reading something aloud to Mina; indeed they heard his voice die away just as they came up. Mina stood in front of him, her manner full of her old excitement.

"Yes, that's it, that's just right!" they heard her exclaim. "She stood in the middle of the room and"—Harry pressed his wife's hand and laughed silently—"she cried out just what you've read. I remember exactly how she looked and the very words that Mr. Cholderton uses. 'Think of the difference it makes, the enormous difference!' she said. Oh, it might have been yesterday, Mr. Neeld!"

Harry leapt over the window-sill and burst into the room with a laugh.

"Oh, you dear silly people, you're at it again!" said he.

"The story does not lose its interest for me," remarked old Mr. Neeld primly, and he added, as he greeted Cecily, "It won't so long as I can look at your face, my dear. You keep Addie Tristram still alive for me."

"She's Lady Tristram—and I'm the enormous difference, I suppose," said Harry.

Mina and Neeld did not quite understand why Cecily turned so suddenly and put her hand in Harry's, saying, "No, Harry, there's no difference now."

Meanwhile, down in Blentmouth, Miss Swinkerton looked up from the local paper and remarked across the table to Mrs. Trumbler:

"Here's an announcement that Lady Tristram will give a ball at Blent in January. You'll remember that I told you that two months ago, Mrs. Trumbler."

"Yes, Miss Swinkerton, but that was before all the ——"

"Really I'm not often wrong, my dear," interrupted Miss S. decisively.

"Well, I hope there won't be any more changes," sighed Mrs. Trumbler. "They're so very startling."

She might rest in peace awhile. Addie Tristram was dead, and the title to Blent was safe till the next generation. Beyond that it would not perhaps be safe to speak in view of the Tristram blood and the Tristram ways.

[The End.]

YOUNG PEOPLE'S INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION.

YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Owing to many requests which were made on Monday by visitors who had no opportunity of inspecting the exhibits, the executive committee decided to continue the exhibition yesterday. A fair number of interested people were present, and a good opportunity was afforded of inspecting at leisure the varied collection of children's work. There were no displays in the ring, but the side attractions in the way of shows were present in full swing. The judges were busily engaged throughout the day finishing their work and arranging the school exhibits into federal electoral groups, which will be judged to-day. It is proposed to give a series of prizes in connection with the best exhibits from federal districts.

The committee is extremely gratified with the results of the Royal visit to the exhibition on Monday. The ground takings so far have amounted to over £2000. The exhibition will be closed to-day. No doubt further opportunity will be taken of comparing the work on view as arranged in federal districts. On Friday evening next a concert will be given in the Town Hall, when prizes won at the musical competitions and the elocution contests will be handed to winners.

The competition in speed and accuracy in operating the Remington standard typewriter was held yesterday, Alderman S. H. Kennedy, of Randwick, acting as judge. The prizes, to the value of £3 3s, were presented by the proprietors of Stott and Hoare's Business College. The result was as follows:—1, Miss Emily Greaves, gold medal. 2, Miss Violet Fisher, silver medal. 3, Miss Amy Olsen, commended. At the close Miss Macrow, a student of the college, succeeded in writing on the typewriter by the "touch" method, and without looking at the keyboard, for five minutes, at the rate of 50 words per minute. The prizes in the shorthand competition, open to writers of any system, were all gained by students of Stott and Hoare's Business College.

The musical competitions were concluded yesterday, and as much quieter conditions prevailed the adjudication by Mrs. Simmons was carried out expeditiously. The competition was a piano solo, "Polacca in E," op. 72 (Weber), for candidates under 18. Although the adjudicator considered this was an exceptionally difficult piece, and in other respects unsuited for the competition, a very large number succeeded in satisfying her as to how it should be played. Forty-six competed. The selection of pieces made by the musical committee had been at different times during the past two months subject to alteration. In consequence some of the competitors who had not noticed the alteration were not prepared to play the piece mentioned. This resulted in disappointment. The following was the adjudication:—

Alice M. Liggins, North Sydney, 1; Muriel Elsie Rickard, Petersham, 2; Jessie Renee Stephens, 3. The following obtained sufficient marks to be commended:—Barbara Abbott, Dawes Point; Gladys Alpen, Forest Lodge; Dorothy Barff, Croydon; Lillie Burgess, Lewisham; Ruth Conway, Pymble; Walter Cresswell, Balmain; Herbert Dunlop, Bathurst; Alice Ellis, Newtown; Jessie Hefferman, Pennant Hills; Violet Isabel Humby, Wahroonga; Hattie Levy, Waverley; Ethel Loughnan, Surry Hills; Bessie M'Bean, Summer Hill; Ethel Miller, Flinders-street; Clarice L. Parker, Petersham; Pearl Peisley, Burwood; Pearl Sharpe, Darlington; Florence Tassell, St. Mary's Convent; and Bessie Brand.

AWARDS.

The following additional awards were made:—Section 15—Artificial flowers: Lillie Davis, 1; Florence Palmer, 1; George Hewes, h.c. Suite of furniture in cork and matches: E. Flower, 1. Most useful article made from kerosene tin or box: H. Beckenham, 1 (box of ferns); J. Binden, 2 (aquarium). Exhibit of special merit: G. M. V. Campbell, 1; R. E. Camp, 1 (cork and bush cone frame); C. E. Marcroft, F. G. Middleton, 1; W. Brand, 2; D. Hankins, 2; C. E. Phillips, c. Special: R. Gifford, for miniature chest of drawers made from matchboxes.

Shorthand, under 15 years.—Specimen of work, any system: Kate Piper, 1; R. Willder, 2. Specimens of orthic system: G. G. Moore, 1; E. Price, 2; Stella L. Hancock, 3.

In previous notices of the day's proceedings it should have been mentioned that the special minuet danced by Mrs. Moss's pupils on Monday was gracefully performed and highly appreciated.

THE POSITION OF TOWN CLERK.

A public meeting was held last night at Lock's Hotel, Devonshire and Elizabeth streets, to urge that in considering the applications for the position of Town Clerk of Sydney the City Council should give preference to Australians. There was an attendance of about 60 persons.

Mr. Moffit Burns, who was voted to the chair, explained the object of the meeting. The City Council had called for applications from gentlemen qualified to fill the position of Town Clerk, and advertisements had been published both locally and in England. The council desired to obtain the services of a gentleman of wider experience than it was thought would be possessed by an Australian resident. Applications had been received from about 28 Australians, and these would be considered when the outside applications, now on the way from England, were received, probably in about four weeks' time. He spoke from his knowledge of the inner workings of the City Council when he said that the duties of the Town Clerk of Sydney were not of a very arduous character as compared with those of the large towns and cities of England, where they had extensive works corresponding with our water and sewerage, gas, &c., under their control. Apart from that he maintained that it was a reflection upon the young men of Australia to say that a gentleman qualified for the work could not be found here. (Applause.) The position of town clerk here was hampered by his having too many masters to serve. The selection had to be considered by the local aldermen, and he believed that they had the very best intentions regarding the matter, and the object of that meeting was to draw their attention to the fact that that meeting wished them to give every consideration to applications from Australians. (Applause.)

Mr. O. L. Thompson said that they had men in Australia second to none in the world for ability, and it was absurd for the council to go outside of Australia to find a gentleman fit to fill the position of Town Clerk. He had nothing to say against the City Council. That meeting only desired by arousing public opinion on the matter to assist in the selection of a Town Clerk. It sought to deal with the matter on broad patriotic grounds. He moved,—"That this meeting is of opinion that full consideration should be given to all Australians applying for the position of Town Clerk."

Mr. Henry Hart seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously amid applause.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the chairman.

THE WAR IN SOUTH AFRICA.

THE OCCUPATION OF PIETERSBURG.

(BY CAPTAIN THE REV. JAMES GREEN, CHAPLAIN WITH THE NEW SOUTH WALES BUSHMEN.)

PIETERSBURG, April 15.

In my last letter I mentioned that after the armoured construction train passed Potgeiters Rust it was partially blown up twice, and on the second occasion the Bushveldt Carbineers dashed out and captured the convoy of the train-wreckers and 11 prisoners. I have since learnt that these prisoners were required by Captain Fuller, R.E., who was in command of the train, to point out where the rest of the mines were laid. Their reply to this was the usual Dutch evasion, "Ne ferstan"—"Don't understand." But Captain Fuller thought they did understand, and he put them on the first truck following a couple of empty ones. Their journey must have been a very uncomfortable one. Soon it was interrupted by a terrific roar. A mine had exploded, and they were all hurled out on the side of the permanent way, with nerves shaken, although they had no broken bones. The broken trucks were now less of protection for them, and they were willing to go ahead and remove the mines, which no doubt they had helped to lay. So much for the advance of the Engineers. Now let us follow the operations of the mounted column. Pietersburg was occupied on Monday, April 8. On the morning of that day we moved off at 6 o'clock from camp. After brushing aside a few snipers on the right flank, killing two and taking another prisoner, the advanced guard swept through the town. Inside the town one burgher fired explosive bullets at the troopers from the window of his house. His door was barricaded, and in the effort to get at him and stop his explosive bullets, which were cracking in the air like fireworks, he was shot dead. In less than four hours General Plumer, with his staff, was in the Market-square, where the Vierkleur was hauled down, and the Union Jack run up opposite the Landdrost's office.

Meanwhile the advanced guard, the Imperial Bushmen's Contingent, followed by the New South Wales Bushmen as supports, was making its way to the hill on the east side of the town, in hot pursuit of some who had delayed their departure from the town until the last moment. It was during this action of the advanced guard that a very sad occurrence took place which spread a deep gloom over the rest of the day's proceedings. One young Hollander, who had evidently meant to sell his life as dearly as possible, or had been caught up by our men too quickly and was not able to escape, lay in the long grass with loaded rifle. Our men were extending to go in pursuit of the large body of Boers, who were about a mile away. They, of course, were quite unconscious of the fact that an enemy was lying in the grass within 50 yards of them, but they heard the near report of the rifle time after time, and soon Lieutenant Walter, of the Tasmanians, lay on the ground shot through the heart. Then followed Trooper Frazer, of the West Australians, shot dead also. Then with the next shot Lieutenant Sale, of the Tasmanians, fell mortally wounded, for he only survived two days. The hidden sniper also shot four horses. By this time the men had madly circled round seeking for the hidden foe. One slight movement in the grass revealed his hiding place, and the next moment he was riddled through and through with at least nine bullets. Thus the day we entered Pietersburg closed very sadly as we stood around the graves of Lieutenant Walter and Trooper Frazer in the beautiful little cemetery of the town. The avenues of blue gum trees with which the little cemetery is surrounded, and the deep bed of gum leaves thrown into the graves, reminded us of home. The bugler of the regiment to which the dead soldiers belonged—the I.B.C.—sounded the "Last Post," and the men fired volleys over the graves at the conclusion of the service. Lieutenant Sale's funeral was on April 10. General Plumer with his staff attended both ceremonies. The bodies of the officers were borne on the top of a pom-pom; that of Trooper Frazer was carried in an ambulance.

On getting within range of the Boers on the eastern hills, they decamped after firing a few shots. They left one of their number dead on the veldt, so that the loss on each side at the occupation of Pietersburg was three. A good number of prisoners were taken and many rifles were destroyed during the first two days of our occupation, and great numbers of cattle were brought in. The Royal Engineers got to work at once, and three flour mills were blown up, as well as stores of ammunition. As the funeral procession wended its way from the camp terrific explosions rent the air, and the engineers only stopped in their work to salute the dead as the cortege passed.

The policy of the Commander-in-Chief in regard to these distant towns is, first to stop the production of food supplies, and second to remove the bulk of the population. This has been proved to be absolutely necessary, for we cannot protect the women and children unless we use a large force, and already thousands of troops are necessary to hold the lines of communication. Our experience is that we lose a great number of lives through sniping when we attempt to hold populated towns. Moreover, it is impossible to prevent food and information being sent out by kaffirs to the Boers on the veldt from their homes. Hence the destruction of the mills, for which in the future compensation, in many cases, will have to be paid. Nine hundred people were entrained and sent away from Pietersburg in a few days. This was hard lines for many people, although it is the least of two evils. At the same time many were glad to go. It led to the discovery of many hidden stores of food. Boers who professed to have no mealies, and had for a long time charged fancy prices to English families for food supplies, were hawking bags of mealies about the town at a ridiculously low price and were unable to sell.

There was still work to be done, for, although considerable quantities of warlike stores and ammunition (including a seven-pounder Krupp gun) were found in the magazine and in various buildings in the town, the Boers are understood to have in this district two "Long Tom" guns, one of which they have named "The Lady Roberts." For three days the warlike stores were carted out to the veldt, and at twilight each night we were treated to all the sound and fury of a great battle, as well as quite a pyrotechnic display, as the shells and cartridges exploded in a great fire which was lighted. On April 10 Colvin's brigade went out 12 miles, but only succeeded in exchanging fire with a body of the enemy, one of whom they wounded. On the 11th the Intelligence Department had more correct information concerning the enemy's guns and convoy, and Jeffrey's brigade, which includes our men, went out in pursuit. They stayed out a day and a night, but never caught the enemy, though they found the tracks of the guns and waggons. They occupied the little town of Smitsdorp in dashing style, only to find it completely empty, and got into camp on April 13 at noon hungry, tired, and disappointed. Good news, however, awaited the Australians in camp. Lord Kitchener had sent a message to say that all the men of the third contingents were to return home from Pietersburg, as their reliefs had arrived. What cheering there was at this announcement!

The new contingent of Imperial Queensland Bushmen arrived to fill up the gap in Plumer's column. How nice they looked in their new uniforms and unproved equipment. How our men smiled to see their tents and heel ropes—these and many other things they carry will soon be a minus quantity. What was more amusing to us was the indignation of the new men at having to travel part of their journey to the front in coal trucks. They have already gone forth without their tents. General Plumer addressed our men and bade them farewell on April 14. He reminded us that we had been under his command nearly the whole time of our campaign, and although we had not been in any of the great battles such as Paardeberg and the fights in Natal, still we could go home with the consciousness that we had done a lot of hard and dangerous work. We had had the honour of taking the first town in the Transvaal, Zeerust, and the last, Pietersburg, and we had contributed our share to the South African war with credit and distinction. With this and many other complimentary things he bade us goodbye and Godspeed, and then more cheers. Every camp fire was a concert platform that night. We are to go to Pretoria in sections as escorts for the trains, and already most of the Victorians, Queenslanders, and West Australians have left.

To-day the Cameronian Mounted Infantry began the sort of work we have been accustomed to do, and, alas! it was something in the nature of a disaster. Fifty of them went out 17 miles to take seven waggons of ammunition, which were said to be escorted by but a few Boers. They found over 100 of the enemy well mounted, and returned with two men wounded and three unaccounted for. There seems every reason to believe that the three missing men are either killed or wounded, as they were seen in the fight. General Plumer's force went south yesterday in order to co-operate with another column. The operation, if successful, will enclose a large number of Boers trekking north. General Beyers, with a commando, is known to be on his left flank, but seems afraid to attack. If Plumer's operations continue to be as successful all will be well. A thousand beds were got ready in the Pretoria hospitals for the casualties which might result from the operations of the various columns in the north and east, and so far not more than 50 of them are occupied. The advance to Pietersburg has been a marvel of organisation and skill.

The 2nd Battalion Gordon Highlanders and two 12-pounder guns, and a 5in. quick-firing gun which is to arrive, will hold the railway station and one end of the town, and the flying columns will move from point to point. Pietersburg is no longer the capital of the Boer Government, or what is left of it. The three newspaper offices which were largely used for the propagation of Dutch lies in the form of bogus proclamations and false news, have been blown up. The machinery of the "Zoutpansberg Wachter" was first used to print the first and last English edition of the paper which was distributed as a souvenir to the troops, and then it was shattered by the explosion of guncotton. We hope soon to be in Australia, and our experience here will lead us ever to hope that the peace of our own land may never be broken by the crack of the rifle or the boom of the guns.

LAW REPORT.

TUESDAY, JUNE 4.

BANCO COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Owen and a jury of four.)

CASE STRUCK OUT.

Vernon v. Bulger.

There being no appearance in this case, it was struck out.

A TRAMWAY CASE.

Foley v. Railway Commissioners.

Mr. Gannon and Mr. Watt, instructed by Messrs. Chenhall and Eddie, appeared for the plaintiff; and Sir Julian Salomons, K.C., and Mr. C. B. Stephen, instructed by Mr. J. C. Thom, solicitor to the Railway Commissioners, for the defendants. This was an action brought by Margaret Foley, widow, against the Railway Commissioners to recover £500 compensation for injuries sustained by her, owing, as she alleged, to the careless and negligent conduct of the defendants' servant in the management of a tram. Her case was that on August 6 last she was travelling in a tram which left Enmore about 9.30 a.m., bound for Sydney. When the tram stopped at Simmons-street she proceeded to get out, and was in the act of stepping down on to the roadway when the tram moved on and she was thrown to the ground. She was afterwards assisted to a dentist's shop in the vicinity, and, having recovered somewhat, was taken home. She had to remain in bed for a month, suffering from acute pains in the head, and also from shock to the system, which affected her eyesight. In cross-examination she denied that she attempted to alight some time after other passengers had left the car, and said that nobody else left the tram at that time. She also denied that the tram was in motion when she attempted to leave it.

Defendants pleaded not guilty, and called evidence to prove that when the conductor rang the bell for the tram to proceed there was no sign that any one of the passengers was about to alight. Several witnesses were called, who stated that shortly after the tram started the plaintiff walked to the side of the car, and after hesitating for a few seconds she stepped from the footboard on to the roadway, and immediately fell upon her hands and knees. She was dazed, but did not appear to be seriously hurt.

The evidence on both sides having closed, Sir Julian Salomons addressed the jury for the defendants, and the further hearing of the case was then adjourned to the following day.

NO. 1 JURY COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Simpson and a jury of four.)

A SETTLEMENT.

Byrnes v. Railway Commissioners.

Mr. Edmunds, instructed by Messrs. Chenhall and Eddie, appeared for the plaintiff Michael Byrnes, who sued the Railway Commissioners to recover compensation for injury sustained by him as the result of a collision between a vehicle driven by him and a tram. Mr. J. C. Thom (solicitor to the Railway Commissioners) appeared for the defendants, and stated that a memorandum of agreement had been filed by which a verdict would be taken for the plaintiff in the sum of £50.

Verdict accordingly.

A NONSUIT.

Croft v. Fairfax and others.

The plaintiff, Albion Richard Croft, was called, and did not appear. Mr. Want, K.C., and Mr. Harold Fairfax, instructed by Messrs. Cape, Kent, and Gaden, appeared for the defendants. A jury was sworn, and his Honor said that the plaintiff did not appear to support his declaration for alleged libel, and there must therefore be a nonsuit.

A nonsuit was accordingly entered.

COLLISION BETWEEN A BICYCLE AND AN OMNIBUS.

Holy v. M'Grath.

Mr. Edmunds and Mr. Piddington, instructed by Messrs. Chenhall and Eddie, appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Want, K.C., and Mr. Broomfield, instructed by Mr. J. R. Baxter Bruce, for the defendant. This was an action brought by Edward Holy against Joseph M'Grath, omnibus proprietor, to recover £500 compensation from the defendant for injuries sustained by plaintiff owing, as he alleged, to the unskilful, careless, and violent driving of the defendant's servant, in consequence of which one of the defendant's omnibuses came into collision with a bicycle which the plaintiff was riding and caused the injuries complained of. It appeared, according to the case for the plaintiff, that he is an employee of the Railway Commissioners, and worked at Eveleigh. On Wednesday, November 14 last, about a quarter to 5 o'clock p.m., he was riding down Baptist-street, Surry Hills, on a bicycle, and when about 20 or 30 yards from Cleveland-street he noticed that a tram had stopped in the latter thoroughfare, partially blocking Baptist-street. Plaintiff, moving at a moderate pace, went towards the front of the motor, and had got to the right-hand side when he saw the leading horses of the defendant's omnibus about two or three yards in front of him, the animals coming at a fast pace. Seeing that he had no chance of getting across in front of the horses, he turned to get between the omnibus and the tram, but as he did so the course of the horses was altered by the driver, and the result was that the hind wheel of the vehicle struck the bicycle and the plaintiff was thrown violently upon the road. He was removed to St. Vincent's Hospital, where he remained for 13 days and then went to his home. One of the injuries sustained by him was a cut upon the right ear, and this, according to the medical testimony, had damaged the nerve of the ear to such an extent as to render the power of that organ permanently defective. He was away from work for 8½ weeks, and during that time he received no wages. The bicycle was damaged beyond repair.

The defendant pleaded not guilty.

Among other witnesses called for the defence was Bernard M'Grath, brother of the defendant, who gave evidence that on the date mentioned he was driving three horses attached to an omnibus along Cleveland-street. A tram stopped at Baptist-street in front of his vehicle, and as there was a block of vehicles on the left-hand side he pulled over to the right, and went on straight ahead about 2ft. or 3ft. from the tram. The leader had just got past the motor, when plaintiff dashed across from Baptist-street in front of the motor, and tried to turn between the omnibus and the tram. He did not succeed, and the front wheel of the bicycle struck the front wheel of the omnibus. Witness further stated that it was not true that on seeing the bicycle he pulled over towards the tram; the road ahead was perfectly clear, and he went straight ahead.

The evidence was not concluded at 4 o'clock, when the further hearing was adjourned till the following day.

NO. 2 JURY COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Cohen and a jury of four.)

ACTION FOR EJECTMENT.

Farrelly v. Seary.

Mr. Mack, instructed by Mr. J. W. Abigail, appeared for the plaintiff, Catherine Farrelly; and Mr. Lyons, instructed by Mr. T. M. Slattery, appeared for the defendant, Annie Seary. This was an action by the plaintiff to eject the defendant from a piece of land in Cook-street, Petersham. The size of the land was 22 perches, more or less. The defendant in her defence disputed the title of the plaintiff to the ownership of the land.

Evidence having been given by the plaintiff and defendant and witnesses on their behalf, his Honor summed up. The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff.

MELLOR v. PARKER.

Action for Alleged Slander.

Mr. B. R. Wise, K.C., and Mr. Rolin, instructed by Messrs. Laurence and M'Lachlan, appeared for the plaintiff, William Gladstone Mellor, reporter on the "Blayney Advocate and Carcoar Herald;" and Mr. Gannon and Mr. Boyce, instructed by Mr. Weaver (agent for Mr. Pile, of Blayney), appeared for the defendant, Thomas Parker, minister of the Wesleyan Church at Blayney. The declaration of the plaintiff set forth that the defendant falsely and maliciously spoke and published of him the words, "I am sorry, but I had to do it. Haven't you heard this affair about the girl? He (meaning the plaintiff) is one of the fellows that helped to ruin the girl. If you only knew half. . . . If you take my advice you won't associate with the fellow (meaning the plaintiff). Everybody knows that you are always together, and if you still keep his company they must say that birds of a feather flock together, and you will be looked upon as being as bad as he," meaning thereby that the plaintiff was a person of an immoral character and conduct, had seduced a certain girl, and was unfit for respectable persons to associate with. Plaintiff said that he was thereby injured in his credit and reputation, had suffered great pain of mind, and was otherwise greatly damaged. Plaintiff also sued the defendant for that he falsely and maliciously spoke and published of him the following words:—"I wish you would warn your son and daughter not to associate with William Mellor, as he has been guilty of improper conduct with young women. I have had it from one girl's lips that Will Mellor had improper intercourse with her"—meaning that plaintiff was unfit for respectable persons to associate with, and was a man of lewd character, whereby he was greatly injured in his credit and reputation. The plaintiff also sued the defendant "for that the defendant was the minister of the Wesleyan Church at Blayney, and the plaintiff had been an attendant at the services of that church, and a member of the choir, and the defendant had made a charge against the plaintiff that he had had improper intercourse with a certain girl, and afterwards one Mrs. Fraser had said to the defendant, 'Well, Mr. Parker, are you satisfied now that Will Mellor is not guilty?' and thereupon the defendant falsely and maliciously spoke and published of the plaintiff the words, 'Oh, no, he is guilty, and I can prove it. I had to ask him to leave the choir, or else other members would have left, and members of the church would have left,' meaning that plaintiff was unfit to be a member of the choir, that it was unfit for members of it, as well as of the church, to associate with him, also that he was a man of such immoral character that his presence in the choir would cause respectable persons to leave the church, whereby plaintiff was greatly injured in his credit and reputation, suffered great pain of mind, and was otherwise greatly damaged. The plaintiff also alleged that the defendant assaulted and beat the plaintiff, and turned him out of a certain church building. He therefore claimed £1000 damages.

The defendant pleaded not guilty.

William Gladstone Mellor, the plaintiff, was examined by Mr. Wise, and gave evidence corroborative of the statements set forth in this declaration.

In the course of cross-examination by Mr. Gannon plaintiff said he had received money from one of his witnesses—William Cock, jun.—to assist him in carrying on the action. He had also received monetary assistance from his father, and had also borrowed money for the action; but he was paying the money himself. The church at Blayney was divided into two factions. He was associated with one faction. He could not say whether the money his father had given him was handed to him by some one else. At an inquiry he asked for to investigate the charges made against him by Mr. Parker a resolution was carried against him; but it was not the opinion of the majority, because the chairman had a casting vote.

The case stands part heard.

EQUITY COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice A. H. Simpson, Chief Judge in Equity.)

ALLEGED INFRINGEMENT OF A TRADE MARK.

Kinker, Greer, and Company v. Mayman.

Mr. Langer Owen, with him Mr. Leverrier, instructed by Messrs. Sly and Russell, appeared for the plaintiffs, Messrs. Kirker, Greer, and Company; Mr. Adrian Knox, with him Mr. Loxton, instructed by Mr. M. J. Brown, appeared for the defendant, Benjamin N. Mayman. This case was an action brought to restrain the defendant from selling bottles of a particular kind, containing other whisky than that distilled by the plaintiff company. The defence was a general denial of all the material allegations. The matter first came before the Court on Wednesday last. The taking of evidence was concluded, and counsel for defendant was addressing his Honor when the Court adjourned.

(Before Mr. Justice Walker.)

QUESTION OF A TRUSTEESHIP.

Johnston and others v. Johnston and others.

Mr. Gordon, with him Mr. Langer Owen, instructed by Messrs. Chenhall and Eddie, appeared for the plaintiffs, Eliza Christina Johnston, Darcy Johnston, Robert Vernon Johnston, Edward Charles Johnston, and Percival de Laistre Maitland, and the said Edward Charles Johnston (trustee for the widow, children, and issue of Algernon Johnston, deceased), and the said Edward Charles Johnston and Percival de Laistre Maitland (trustees for Leslie Johnston, his wife, children, and issue). Mr. Pilcher, K.C., with him Mr. Lingen and Mr. Merewether, instructed by Messrs. Jones and Jones, appeared for the defendants, Percival Johnston and Francis Northey Alldritt; Mr. J. W. Street appeared for George Horatio Johnston; and Mr. Carlos, instructed by Messrs. Lawrence and M'Lachlan, appeared for the other defendants, Penelope Brooke Dickinson, Fanny Gordon Murray, William Robert Dickinson, Arthur E. Dickinson, Mary Perry, Constance Remington, Elsie E. Osborne, Lucy Dickinson, Lilian Dickinson, Norman Stewart Murray, Elma M'Kinney, and Effie Murray, to submit to such decree as the Court might make.

In this matter the plaintiffs, who are beneficiaries in the estate of the late Fanny Johnston, asked the Court to remove one of the trustees of the estate—Percival Johnston—and for the appointment of Edward Charles Johnston as trustee in his place under the indenture of settlement on account of certain alleged wrongful dealings. The estate is valued at upwards of £200,000, and consists of station properties in the neighbourhood of Yass, and in other parts of New South Wales, and of the Johnston Estate near Stanmore. Plaintiffs' statement of claim charged certain alleged wrong dealings by the trustee, Percival Johnston, in connection with the sale of Nanama Station, and with having endeavoured to assume the exclusive management and control of the trust estate, and to over-ride and disregard the wishes and views of his co-trustees. The defence was a general denial of the allegations that there had been any wrong doing on the part of the trustee, Percival Johnston, or those said to have been associated with him in the transactions complained of.

The case having been opened by counsel just before 4 o'clock, the usual hour for adjournment, his Honor suggested a conference between counsel on either side with the view of arranging an amicable settlement, and thus saving money and time. The matter will be called on again to-morrow (Wednesday) morning.

BANKRUPTCY COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Walker, Judge in Bankruptcy.)

AN APPEAL CASE.

Re Harry Close. Ex parte the New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, Limited. Mr. L. Armstrong, instructed by Mr. W. Arnott, appeared for the appellant, Harry Close; Mr. Gordon, instructed by Messrs. Minter, Simpson, and Co., appeared for the New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, Limited. This was an appeal from the decision of the Registrar in Bankruptcy sequestrating the estate of the appellant. The order of the Registrar determining the act of bankruptcy and directing the sequestration of the estate was dated May 7. It was contended that as there had been a deed of assignment made and trustees appointed in accordance with that deed notice of the petition should have been served upon those trustees. On behalf of the respondents it was argued that the deed was not properly registered in accordance with the requirements of the Act. His Honor intimated that he regarded the question involved as one of a far-reaching character, and which required very careful consideration. He would therefore reserve his decision.

(Before the Registrar, Mr. A. Henry.)

CERTIFICATE APPLICATIONS.

Re Henry William Sherringham. This application was adjourned until the 18th instant to enable bankrupt to answer the official assignee's report.

Re Isabella Semmens. The official assignee's report having been read, the Registrar directed that the certificate should issue.

MOTION FOR RELEASE.

Re Harry Constantine Elderton, Helen Sophia Elderton, and William Norcliffe Elderton. The official assignee's report having been read, the Registrar made an order for the release of the estate of William Norcliffe Elderton, the question of the issue of a certificate of discharge to stand over. As to the motions in regard to the release of the estate of Harrie Constantine Elderton and Helen Sophia Elderton, the Registrar allowed them to stand over, as the sequestrators had not signed the certificates. It was decided that the applications might be re-entered after seven days' notice had been given to the official assignee.

MEETINGS AND EXAMINATIONS.

Re Charles John Peek. There was no appearance of the bankrupt, and on the application of the official assignee the matter was adjourned until the 18th instant.

Re Garfield Frederick Stanley. As the bankrupt was not in attendance, the matter was adjourned sine die.

Re William Sproule. A resolution to allow the bankrupt to retain his household furniture was carried, and the meeting was closed and the public examination declared concluded.

Re Austin James Keany. This matter was adjourned till the 18th instant, accounts not having been filed.

Re Robert M'Farlane Lennie. Bankrupt was examined under section 30, and the matter was adjourned until the 18th instant.

George Thomas Howell, of Nymagee, blacksmith. Mr. L. T. Lloyd, official assignee.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

(Before Judge Rogers and juries.)

Mr. W. L. Merewether, Crown Prosecutor.

ACQUITTAL.

Walter M'Cauley pleaded not guilty to a charge of having on May 5 at Sydney assaulted Maria Husband and robbed her of a handbag, a purse, a handkerchief, and 11s 6d. Mr. E. R. Abigail appeared for the defence. The jury, after a lengthy retirement, found accused not guilty, and he was discharged.

ALLEGED STEALING IN A DWELLING.

Maurice Flynn and George Wilson pleaded not guilty to a charge of having on April 20 at Sydney in the dwelling-house of James Curtis, stolen a watch, a chain, a coin, a matchbox, a badge, two scarfpins, a bangle, and £4, the property of A. R. Eva, and several articles of clothing, the property of Walter Home. Mr. J. W. Abigail appeared for Wilson. Flynn was undefended.

The case for the Crown was that the two accused had gone to the Cambridge Club Hotel late at night, had drinks in the bar, and asked for rooms. They were shown to a room in the hotel, and were seen by two of the employees of the hotel, Misses Cummins and Hatton. Next morning before breakfast the two decamped, and about the same time Mr. Eva and Mr. Home missed the articles mentioned in the indictment. No one saw the accused enter the other rooms, but both accused were wearing neckties at the time of their arrest which were identified by Mr. Home as his property. Flynn was also in possession of a macintosh, which was identified by Mr. Home as his. For the defence it was contended that it was a case of mistaken identity, that the ties were accused's own property, and that the accused were innocent of the charge. Witnesses for Wilson deposed to seeing him at his brother's place all night on the date in question. The evidence and addresses concluded at 9.15 p.m., and the jury retired at that time. At 9.50 p.m. the jury returned into Court, and after a question returned a verdict of guilty against Flynn. They then retired to further consider their verdict regarding Wilson. At 10.10 p.m. they announced that they could not agree, and they were accordingly locked up for the night.

The Court adjourned to the following day.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Stephen and juries.)

Mr. C. G. Wade was Crown prosecutor.

ROBBERY.

John Duggan pleaded not guilty to a charge of having on May 22, at Sydney, assaulted William Archibald M'Donald and robbed him of a watch-chain, a pendant, and half of a sovereign case. He was undefended. The case for the Crown was that on the night of May 22 the accused suddenly came up to Mr. M'Donald, in Castlereagh-street, and struck him a violent blow on the jaw with his fist. Mr. M'Donald was dazed and staggered, and the accused then made a snatch at his watch chain, which he broke and ran away with towards Bathurst-street. Constable Kammel was standing at the corner of Bathurst and Castlereagh streets, and hearing the disturbance looked and saw accused running towards him. He arrested accused, and on striking a match saw a part of the chain lying near accused's feet. Mr. M'Donald then came up and gave prisoner in charge. The defence was a general denial of the charge. The jury found accused guilty, and he was sentenced to penal servitude for seven years. Prisoner was shown to have a long gaol record for offences of a similar character. His Honor in passing sentence commented upon the serious nature of the offence.

ROBBERY IN COMPANY.

John Henderson pleaded not guilty to a charge of having on May 16 at Sydney, being then in company with others to the Crown unknown, assaulted Henry Houston and robbed him of a watch, a chain, a sweep ticket, a railway ticket, two pieces of paper, and £3. He was undefended. The case for the Crown was that while Mr. Houston was in Hyde Park on the night of May 16 the accused, who was accompanied by two other men, rushed upon him. While accused held him by the throat the others robbed him. Mr. Houston was carried off his feet by the suddenness of the assault, and was a sufferer from injuries received during the affray. Accused was arrested by Senior-sergeant Blackburn and Constable Kamish three days afterwards, and was identified by Mr. Houston as one of his assailants. The jury found accused guilty, and he was sentenced to penal servitude for five years.

LARCENY.

Edward Adolph Braue, a German, pleaded not guilty to a charge of having on March 30 at Sydney stolen one electric turbine, two electric batteries, one bell, a stepladder, a lamp, a brass rod, a typewriter, a book, six insulators, and a clock, the property of Rudolph Tudor. There was a second count of receiving. He was undefended. The case for the Crown was that accused had removed the goods in question from the Grosvenor Hotel, where he had been employed as an electrician by Mr. Tudor, without permission. The goods were subsequently pawned or sold by accused. The defence was that accused had been given the articles. The jury, without leaving the box, convicted the prisoner, and he was sentenced to imprisonment with hard labour for 12 months. For a similar offence, of which he had been found guilty, prisoner was sentenced to imprisonment for 12 months, one sentence to start at the completion of the other.

ASSAULT.

Thomas Hamilton pleaded not guilty to a charge of having on May 21 at Sydney committed a serious assault upon a child. He was undefended. The jury found him guilty, and he was sentenced to imprisonment with hard labour for 18 months.

ACQUITTAL.

Herbert Hayes, a youth, pleaded not guilty to a charge of having on May 11 at Sydney assaulted David William Albous, and robbed him of a watch and chain, a pin, and 30s. There was a second count of maliciously wounding. Mr. P. K. White appeared for the defence. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty, and accused was discharged.

The Court adjourned to the following day at 10 a.m.

POLICE COURTS.

Stealing.—In the Charge Division of the Central Police Court yesterday, before Mr. James Mair, S.M., Thomas Williams, 42, labourer, pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a tin trunk, the property of Israel Blum, and was sentenced to six months' hard labour. At the same court George Edward Golding, 28, tailor, was charged with stealing a waterproof coat, valued at 18s, the property of Henry Bull and Co., Limited, on the 29th ultimo. The accused was stated to have entered the premises of the prosecutors, and on leaving he was wearing an overcoat, which he stated he had got from "one of the fellows upstairs." At the conclusion of the evidence the accused pleaded guilty and was fined £6, in default three months' hard labour. The same accused was further charged with stealing three overcoats and one waterproof coat, of the total value of £3 15s 6d, the property of the same firm, between May 25 and 29. For this offence he was fined £6, in default three months' hard labour, the sentences to be concurrent. At the same court Edward Norman, 33, bootmaker, was sentenced to three months' hard labour for stealing on the 3rd instant a fowl, valued at 2s, the property of James Lynch. In the same court Mary M'Lean, 48, widow, was sentenced to one month's hard labour on a charge of stealing a metal watch and gold-plated chain, valued at 17s 6d, from George Dolby, on Sunday morning last. James Connors, 50, seaman, was charged at the same court with stealing 2s 11d from Joseph Heapy on May 26. The prosecutor was lying on the grass about 2 o'clock in the morning in Hyde Park, when the accused went over and robbed him. Constable Laurence Woodman witnessed the occurrence, and arrested the accused. He was sentenced to one month's hard labour.

Alleged Theft.—At the Redfern Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Edwards, S.M., William Fletcher, aged 45, was charged with having stolen 65 dozen lambs' bells, valued at £35, the property of Thomas Elliott, trading as Elliott and Co., at Botany, on or about May 2, 1901. Mr. F. Gannon appeared for the defence. The accused was committed for trial at the next court of gaol delivery at Darlinghurst. Bail was allowed.

Inciting a Prisoner to Resist.—At the Redfern Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Edwards, S.M., William Dawson, aged 38, alias Squatty Davis, was charged with having incited a prisoner to resist Constable Albert M'Carron whilst in the execution of his duty. Defendant was fined £1, in default imprisonment for seven days.

Cruelty to a Dog.—At the Redfern Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Edwards, S.M., Arthur Myers was charged with having cruelly ill-treated a dog on May 24 by dragging it behind a tramcar whilst the same was in motion in Regent-street, Redfern. Defendant stated that he had not time to get the dog on to the tram before it started, and he let the animal go as soon as he discovered that it could not keep up to the tram. He was fined 5s, with 4s 10d costs, in default imprisonment for six hours.

CENTRAL LICENSING COURT.

The annual sittings of the Central Licensing Court were held yesterday, the bench consisting of Messrs. G. H. Smithers, S.M. (chairman), J. Mair, S.M., and F. Penny, L.M. The following transfers of publicans' licenses were granted:—Agnes Ottaway to Cornelius S. Smith, for the Glebe Hotel, King-street; Mary Griffin (widow of John Griffin), to herself, Trades Union Hotel, Harbour-street; William Perry to John Greatorex, Royal Hotel, Norton-street, Leichhardt; George Aitken to Patrick Tooney, Sir George Grey Hotel, Bay-street, Glebe; Laurence Mackessy to Frank Futcroft, Burton Hotel, Denham-street, Glebe. Two hundred and twenty-three applications for renewals were then dealt with, 191 being granted without objection, whilst the remainder were either objected to on account of alleged need of repairs or postponed for the production of plans for new premises.

A PASTORALIST'S ESTATE.

The will of the late Mr. George Watt, of Cocketgedong station, near Lake Urana, in the Riverina district, was admitted to probate last week. Mr. Watt died at the Australian Club, Melbourne, on the 6th ultimo. The estate he left was valued for probate purposes at £78,730, and under his will, which was dated January 10, 1900, he appointed as his executors and trustees his nephew, Thomas Riddell Ross Watt, of New Gisborne (Victoria), William Reid, manager of the Australian Deposit and Mortgage Bank, Limited (Victoria); and John James Falconer, manager of the Australian Mortgage Land and Finance Company, Limited. The testator willed that after the expenses in connection with his funeral and all just debts had been paid all articles of jewellery, pictures, &c., should be divided between his nieces, Janet Campbell Watt and Elizabeth Georgina Watt, as they thought fit, whilst his gold watch and chain should go to his nephew, Thomas R. R. Watt. Legacies of £10,000 each were left to his nieces, Elizabeth Georgina Watt and Janet Campbell Watt; £3000 to his niece, Jane Lillie Thompson, widow of Hugh Montgomery Thompson, £100 each to his sisters, Margaret Fullerton Watt, Barbara Watt, and Elizabeth Wood, widow, all of Glasgow (Scotland); £1000 to his nephew, Thomas R. R. Watt, and £300 to the Urana Hospital. Annuities of £150 each were left by testator to his sisters, Margaret Fullerton Watt and Barbara Watt during their lives. The whole of his real and personal estate other than that specifically devised was left to his trustees to sell, collect, or otherwise convert into money, and he directed that from the proceeds thereof the legacies referred to should be paid, and the residue should be held upon trust for those of his brothers and sisters, James Watt, William Fullerton Watt, Sarah Granger, Janet Guthrie, and Elizabeth Wood, who were living at the time of his decease, and to the children of remoter issue (then living) of those who had died. The trustees were also authorised to set apart such a sum of money as would by investment in stocks and debentures in New South Wales or Victoria produce an annual income equal to the amount of the annuities bequeathed under the will.

THE COMMONWEALTH PARLIAMENT.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MELBOURNE, TUESDAY, JUNE 4.

The Speaker took the chair at half-past 2 o'clock.

PROVISION OF SUPPLIES.

The PREMIER said a reference to the 83rd section of the Constitution Act would show that they would have to provide supplies within a month from the inauguration of the Commonwealth. The time expired on Sunday next, and it would be necessary to pass the required measures by Friday. Therefore he asked that the debate on the Address in Reply should be finished as soon as possible.

THE ADDRESS IN REPLY.

The debate was resumed by Mr. GROOM (Vic.), who said that as the debate was to close early he would restrict his remarks. Touching upon the fiscal issue, he pointed out that the protectionist speakers had not indicated what measure of protection would satisfy them. The Government seemed to be between the devil and the deep sea, and they would, he thought, have to rely on the moderate men in the Ministerial corner and the Opposition in framing the tariff. He was in favour of moderate duties, but revenue must be the first consideration. (Hear, hear.) He thought that if the Government stood by their language in the Speech they could rely on the loyal support of the corner. Judging, however, by the protectionist character of the Ministry, he thought that their programme indicated the hand of Esau, but the voice of Jacob. He hoped the Government would stick to their guns, and if so they would have his hearty support. (Hear, hear.) He was in favour of duties as low as they could be made consistent with getting revenue. The highest duty to which he would consent must not exceed 25 per cent. (Opposition cries of "Oh, oh.") He desired to see the Victorian ratio of taxation followed by the Commonwealth; under this one-third of the imports came in free, and the rest were dutiable. They should be able to raise somewhere about £1,500,000 by excise duties. He favoured a discounting tariff which would commence even below 10 per cent. and rise to 25 per cent., but in no case beyond that. If our industries could not maintain themselves under such protection, the sooner they died the better. He had always opposed high duties like those which now existed in Victoria. They were told years ago that protection would find work for the rising generation by the establishment of industries. There was no doubt that at that time those industries did spring up, and they gave much employment; then an era of over-production was followed by demands for further protection, which was granted. Over-production still continued, and was always met with increased protection, while wages continued to steadily fall. The higher protection induced more manufacturers to start than the market could absorb, and excessive production and competition followed. Moderate protection might be good to keep industries on their feet, but protection could never develop them so as to meet the competition of the outside markets. Protection could never help us beyond giving our manufacturers the local markets. What was wanted was assistance towards the development of national industries which could put their products on the world's markets and compete there successfully. He favoured the proposed construction of the transcontinental railway line as far as he understood the question at present, but would like further information about it. He favoured the white Australia proposal, and he would support the Government action on the subject. He did not wish to see any harsh or drastic measures adopted to the injury of the planters, but he wished to see the kanaka labour and all other coloured labour completely abolished.

Mr. M'DONALD (Queensland) regretted that Queensland was not represented at the various conventions. The reason why she was not was that the Government of the day knew they could not secure a representative elected to the Convention, and consequently abstained from seeking representation. Referring to the kanaka labour question, he remarked that they were told that 22,500 white men depended on the sugar industry for employment. Looking at the official agricultural figures, he found that only 3600 men were employed in 69 sugar mills, and he could not understand where the 22,500 men came in. Mr. Groom, amongst others, had made the statement.

Mr. GROOM (Queensland): And I have good grounds for making it too.

Mr. M'DONALD: At the utmost he could not find that more than 20,000 white men, women, and children were dependent on the kanaka labour. The statement that the kanaka was a more reliable worker than the white worker of Queensland was an insult to the latter and was absolutely untrue.

Mr. SPEAKER: The hon. member must not say that anything which another hon. member says is untrue.

Mr. M'DONALD: He would apologise for the remark, but contended that the white worker of Queensland was as reliable as any other worker the world over. (Hear, hear.) He maintained that white labour could do the work equally as well as black labour. They said white men could not thresh the cane, but it was questionable whether such was necessary, and there was a number of planters who did not think it necessary. He did not for one moment admit that the white man could not do the work, as he believed that in semi-tropical Queensland many white men did much harder work than any that was done on the plantations. That was to be seen in mining where the workmen had often to be supplied with artificial air. The planters had systematically discouraged the employment of white labour. Certain financial institutions in Queensland now refused to advance money to farmers and planters, on the plea that the Commonwealth Government proposed to abolish kanaka labour, and every effort was being made to prevent legislation on the subject. He denounced the kanaka labour traffic as inhuman, and said it was a disgrace to Queensland. Many of the kanakas were practically kidnapped on the islands, and the death-rate amongst them had amounted to as much as 200 in the 1000 during the first six months after their arrival in Queensland. The conditions had certainly improved; but the death-rate was still between 17 and 48 per 1000. He denied that they were as peaceful or harmless as had been stated. Riots amongst them were frequent, and a white woman was not safe in the kanaka districts any time after dark. The Queensland people had distinctly declared against the employment of the kanaka, and the House might well take the same view. He objected strongly to the proposal in favour of a commission of inquiry into the question, because the views of the Queensland people might be well accepted on the subject. He deprecated the continued discussion on freetrade and protection, which amounted simply to a question of New South Wales versus Victoria. He did not think the question was so important to the great bulk of the people as most of the fiscal advocates sought to make out. As far as he could see, both sides—freetraders and protectionists—combined against the workers when it suited them. ("No, no.") When they found it likely to affect their pockets they combined to fight against their common enemy—the labouring man. He advocated the establishment of a State sugar refinery, which would do the Queensland sugar industry more good than anything else. (Hear, hear.) The Colonial Sugar Refining Company was making enormous dividends, while the producers obtained a very small margin of profit. Personally, he did not think that either freetrade or protection was going to benefit the working classes to any extent. He might say he was a freetrader, but he would support either a protectionist or freetrade Government if it gave labour reform. He proposed to vote against the amendment, which was inopportune and injudicious.

Mr. WINTER COOKE (Victoria) said he sat on the Opposition side because he was a freetrader, and it could not be supposed that a Government constituted like the present would adopt anything but a protective policy. The definition he would give to freetrade was that all customs duties should be for revenue purposes, and without any ulterior object. He saw no difference between a revenue tariff and a freetrade tariff. ("Oh," and laughter.) He would gradually remove the duties if he had the power. He feared to quote authorities on the subject of freetrade because they would not be accepted by some hon. members, and yet most educated men told them that freetrade was right and protection was wrong. It would not be found that any of the professors of political economy in the Universities of Melbourne and Sydney would favour protection. Mr. W. E. Gladstone had said that protection was a fraud. Regarding Britain's decline of trade, he thought that a country which had paid off £125,000,000 of its national debt in 25 years, which had raised its revenue in the same period from £75,500,000 to £129,000,000, and which had kept up an immense navy, could hardly be said to be going to decay. Statistics showed that the proportion of unemployed was as follows:—England, 3·6 per cent.; France, 12 per cent.; and Germany, 2½ per cent. He admitted that too much reliance could not be placed on statistics. (Hear, hear.) He did not believe in woman suffrage. On the subject of a white Australia he held that it was not good that black labour should be in Australia. On their measures generally the Government would not meet with any factious opposition from him. He referred to the opinion of Mr. Bryce that 5 per cent. of the members of the Congress of the United States were more or less influenced by bribes, and he concluded by congratulating the Speaker on his appointment.

Mr. CHANTER (New South Wales) denied that there were any freetraders in the Commonwealth Parliament. (Hear, hear.) Henry George, the greatest freetrader he knew of, had laid it down that the advocate of a tariff for revenue had not a case. As to the condition of England, he found the following figures in Mulhall with regard to the number of paupers:—England, 810,000, or 2·8 per cent.; France, 290,000, or 8 per cent.; Germany, 320,000, or 7 per cent.; and Russia, 350,000, or 4 per cent. In New South Wales there were far more unemployed and paupers than in the other States, and times without number the loan fund had had to be resorted to to provide work for them. As to the comparison between New South Wales and Victoria, New South Wales was twice the age of Victoria. Then if her policy was so good, why had not New South Wales with her immense natural advantages gone ahead by leaps and bounds? It was not the freetrade policy of New South Wales which developed her agricultural resources, but it was the small duty placed by the Dibbs Government on wheat which helped her agriculturists. Sir William M'Millan had asked what benefit the farmers would get from protection, and he would refer the hon. gentleman to the columns of the "Argus" for an answer. They showed that at the port of shipment the Victorian farmer got 2s 10d per bushel for his wheat, whilst the New South Wales farmer had to be satisfied with 2s 7½d. Should not the New South Wales consumer get his flour cheaper in New South Wales? Surely he should, but he did not. There was a ring—an exporters' ring. (Laughter.) There were rings in New South Wales amongst the millers as well as amongst the importers, and there was a greater danger of rings in a freetrade than in a protectionist country. Seventeen farmers in New South Wales determined to send to America to procure certain articles in order to save expense, but they were informed they could only be supplied through agents. Protectionists desired to break down the monopoly of the few and give assistance to the local producers. A close examination would show that the time had nearly arrived when the people of New South Wales would demand a change in legislative conditions. For the 10 years previous to 1899 the territorial revenue of Victoria was £4,000,000, whereas the revenue from the same source in New South Wales was £19,000,000. The expenditure of loan money during the same period in Victoria had been £10,000,000, as against £7,000,000 in New South Wales. Victoria had been living within her means and on her own resources.

An Hon. Member: And she has lost 10 per cent. of her population.

Mr. CHANTER maintained that most of those who had gone from Victoria to New South Wales had gone to the Riverina, which commercially belonged to Victoria. Looking at the wool production of the two States for the 10 years previous to 1899, he found that Victoria's production was worth £24,000,000, whilst that of New South Wales totalled £88,000,000. The mineral wealth of the States compared thus in the same period:—Victoria, £26,500,000; New South Wales, £44,000,000. In manufactures, agriculture, and dairying, Victoria, notwithstanding her youth and her limited area was far ahead. However, he would ask why was it that New South Wales only got twice as much for her pastoral produce as Victoria did, though her area was four times as large. The reason was that owing to the assistance given by the State, three blades of grain had been made to grow where only one grew before. The Savings Bank deposits in Victoria were £7 16s 8d per inhabitant, and in New South Wales £7 9s 4d. Taking the number of persons insured, he found they were, Victoria 42,218, and New South Wales 39,987. The debts of the States were, Victoria £49,000,000, New South Wales £65,000,000. The indebtedness per head was, New South Wales £48, and in Victoria £42 4s 6d. The interest bill worked out in Victoria at £1 12s 3d per head, and in New South Wales £1 18s 6d per head. The membership of friendly societies showed Victoria 88,728, New South Wales 70,000. The funds in these societies were, Victoria £1,173,000, New South Wales £612,000; and the funds per individual were £13 4s 8d in Victoria, against £8 14s 2d in New South Wales. He hoped that there would be an end of these comparisons, and that they would all work together for the weal of Australia. He congratulated the Government on the liberal character of their policy. He wanted them always to recognise that the wealth of one part of Australia was the wealth of all. He hoped that the fiscal question would be approached in a national spirit, and with a full determination to establish the Commonwealth on a firm basis. Every honest and true man should give the Government an opportunity of carrying out their policy. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. IT. BROWN (N.S.W.) expressed a hope that the laws of the Commonwealth would be framed in such language that everyone would be able to understand them. He also hoped that a wise care would be exercised in appointing officers to administer the laws. People had been given to understand that Mr. Fegan was to be appointed to the position of Under-Secretary for Home Affairs, and he had led people to think that his retirement was due to a desire to save the Government—from what? That was a question they were entitled to ask. They were now led to think that the appointment was objected to because in times past Mr. Fegan's hands had been soiled by honest labour. (Cries of "No.") From his standpoint they started the federation with too many legal men at the head of State affairs. He hoped that a measure which would give the Federal Parliament its own franchise would be speedily introduced. At present the members representing the different States were elected on a varying franchise. What he wanted to see was that the federal franchise should be based on the recognition of the principle of one adult one vote, so that every Australian should have an equal weight in making the laws. Regarding the matter of a white Australia he advocated prompt action, holding that delay was dangerous. He was prepared to place the purity of the Anglo-Saxon race above every other consideration. The matter of the location of the federal capital, he trusted, would be speedily dealt with, and he saw no reason for delay. Information had been compiled in New South Wales, which was available for the use of the Government. He understood that the Government intended to invite the House to view the different sites, and he regarded this as a good suggestion. He believed that the Braddon clause would be fraught with great difficulties, and that very great caution would be required in administering it. It was not the duty of the federation to finance the States as well as the federation. The federation should not be the tax gatherer for the States, and the States should not occupy the position of beggars at the feet of the federation. He strongly opposed protection as an enemy to the farmer, and he claimed to speak from experience on the subject. Victoria had had a long trial of protection, and it should have been a paradise long ago to the working man. In 15 years employment was found for only 2499 workers. During the same time the workers in New South Wales factories had increased by 10,679. New South Wales had stood the test during the years of depression much better than Victoria had. In the factories of the former State there were 6500 dismissals, while from the Victorian factories 17,000 workers were dismissed. During the past 10 years Sydney had increased her population by 100,000, while in Melbourne the increase was only 3000, and even in Adelaide there had been an increase of over 20,000. He thought the statement in the "Review of Reviews" summed up the position when it said the census dealt a damning blow to protection. He contended that the mother country was better off under freetrade than any protective country was, while her wealth was better distributed. Consequently he was not going to try and inflict protection on the Commonwealth in order to make the few wealthy at the expense of the many. One of the greatest benefits federation had conferred on Australia was in breaking down the State fiscal barriers. The same thing held good with our kin outside. If it was a good thing for the people of Australia to trade together, it was surely an equally good thing for Australia to trade with New Zealand and the mother country. He was prepared to judge the Government on their measures, which he would loyally help to pass if he thought they were good.

Mr. FULLER (N.S.W.) said his party objected to any money from the protective duties going into private pockets. They wanted revenue, but only for Government purposes. He referred to the necessity for a rigid federal quarantine system. They had had several serious illustrations of the urgent need for such recently. He pointed out that the industries which still required protection in Victoria had been started 30 years ago. The butter industry of New South Wales had suffered under the protection system of Victoria. The butter industry owed nothing to protection. They had to depend on the price of wheat in London for the price in Australia, as protection could not benefit the wheatgrower. And what good, he asked, would be a duty on coal? They sent coal from Newcastle all over the world, and no system of protection could possibly benefit the coalowners, as they could not consume all their coal. The effect of protection had been to give employers an opportunity of taking money out of the pockets of the people to put into their own pockets, and to pay starvation wages to their own people. He quoted the opinions of several English labour leaders hostile to protection, and maintained that the adoption of the freetrade policy was good for New South Wales and Australia. In 1885 Mr. Barton declared as far as New South Wales was concerned that commerce should be as free as air. If it were good for New South Wales surely it would be good for the Commonwealth. He would do his best to bring about a white Australia. The territory of the federal capital should be preserved and not one acre sold. The revenue from the leasing of land would then go a long way towards meeting the expense of government. It was time the old barbaric system of strikes was done away with and industrial conciliation substituted. He regretted the absence of New Zealand from the federation, and held that New Zealand had thrown obstacles in the way of federation.

The PREMIER interjected that he did not think New Zealand had thrown obstacles in the way of federation. She simply made suggestions, which were considered at a conference.

Mr. FULLER was glad to hear this, and hoped the time would come when New Zealand would join in the federation.

Mr. HARPER (Victoria) expressed regret that members had not dealt with the fiscal matter in a different manner from that assumed in the State Legislatures, when an antagonistic position was taken up by members. The question should be dealt with in a fair, reasonable, and equitable manner, and open minds should be retained. He was interested in all the States except Tasmania, and he felt indignant at the manner in which the freetrade advocates had based their views on irrelevant grounds, and depreciated the colony of Victoria. Two points were relied on to show that Victoria had suffered by the adoption of a protective policy. One was her loss of population, but those who relied on this should carefully study the statistics. Unquestionably Victoria had not in this matter kept progress with New South Wales, but was it any reproach to New South Wales that in the fifties and sixties she only added 150,000 to her population, whilst Victoria added 250,000? In Victoria the people, with the instinct of knowing what was best for themselves, put on protective duties, and the result was that the colony had been made a great one. Victorian men had gone all over Australia and founded settlements. Who made Port Curtis and Broken Hill? Who increased the population of Tasmania, and put £5,000,000 into the sugar industry of Queensland? Victorians increased the population of Western Australia from 40,000 to 160,000. At the time of the banking crisis the population of Victoria had received a reeling blow, but it was recovering. (Hear, hear.) After the crisis loan expenditure was stopped, and this came on top of want of employment. He thought the proper policy of the Government would have been to have borrowed and spent. When Mr. Reid took over the New South Wales finances he would have had on his four years a deficiency of £1,000,000 had he, like Sir George Turner, had no money behind him. He referred to the report of the Sydney experts on Mr. Reid's finances.

Mr. COOK (N.S.W.) said it was not worth the paper it was written on.

Mr. HARPER maintained that Victoria had done well under adverse conditions.

Sir WILLIAM M'MILLAN: Has there been no accumulated deficiency in Victoria?

Mr. HARPER said there was one in the form of Treasury bills, and every year the Treasury paid off £250,000 worth of them. The returns of firms doing business all over Australia showed that the position of Victoria, as regarded bad debts, was superior to New South Wales and Queensland. Miss Cuthbertson, the chief female inspector of factories, had pointed out that in 1894 there were 23,161 male employees in Victorian factories and 11,104 females, and in 1899 the males were 31,640 and females 17,897. There was therefore an increase of 6793 females, but 4000 were absorbed in purely women's work. If protection was the abomination and desolation which had been represented, how was it America, Germany, Belgium, and Russia had not been ruined long ago? What first shook his faith in the Cobden doctrine was the prediction, which had never come off, that by the adoption of a protective policy the United States would come to grief. It started with a population of 12 millions behind that of Great Britain, and it now reached 80 millions. Members should to the best of their ability and without bias endeavour to decide which policy was best without bringing hidebound views to a consideration of the question. In a remarkable article in the last number of the North American "Review" it was shown that in 1898 American exports equalled those of Great Britain, and that during the first 10 months of last year America imported £36,000,000 worth of manufactured articles and exported double that value. Freetrade was a grand conception, but it did not apply to the circumstances of this world. It had been shown that the silk trade of Great Britain had been ruined for want of protection. For Australia to lay herself open to the competition of the world was simply madness. He foresaw difficulties in bringing a new tariff into operation owing to the States' tariff being operative at the same time, and he suggested that the Commonwealth should adopt a provisional tariff. He hoped a reasonable spirit would prevail in dealing with the matter, and that great caution would be adopted in dealing with it.

Mr. CONROY (N.S.W.) complained of the deception involved in putting into the Government programme measures which could not be carried for five years.

The PREMIER took exception to the use of the word "deception."

Mr. CONROY: If the hon. gentleman regards the word as a reflection on himself I will withdraw it.

The PREMIER: It is not a reflection on me alone, but on the Governor-General.

Mr. CONROY withdrew the word "deception." He regarded the Government programme as one addressed rather to the electors than to the House. He held that it was unnecessary to raise more than £7,400,000 through the customs. The object of members should be to decrease expenditure by lessening the military expenditure, and relying on a citizen soldiery. There was too much expenditure on what he would call the frillings of the military system. As a freetrader, he objected to any taxation—(laughter)—beyond what was necessary for sound administration. He contended that there was a great difference between the importation of cheap labour and cheap articles. People would see that protection was only taken up in the interests of the manufacturing class, which was blind to its own interest. The result of the stock tax was that the people of Victoria consumed 77lb. per head less meat than the people of the neighbouring States.

Mr. O'MALLEY: They are becoming more civilised.

Mr. CONROY maintained that Victoria by her policy was driving trade away, and any interference with trade must be injurious. Looking at the subject broadly, it was clear that the community had to bear the burden of protection. He hoped that if a protective duty were put on sugar to the extent of £770,000, an excise duty of a like amount would also be put on it. No wonder members of the Queensland sugar districts welcomed the Premier as a brother. He quoted from the speech of Mr. Harper in 1892 showing how the policy of high duties had retarded the progress of America, and maintained that history showed that the countries in which trade was freest flourished most.

Mr. O'MALLEY: When Rome became freetrade it burnt up. (Laughter.)

Mr. CONROY said this was after duties were imposed. He maintained that the duties tended to discourage trade and depleted the capital of the country. He hoped taxation would be as light as possible.

ADJOURNMENT.

The debate was adjourned on the motion of Mr. Kennedy.

The PREMIER expressed a hope that the discussion would be concluded by the refreshment hour next day, and Sir William M'Millan concurred in this.

The House rose at 10.40 p.m.

NEWCASTLE.

WATER AND SEWERAGE BOARD.

NEWCASTLE, Tuesday.

The weekly meeting of the Hunter District Water Supply and Sewerage Board was held at the offices, Newcastle, this morning. The president (Mr. W. J. Millner) occupied the chair, and Messrs. J. W. Birkenhead, J. B. Barclay, O. G. Steel, John Reid, and Alfred Asher were in attendance. The revenue return for the week ended 1st instant showed that £246 4s 11d had been collected, making a total of £12,512 17s received since January 1 last. Accounts amounting to £583 were passed for payment.

The board had under consideration the report of the committee appointed to inquire into the proposed scheme for the supply of water to the townships of West Wallsend and Holmesville. The report, amongst other matters, recommended that a reservoir should be constructed at the highest point, so as to command the whole of West Wallsend, and that the reservoir should be supplied by pumping from Minmi in preference to the proposal to have it placed at a lower level. The matter was discussed by the board at length, and the committee's recommendation adopted. It was decided to instruct the engineer to proceed at once with the preparation of the necessary plans and specifications.

THE COAL EXPORT TRADE.

The ship St. Mirren arrived to-day from Table Bay to load a cargo of coal from the Duckenfield Colliery for the west coast of South America, and the steamer Argus arrived from Melbourne to load coal from various collieries for Singapore. The steamer Fultala sailed to-day for Calcutta, via Melbourne, with 3100 tons of coal from different collieries. The barque Inverness-shire cleared at the Custom-house to-day for Valparaiso with 3636 tons of Waratah coal; the steamer Clitus cleared for Singapore with 3200 tons of coal from various collieries; and the ship Hecla cleared for Honolulu with 2150 tons of Waratah coal.

In the inter-state trade the following coal-laden vessels were despatched to-day:—Perth, steamer, for Melbourne, with 2400 tons; Elmville, steamer, for Auckland, with 2700 tons; Ramazan, steamer, for Port Pirie, with 2150 tons; and Melbourne, steamer, for Melbourne, with 2400 tons.

FATAL RESULT OF A GUN ACCIDENT.

A lad named Alexander Dunn, 16 years of age, died at his parents' residence, Belmont, Lake Macquarie, this afternoon, from the effects of a gun accident, which occurred on April 13 last. It appears from statements furnished to the police that a loaded pea rifle was standing behind the door of a shed, and the unfortunate lad, accompanied by his dog, was approaching the building. The dog preceded the youth, and rushing into the shed knocked the weapon down. The rifle immediately discharged and the bullet entered the forehead of the youth just above the left eye. He was conveyed to the Newcastle Hospital as speedily as possible, and the bullet was successfully extracted. The deceased sustained a depressed fracture of the skull, and was partially blind as the result of the accident. He was discharged from the hospital as relieved on May 30, and conveyed to his home. Dr. Nickson was summoned to attend the patient this morning, and found him in an unconscious condition and extremely weak. Death took place a few hours afterwards. A certificate of death has been furnished, and a coronial inquiry has been dispensed with.

THE CITY COURT.

In the Summons Division of the City Court to-day Irvine Keddie, licensee of the Universal Hotel, Hamilton, was fined £4, with the alternative of 14 days' imprisonment in Maitland gaol, for having kept his licensed premises open for the sale of liquor during prohibited hours, namely, at midnight on Saturday, May 25.

Joseph Trenery proceeded against Frederick Nickisson for assault, and defendant was fined £5, with 2 guineas professional costs, 1 guinea witnesses' fees, and 6s 8d costs of court.

THE QUARANTINE REGULATIONS.

The steamship Argus, which arrived here to-day from Melbourne, was subjected to the strict regulations of the Health Department on the ground that the vessel had not been fumigated on the occasion of her recent arrival at Melbourne from South Africa. She was, however, granted pratique this evening, and will be allowed to load her cargo of about 3000 tons of coal on condition that every precaution is taken during the time she is lying at the wharf to prevent any Capetown rats which may be on board to escape ashore. The Argus shipped a number of horses and a quantity of fodder at Melbourne for Singapore.

The fortnightly meeting of the City Council which was to have been held to-night lapsed for want of a quorum.

The ceremony of installing the Worshipful Master elect and investing the officers of the Masonic Lodge St. James, Wallsend, was performed at the Mechanics' Institute, Plattsburg, this evening. The occasion was subsequently celebrated by a successful social gathering.

The ship St. Mirren arrived to-day, after an uneventful passage of 38 days from Table Bay.

A deputation has been appointed by the residents of Belmont, Lake Macquarie, to wait on the Minister for Works with a request for the extension of the tramway system to the eastern shore of Lake Macquarie.

A public meeting of the residents of Stockton, convened by the Mayor in response to a requisition, was held in the Temperance Hall to-night to advocate the immediate construction of a light line of railway from Stockton to Salt Ash. The proposal has already been reported upon by the officers of the Works Department, and the suggested route has been inspected.

Now Senator sounds very grand,
And grand men should they be
Who do aspire to rule this land,
Else why not you or me!
But people vote for whom they choose,
And make their seats secure

COUNTRY NEWS.

LIVERPOOL PROGRESS ASSOCIATION.

LIVERPOOL, Monday.

At a special meeting of the Progress Association, held on Thursday evening, when Alderman Smith presided, the question of the amalgamation of Liverpool, Holdsworthy and Eckersley, Glenfield and Moorbank Progress Associations was considered. The associations named were represented by delegates. The chairman said his idea was that all the members of the different associations be recognised as members of one association. Mr. Milton (Holdsworthy and Eckersley) said if any amalgamation took place equality would have to be recognised, otherwise one association might be outvoted by the others. Mr. Slocombe (Glenfield) said he could not see what benefit could result from the proposed amalgamation. Mr. Milton (Holdsworthy and Eckersley) said that the associations would have more weight individually, being in different electorates and having different Parliamentary representatives, but they could co-operate in matters of mutual interest when necessary. Alderman Watt (Liverpool) said that if all the associations recognised each other as members the unity thus created would prove beneficial. Mr. Wearne supported Mr. Milton's contention. Mr. Dunbar (Liverpool) said that the idea was to admit members of any of the associations to each other's meetings and allow them to take part in discussions, but not to allow the visiting members a right to vote. The scheme of amalgamation as suggested by Mr. Dunbar was agreed to. It was unanimously resolved, on the motion of Mr. Barker, seconded by Mr. Milton,—"That a letter of condolence be forwarded to Mr. J. Cole, secretary of the Liverpool District Progress Association, and his family consequent upon their recent sad bereavement."

BALRANALD, Tuesday.

The following have been installed as officers of the Balranald Masonic Lodge for the ensuing year:—Bro. C. E. Moody, W.M.; Bro. A. S. Webb, I.P.M.; Bro. C. S. Bainbridge, S.W.; Bro. A. Griffith, J.W.; Bro. G. Neild, S.D.; Bro. W. Peavers, J.D.; Bro. J. Kenrick, I.G.; Bro. A. Malcolm, P.M., organist; Bro. I. J. Close, P.M., treasurer; Bro. W. O. Close, P.M., secretary; and Bro. J. Spinks, tyler.

BERRIGAN, Tuesday.

A fatal burning accident occurred at Naraughi, 12 miles from here, on Monday morning to Sarah Bryon aged 2½ years, daughter of Mr. Michael Bryon. The child was playing near a burning log five chains from her parents' house when her clothes caught alight. Before assistance could be rendered her clothes were a burning mass. She wore flannelette garments. The flames almost hid her from sight. A little brother of the girl endeavoured to extinguish the fire, but he was burnt about the hands in his brave attempt, and had to desist. The little girl's father took the child to Berrigan, where Dr. Heald attended her. She died this morning.

The death took place last night at the residence of Mr. Quade of a lad named John Tehan, aged 13 years, who was visiting Berrigan for the good of his health.

Dissatisfaction is expressed locally by wheat buyers and others at the facilities offered by the Railway Department for the wheat traffic. Trucks have been wanted at Berrigan for some time to cope with the wants of the farmers, but only a limited number of trucks daily are left at the local station.

Messrs. Blair and Dalgleish are forwarding 4500 bags of wheat to England as a trial shipment. Buyers assert that the average sample of wheat in the Berrigan district is superior to any they have seen before. The Farmers and Settlers' Co-operative Association, Limited, are making arrangements to ship 9000 bags of wheat in bulk by a steamer of the White Star line at an early date.

BLACKHEATH, Tuesday.

A 12-bullock team, with a full load of posts and rails, arrived here from Megalong this morning, via Megalong-road, where there is abundance of good quality building and fencing timber.

The illuminations in Sydney were seen from the surrounding hills, lights being plainly visible.

BOWRAL, Tuesday.

The Minister has approved of £280 being voted for expenditure on the road from Bowral to Briars between Bowral municipality and Moss Vale when the Estimates have been passed, and also £85 for the road from Colo platform to the Great Southern-road.

BOURKE, Tuesday.

The local customs for the month of May totalled £554 11s 1d. The principal items were:—Spirits, £423 3s 5d; tobacco and cigars, £45 9s; sugar, £31 10s; dried fruits, £43 0s 8d.

Scratch four-oared contests under the auspices of the Bourke Rowing Club were held on the river yesterday. Four crews competed. The final was won by Trader (stroke), Bamford (No. 3), Melbourne (No. 2), and Aulezark (bow), who defeated Ellis (stroke), Sewell (No. 3), Johnson (No. 2), and Hogan (bow).

The annual concert in connection with the Bourke Caledonian Association held last night was a success. Miss Glendenning, Mr. A. Fulton, and Mr. Alex. Edward took part.

The Bishop of Bathurst reached Bourke on Saturday evening, and attended a meeting of the parishioners the same evening, and preached in St. Stephen's Church, Bourke, on Sunday, both morning and evening, the prayers being read by the rector, Archdeacon Geer.

COROWA, Tuesday.

The Bishop of Riverina, Dr. Anderson, held a confirmation service at St. John's Church on Sunday morning.

COOMA, Tuesday.

The mission conducted by Fathers Gisisty and Mesarr, two visiting priests from Sydney, terminated at St. Patrick's Church on Sunday. Fathers Gisisty and Mesarr, who belong to a devout order of French priests, were appointed by the Cardinal to conduct a jubilee mission. Large numbers have attended each service. At the Sunday services there were 250 communicants. At 11 o'clock mass Father Gisisty referred to the Education Act, and after paying a tribute to the Sisters of the Cooma Convent as teachers, said that the parents were guilty of gross injustice to their Church and to their children by sending them to the State schools. He also referred to the hostile attitude of the French Government towards Roman Catholics.

The new interchangeable sanitary system recently adopted by the municipal council came into force on June 1.

A hare drive was held at Kiaora last Wednesday; 120 hares were killed. Mr. E. Gibson made top score with 50.

Amongst the many dogs recently poisoned at Cooma was Mr. J. Walmsley's Burleigh.

GILGANDRA, Tuesday.

A man named William York, while engaged today in spotting ironbark logs at Jones's sawmill, had his hand badly crushed through a large ironbark log falling on him.

GLEN INNES, Tuesday.

On Sunday evening 21 members of the Tenterfield School of Arts arrived by mail train to participate in a return series of matches with the members of the Glen Innes School of Arts. During the day the visitors were entertained at tennis, and at dinner in the evening. The following are the results of the contests:—Billiards, a draw; draughts, Tenterfield won; whist, Glen Innes won; dominoes, Glen Innes won.

GOULBURN, Tuesday.

The Rev. J. Woolnough preached the anniversary sermons in connection with the Wesleyan Home Mission on Sunday. He addressed a meeting last night.

Insects found by Mr. C. H. Roberts, of Brisbane Grove, on a horse in his possession, have been pronounced by the authorities of the Technological Museum, Sydney, to be larvæ of the bot fly.

GRAFTON, Tuesday.

One undefended case comprised the list for the District Court, which opened to-day.

The council of the Clarence Pastoral and Agricultural Society at its meeting to-day appointed Messrs. S. See and D. Beatson as delegates to the United Agricultural Society's conference to be held at Sydney early in July.

The Land Tax Appeal Court fixed for to-day was not held, as the whole of the five appeals lodged were withdrawn.

A friendly Appeal Court to-day dealt with seven appeals against the municipal assessments.

HILLGROVE, Tuesday.

At the Court of Appeal to-day some large reductions were made in the borough valuations, more particularly in the assessment of mines. The Bench struck out machinery, and only allowed the assessment on the building and improvements.

JUNEE, Tuesday.

The Presbyterian bazaar proceeds amounted to £100.

KIAMA, Tuesday.

At a meeting of the Kiama Agricultural Association's executive committee this morning a copy of a letter sent by Mr. William Muggridge to the South Coast Agricultural Societies' Union, in regard to jumping points for hunters competing at the agricultural societies' annual exhibitions, was read. The Kiama committee approved of the conditions and points provided they meet with the approval of the Minister for Agriculture.

LAWSON, Tuesday.

The Rev. E. Claydon, rector of the Church of England, has had printed in book form the accounts of the different churches in this parish, showing a great increase in the attendance and in the finances over the previous year.

LITHGOW, Tuesday.

At a meeting held at the council chambers last night, when the Mayor presided, it was decided to support the claims of the Orange federal capital site. A committee was formed, and arrangements were made to canvass the town for subscriptions in aid of the movement.

MOLONG, Tuesday.

The monthly meeting of the Molong Cottage Hospital was held last night. It was unanimously decided to connect the hospital with the residences of the medical officers by telephone. The treasurer announced that the net proceeds of the recent sports totalled £76, but that further donations were yet to come in. Sixteen patients were treated during the past month. There were two deaths, and the number remaining in on June 1 was seven.

In consequence of complaints about the Eugowra Courthouse the Department of Public Works has been asked by the Department of Justice to provide in the next draft Estimates the amount necessary for carrying out alterations at the police station, including the erection of a courtroom.

NYNGAN, Tuesday.

The premises formerly known as the Royal Hotel, and owned by Mr. H. Mitchell, were destroyed by fire last night. The occupant, Mr. J. Finn, lost all his furniture. Some difficulty was experienced in rescuing the family. The premises were insured in the New Zealand Company.

NOWRA, Tuesday.

Only four appeals were lodged to-day against the South Shoalhaven municipal assessments. Slight reductions in two cases were made.

The Agricultural Society has decided to invite Mr. Allen, Government fruit expert, to give a further exhibition of tree pruning at M'Pherson's orchard, Cambewarra, which he treated last year.

The Minister for Agriculture has promised a £ for £ subsidy to the Shoalhaven Agricultural Society on the moneys raised in aid of the new show pavilion.

Mrs. Davey gave a lecture to-night at the local barracks on the Salvation Army social work.

ORANGE, Tuesday.

Mr. H. Byrnes, relieving police magistrate, left last night for Young, to which district he has been appointed.

Mr. Peter Moore, railway stationmaster at Murrurundi, has been appointed to the charge of the Orange station in succession to Mr. F. Richardson, who has been transferred to Murrurundi.

Up to date 370 applications have been received under the Old Age Pensions Act.

SINGLETON, Tuesday.

An inmate of the Benevolent Asylum named William Brown, aged 72, cut his throat last night, and died this morning. At an inquest this afternoon a verdict of death from a wound self-inflicted was returned.

WAGGA, Tuesday.

A six-roomed house occupied by Mr. H. Moore at Toole's Creek, near Wagga, was totally destroyed with its contents yesterday. The occupants escaped with difficulty. The house was insured, but the furniture was uninsured.

YERONG CREEK, Tuesday.

A concert and social in aid of the Wagga Wagga hospital was held yesterday and was well attended.

AMUSEMENTS.

MME. BELLE COLE'S CONCERTS.

Mme. Belle Cole was in great voice at the Town Hall last night, the occasion being that of her fourth appearance here with the Imperial Concert Company. The famous contralto showed the splendid range of her voice in "O Mio Fernando," an aria which opens with one of those melodies of touching beauty which Donizetti has scattered so profusely throughout even the less known of his innumerable operas. The quick movement is, however, of vastly inferior merit, formal and artificial in its effect, and considerably diminishes the interest of the composition as a whole. As encore Mme. Belle Cole added, simply and touchingly, "The Little Silver Ring." Later the star contralto rendered an arrangement by Clement Locknane of Handel's so-called "Largo," otherwise the great master's air for soprano and chorus "Ombra mai fu." In the opening the song-theme of the classic piece was transferred to the violin (played by Master Pechotsch with deep, full tone), and other liberties were taken, but Mme. Belle Cole's richness of tone and breadth of style perfectly reconciled the audience to the change, and the whole proved effective. Mme. Belle Cole also sang charmingly Hope Temple's "Rory Darlin," in which every syllable of the Irish ballad clearly reached the audience. In response to sustained enthusiasm the contralto quite revivified "Daddy" by the simple and unaffected pathos of her style. Mlle. Virginie Cheron's chief contribution was Denza's "May Morning," which was warmly encored, when the dramatic soprano sang with spirit and feeling "Jock o' Hazeldean." Mr. Avon Saxon contributed a pleasing love-song in Moir's "Best of All." He rendered it with the requisite warmth, the violin obligato assisted the effect, and the encore (Kjerulf's "Last Night") could not be refused. Master Raimund Pechotsch played Leonard's immensely difficult "Souvenir de Haydn" in the most brilliant fashion and with no lack of tone. The recalls were enthusiastic, so the youthful player responded with Paganini's variations on the "Carnival of Venice." The Bach duets with Herr Raimund Pechotsch were also most acceptable. Mme. Rudyini and Mr. J. Edward Sykes were the accompanists of the evening.

The plan for the next concert of the Imperial Company, at the Town Hall to-morrow evening, is now open at Paling's. Popular prices are announced.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.

This afternoon there will be the customary matinee of "Florodora" at Her Majesty's Theatre. The Williamson Opera Company is now in the ninth week of their season with this vivacious musical comedy, yet crowded houses are still the rule.

THEATRE ROYAL.

At the farewell nights of Mr. George Musgrove's memorable operatic season are now announced the final performance of "The Flying Dutchman" will be given on Thursday, when Mme. Elle Russell will appear for the last time in her fine impersonation of Senta. Last night Wagner's great music drama of the sea drew a fine house. This evening Gounod's "Faust" will be staged. "Mignon" is announced for Friday, and "Il Trovatore" for Saturday.

CRITERION THEATRE.

Only three more performances of the picturesque sensational drama "The French Spy" can be given at the Criterion Theatre, as on Saturday Mr. Charles Holloway will produce Frank Harvey's new play, "The Milestones of Life," for the first time in Australia.

LYCEUM THEATRE.

At the Lyceum Theatre "Night Birds of London," popular by reason of its fire engine scene and great gas explosion, is still proving strongly attractive, and Mr. William Anderson will make no change for the present.

PALACE THEATRE.

"A Message from Mars" has once more secured public favour at the Palace Theatre. The Hawtrey Comedy Company gives a capital representation of the mythological comedy, in which a variety of incidents is ingeniously treated.

TIVOLI THEATRE.

There will not be any matinee to-day at the Tivoli Theatre, where Mr. Harry Rickards's Company appears nightly with success in a programme to which Mr. Frank Latona, Mr. Austin Rudd, the Leonards (last nights), the Sisters Pine, and Mr. Tod Callaway (last nights) all contribute. The American Bioscope is a special attraction. There will be the usual matinee on Saturday.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

Messrs. John Fuller and Sons' Empire Minstrel and Specialty Company will give their usual matinee on Saturday. Faust and Walhalla, Trit and Leander, Frisko, Miss Lilian Knight, and other artists appear every evening.

SNAZELLE WITH "OUR NAVY."

This afternoon Mr. G. H. Snazelle will give his twelfth matinee in Sydney of "Our Navy," in which he describes brightly and well Messrs. West and Sons' beautiful animated pictures upon the subject.

SYDNEY LIEDERTAFEL.

The Sydney Liedertafel will give their 113th (smoke) concert at the Town Hall this evening. Mr. Alfred Hill will then conduct his forces in an attractive programme. The State decorations will be on view. Mr. Philip Newbury has been specially engaged, as well as Signor Podenzana and Mr. H. Freeman.

SHAKESPEREAN RECITALS.

As notified yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. Hannibal Williams, whose scholarly elocution and talent for "character" so pleased Sydney audiences 18 months ago, will open their second season at the Y.M.C.A. Hall on Monday. Mr. Hannibal Williams will then recite "The Taming of the Shrew." On the Thursday following Mrs. Williams will make her rentree in "As You Like It."

BAND OF THE ROYAL MARINES.

This afternoon at 2.30, instead of at 3 o'clock as stated on many of the tickets, the Band of the Royal Marines will make their farewell appearance in Sydney at the Town Hall. This concert will be in aid of that fine charity, the Sydney Mission to Seamen. Mr. J. Wright will conduct his famous band, which leaves by the Ophir to-morrow, in selections by Boito, Verdi, Kerker ("The Belle of New York") and other composers, and many popular numbers will be included. The plan is at Paling's.

FALLEN SOLDIERS' MEMORIAL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The "Herald's" proposal that the Commonwealth pavilion in Centennial Park should remain permanently as a memorial of the birth of the Australian nation, and that the names of the fallen soldiers should be inscribed on tablets inserted in its walls, is bound to strongly commend itself to our citizens.

What finer site for a memorial than this splendid park, with its lovely lakes and beautiful outlook?

If the pavilion be reproduced in the best marble it will for ever stand as an object of pride to our people and of admiration to foreign visitors to these shores.

I venture to think that the Premier (Mr. See) will willingly fall in with the "Herald's" sensible suggestion.

I am, &c., AUSTRAL.

FORECASTS BY MR. C. L. WRAGGE.

New South Wales.—Cloudy and unsettled under strong north-westers over south-western portion under northern edge of Antarctic disturbance "Esora," elsewhere mostly fine and frosty; very cold over New England, but around Southern Alps heavy snow squalls probable; especially bad weather on Kosciusko; sea moderate.

Western Australia.—Heavy south-westerly weather; rain; high seas between Leeuwin and Eucla, under the disturbance "Esora;" fine in central parts, showers along the far northern coast.

Northern Territory.—Fine and variable.

South Australia.—Cloudy, very unsettled, and stormy; considerable rain and heavy squalls from between north-west, west, and south-west; areas of high seas; the disturbance "Esora" is operating.

Queensland.—Fine, dry, cold nights, genial days, heavy ground frosts over the Downs, winds between south-east and north-east; sea moderate; tendency to rain in far south-west.

Victoria.—Rapidly becoming very unsettled; stormy under disturbance "Esora;" heavy north-westerly to south-westerly blows; rain rising to high seas within few days; snow over mountains.

Tasmania.—Same as Victoria.

New Zealand.—Squally, wet, much snow, north-westers to south-westers under disturbance "Kabon."

New Caledonia.—Mostly fine, save showers on east coast.

Special Royal Forecast.—Generally fine and cold, but shortly Antarctic disturbance "Esora" will bring nasty wintry weather from between north-west and south-west.

FORECASTS AT 9 P.M.

New South Wales.—A disturbance approaching, with good promise of rain; wind northerly, and at times strong and squally; temperatures milder.—H. C. Russell.

Victoria.—Fine to-day, but gradually becoming cloudy, with rain following; fresh to strong N. winds, veering to W. later; sea at first slight, but becoming rough.—P. Baracchi.

South Australia.—Very unsettled, moderate to heavy and general rainfall, which promises to extend well northwards, becoming rough and stormy, with cold W. winds, especially along the coastline.—C. Todd.

At the inquest on the body of Ada Lavinia Kelso, who died at North Botany on May 25, the jury returned a verdict of wilful murder against Annie Jeffries.

The Morayshire, with 718 returning soldiers, left Adelaide for Melbourne on Monday.

THE FEDERAL CAPITAL.

Mr. See may fairly claim to have expressed the opinion of the public when he told our reporter on Saturday that the question of fixing the federal capital site came next after that of the tariff. Some might even be inclined to say it came first, or at least that we should not wait until the tariff is settled before taking the question of the capital seriously in hand. We have to remember that the interests of this State are seriously involved in this matter. The temporary arrangement under which the Federal Parliament meets in Melbourne must not be allowed to continue indefinitely, and it depends largely on ourselves when a definite recommendation from this State can be made. Had the late Government taken action the State Parliament would have considered the question long since, and by this time we should have been enabled to place our wishes in something like a definite fashion before the Federal Parliament. The proper steps, repeatedly and insistently urged upon the Government, were not taken, and we have now to return to the subject under certain circumstances of disadvantage. Nothing is to be gained by further delay. If New South Wales is to protect her claim in this matter it must be considered at once, and on lines which will enable us to put forward a united request. It must not be forgotten that, although the decision as to the site rests with the Federal Parliament, this State has the right to possess the capital within its borders, it is the people of this State who have to surrender the necessary federal territory, and to us belongs the right of indicating our wishes in the matter. Although the Commonwealth Act banishes the capital to some place at least a hundred miles from Sydney, it in no way follows that we are to forget the interests of this metropolis as the principal Australasian seaport, and as the commercial centre of gravity of the Commonwealth. It is not pleasant to have to insist on this, but if Ministers persist in neglecting their responsibility it is urgent that they should be reminded.

It will be seen that the State Premier is in favour of enabling the members of the Commonwealth Parliament to make visits of inspection to the proposed sites of the capital. Had the members of the State Legislature been encouraged to give the subject their personal attention in this fashion several months ago we might have been ready by this time to arrive at a decision as to the suggestion we propose to make to the Federal Parliament. Failing that, the necessity presses upon us of taking up the question in earnest now. It will rest with the Federal Ministry to submit a proposal to Parliament, and holding that fact in view it is interesting to recall what Federal Ministers have said on the subject. During the federal election campaign Mr. Barton was positive enough on one or two points. Addressing the electors at Dungog on one occasion, as far back as March last, he said that while he could not promise to accept the advice of the New South Wales Parliament, he would like to have a suggestion from that source. But the Federal Premier also stated that it was not the intention of himself and his colleagues to take any existing town in Australia, but to make one of their own, and that the site would probably be selected with a view to summer convenience. Evidently it was quite outside the intentions of the Premier at the time to use any existing town as the centre of his new experiment in city-building. He sketched a scheme for a federal territory which, he said, he would like to see governed on modern principles, and dealt with in a business-like way, containing a capital which would be worthily representative of the beauty and architecture of the period and of the intellect of Australia. That embodies the Premier's view, and if his colleagues see fit to adopt it the claims of any existing inland town may be considered as disposed of. If this expression of opinion means anything at all it is that the Federal Executive intend to make an absolutely new start with their project for the construction of a federal capital.

The question as to how the Federal Parliament will proceed in making its choice of a site is an important matter for consideration. Sir William Lyne told the electors of the Hume during the progress of the federal campaign what the Cabinet intended to do. The Government, he said, would appoint a commission or a select committee from the Federal Parliament, composed of one member from each State, to take evidence in New South Wales in connection with a site for the capital. That commission or committee would make its report, Sir William Lyne told the electors at Lockhart, and on that report the Federal Parliament would decide the matter. Does this statement still represent the mind of the Executive on the question? If so, the commission or committee may be appointed at any moment, and its operations would then be independent of any opinion our own State legislature might hold, or any suggestion the new Parliament might care to offer. The more we consider the question from the point of view these two observations of the Premier and Home Secretary suggest, the more the necessity for urgent action on the part of the spokesmen of this State becomes apparent. It will be nearly two months before Parliament meets, and in the meantime there is space for a great deal to be done. It can hardly be alleged that this State has acted illiberally or graspingly in the matter. The area proposed to be resumed has been largely extended, the areas surrounding the proposed sites have been reserved, and now we learn that the members of the Federal Parliament are to be afforded every facility in getting about to view the various sites and adjudicate upon them. Whatever the eventual decision of the Federal Parliament may be, at least we shall have done our share in smoothing away difficulties and facilitating the task of the Federal Executive. But New South Wales asks to be considered in its turn. We are not called upon to make perpetual sacrifices in deference to the self-interest of neighbouring States. We have granted as much as we can be reasonably expected to grant, with a view to minimising the causes of dissatisfaction elsewhere. Having done so much, it is time for our citizens to assert their own will, and to make their voices heard in the selection of a site for the capital.

RECRUITING FOR THE ARMY.

The annual report of the Inspector-General of Recruiting shows that in 1900 the unprecedented number of 98,361 men was added to the ranks of the British army, or an increase of 55,661 over the enlistments for 1899. But if the number was unprecedented, so was the occasion extraordinary. It has always been found that, good times or bad times, more men of the right stamp volunteer for enlistment when there is a war in progress than when there is no more exciting prospect than garrison duty in the United Kingdom or a brush with natives in India. It has also to be taken into consideration that these 98,361 include 37,853 enlisted for the militia; that the artillery was largely increased in view of the exigencies of the war; that two battalions were added to each of five existing regiments, and that an entirely new regiment, the Irish Guards, was formed. This augmentation of the more attractive arms of the service had the effect of reducing the enlistments for infantry, and it is a matter of grave importance, in view of the present proposals of the Government for the reform and strengthening of the army, that the number of recruits for the infantry of the line was actually less by a couple of hundreds than it was in the preceding year. The Inspector-General thinks that this may possibly be due to the creation of the several corps which were formed merely for the duration of the war, the shorter period of engagement in these corps furnishing an attraction to men who do not care for long service. Even granting this the outlook is not the less grave. If in time of actual war, with the standard of height reduced by half an inch, the enlistments for the infantry of the line fall so sensibly, what prospect is there of this invaluable arm of the service being maintained in adequate strength when the inevitable military reaction sets in after the war and the army settles down to its dull routine.

So long ago as 1882 Earl Roberts, then Sir Frederick, drew the attention of the then Secretary of State for War, Mr. Childers, to the necessity for something to be done to increase the attractiveness of the army if the voluntary system was to be continued. In the light of subsequent events it is interesting to learn that, in his opinion, expressed confidentially to Mr. Childers nineteen years ago, "for a volunteer army such as ours an attractive uniform is necessary," though "at the same time we require something like what is known as 'khaki' in India for rough work and service." But so great a general as Earl Roberts has proved himself to be knew that something more than mere uniform was necessary for the formation of the nearest approach to a perfect army possible under British conditions. For one thing he heartily approved of the improvement of the position and prospects of the non-commissioned officers, reckoning that "with so many young soldiers passing rapidly through the ranks it is now more than ever necessary to have capable men for the non-commissioned ranks." But above all things he wanted what he called "freetrade in the army," and what he meant by that term is shown by his article reprinted in the January number of "The Nineteenth Century and After." Roughly speaking, Sir Frederick Roberts, Commander-in-Chief of the Madras Army, urged in that paper when it first appeared the application to the army of the doctrine which has been so beneficially applied to commerce. It remains now for Earl Roberts, the Commander-in-Chief of the Army, to use his great influence with the War Office to carry out the precepts which he then laid down. No man has greater influence than he at the present time, and the opposition raised by red tape to preceding reformers has been weakened by the unanimous feeling of the nation that the present system stands in urgent need of radical reform. Indeed, the matter is one of Imperial moment, and we in Australasia, Canada, and South Africa, whose soldiers have fought and suffered and triumphed with their brothers from the United Kingdom, are proportionately interested in the movement. The law of supply and demand should be applied to the business of soldiering as well as to other trades. If we want good men we must pay them good wages. To reduce the standard of height, as it has been reduced within the last thirty years from 5ft. 8in. to 5ft. 3in., is a good thing, perhaps, in its way. Height is not the main desideratum in a soldier, and Earl Roberts himself may be taken as one of the latest instances of a great soldier whose inches are but few. We want more than this, more than fine uniforms, more than the improvement of the status of non-commissioned officers. Men who can earn good money at their trades—the picked men of the nation—will not leave their good positions and prospects in times of peace for the poor pay and prospects which the British army offers to privates. In times of war patriotism will inspire them to disregard these commonsense ideas, but the regular army must be maintained whether the country be at war or not.

There is, of course, no comparison possible between the army system in the United Kingdom and the systems adopted by the other great Powers of Europe. In these capable men have to serve whether they will or not, but conscription has not yet commended itself to the people of the United Kingdom. A nearer parallel is to be found in the Commonwealth of Australia, and in other parts of the British Empire beyond the seas. And here, to put it briefly, there is no difficulty in obtaining soldiers—men of the best stamp, ready to go anywhere and to do anything. Many join the ranks for the love of country or the love of soldiering; but they are not asked to make heavy sacrifices in position and prospects if they desire to enter the permanent service. Another parallel is to be found in that other great branch of the English-speaking race, and Captain Lee, who was formerly military attache to the British Embassy at Washington, and who is now a member of the House of Commons, has done good service by describing in the London "Times" the system of recruiting adopted in the United States. Conscription is as unknown there as it is in the United Kingdom, yet there is no difficulty experienced in getting as many soldiers as are wanted. After the war with Spain over 5000 recruits per month were obtained without difficulty, "and at the present moment," writes Captain Lee, "recruits are being accepted at the rate of over 700 per week." And they are capital men—averaging 22 years 7 months in age and 5ft. 8½in. in height for infantry and an inch less for other arms of the service. They are all at least able to read and write, over 85 per cent. of them are American born, and only men of good character are accepted. "I may add," Captain Lee goes on, "from my own personal observation of American regular troops, both in peace and war, that serious crime is almost unknown amongst them, and that I have never seen an American soldier drunk." And the secret of this is that the terms offered are such as to attract good men. The period of service is short—three years—but the men may re-engage, and many do. The pay for the first year is 1s 9½d per day—without any of the "stoppages" which are so vexatious and unjust to the British private—and it rises every year, with a 20 per cent. increase in time of war. Some such business-like arrangement will have to be adopted in the United Kingdom if the nation is to rely in the future, as in the past, on voluntary enlistment.

THE MITCHELL DONATION.

The discussion respecting the removal of a portion of the Free Public Library to the railway station reminds us of the quite unaccountable neglect of the Government to do something with the Mitchell gift. It is now a considerable time since the collection of books, pamphlets, records and pictures in the possession of Mr Mitchell was offered by that gentleman to the Government in trust for the public of this State. It is acknowledged that the collection is of great value, not only as a library but as a store of valuable matter associated with the making of Australian history. The donor is known as one of those cultivated and enlightened citizens who gladly give up their time and money to the congenial labour of collecting valuable and rare books and records, and who are public-spirited enough to place the treasures they have thus brought together at the service of their fellow-citizens. Had Mr. Mitchell been a citizen of any other State such a gift as his, so generously bestowed, would have been received with acclamation. The easy condition attached, that the Government would find suitable house-room for the gift, would have been promptly fulfilled. How different is the case with us? So far as the public know, nothing has been done to comply with the conditions of the donation. The result is that Mr. Mitchell's books and pictures are still inaccessible to his fellow-citizens to whom he has presented them. Surely it is not too much to expect that something might be done by this time. We may be sure that it is a matter of regret but of compulsion with the trustees of the Public Library to have to treat in this way so remarkable and valuable a collection. But this admission only removes the responsibility to a higher source, and the Government which has accepted Mr. Mitchell's gift on his own conditions owes it to him and to the literary public to render the books available to all who would use them.

The Sydney Mail.—The current issue of the "Mail" continues its pictorial record of the Royal progress through Australia. This has already met with warm commendation from distinguished visitors, and the instalments now published, bringing the record up to date, are of perhaps even greater interest, value, and picturesqueness than those which have gone before. This is partly due to the fact that the Grand Review at Centennial Park and the naval display lend themselves especially to illustration, but in addition there are illustrations of the Admiralty House Garden Party, the State Concert, the Young People's Industrial Exhibition, laying the foundation-stone of the Victoria Memorial Pavilions at the Prince Alfred Hospital, the University visit, the distribution of war medals, &c. Apart from the Royal pictures the number is interesting. There is reproduced a photograph of the recent coursing at Tamworth, which is one of the most remarkable feats yet accomplished by the camera. The hare is depicted fleeing for its life with the two greyhounds in full chase, their legs shown in such a way as to set at rest the controversy as to a greyhound's action at full speed. One suggestive picture shows an architect's and artist's ideal for a federal city on Lake George. There are pictures of Shamrock II., now notorious on account of the King's narrow escape, her owner, crew, and designers, and her possible opponent, the Independence. The Queensland Industrial Exhibition is also illustrated.

Illness of the Lieutenant-Governor.—His Excellency Sir Frederick Darley, G.C.M.G., Lieutenant-Governor, has for two or three days past been confined to his house through indisposition. It was stated yesterday afternoon, however, that he was recovering.

The Government Loan.—The time for receiving tenders for the loan of £500,000, to be secured on Treasury bills, having five years' currency, expired at 10 o'clock last night, and the tenders will not be opened until to-day. The Colonial Treasurer states that he feels no doubt, from reports that have reached him, that a great many tenders have been handed in, but he has no knowledge of the number.

Income Tax.—The due date, appointed by notice in the "Government Gazette," for payment of the income tax for 1901 was April 18. The Act allows payment to be made without fine within 60 days of the due date. Taxpayers should, therefore, bear in mind that the days of grace for this year's income tax will expire on Monday, the 17th instant, and that after that date, in addition to the sum assessed, a penalty of 10 per cent. on the amount of the tax will be incurred by any person who has failed to pay. In all cases the amount assessed is the amount to be paid, irrespective of whether objections or appeals have been lodged, but in the last-mentioned cases payment is subject to adjustment later on. To suit taxpayers' convenience, payment may be made by remittance through the post by cheque, post-office order, money order, or postal note.

Western Districts Lands Commission.—The commission appointed to inquire into the condition of the lessees of lands in the Western Division of the State has not yet finished its investigations. For some days past the sittings have been suspended, but on Friday next the members will resume the taking of evidence, and for that purpose they have obtained the names of a score or more of witnesses. Most of these are connected with banks and financial companies in the city, but it is understood that the first to be examined when the sittings resume will be country people. The intention is that the sittings shall continue during next week, but as it is considered probable that Parliamentary members of the commission will be busy electioneering at that time there is a probability of the meetings lapsing for want of a quorum.

Railway Rolling Stock.—The Railway Commissioners have for some time past been pressing on the matter of providing additional goods waggons for use on the railway lines in anticipation of next harvest, and tenders having been received two contracts have been placed. The number of waggons required is 500, and the contracts have been let to the Clyde Engineering Company and Messrs. Ritchie Brothers respectively. Each firm is to make 250 waggons, the value of the work being about £40,000. This is exclusive of wheels and axles, which will be provided by the Department.

as well as some other material. Each truck is to have a carrying capacity of 15 tons, and delivery is to be made about the end of the year.

South African Mails.—The mails from South Africa per steamer Morayshire, will reach Sydney to-day in time for delivery at about 1.30 p.m.

The Mail Steamers.—The English mail, ex R.M.S. Oruba, of London date May 3, will arrive to-day by the overland express for delivery in the city this afternoon. Yesterday morning the P. and O. Company's India arrived at Fremantle after a quick run from Colombo. She brings London dates to the 10th ultimo, thus placing the people of Perth in correspondence touch with England in 25 days. The Sydney part of the mail will be delivered here on Tuesday next. To-day the French mail steamer Armand Behic is due from Noumea on her way homeward. The Armand Behic has booked well with passengers and cargo. The R.M.S. China, hence to London left Melbourne yesterday, for Adelaide.

A Victorian Education Commission.—Intelligence has been received from Melbourne that the members of a commission appointed in that city to inquire into the education question will extend its investigations to Sydney. It is probable that the members of the commission will arrive this morning and take evidence here. The Minister for Public Instruction has received a telegram from the Minister for Education in Melbourne requesting him to facilitate the object which the commission has in view.

The Divorce Sittings.—Mr. Justice Simpson, upon taking his seat on the Bench of the No. 1 Jury Court yesterday morning, said he was very sorry to say that the Chief Justice was too unwell to come into town, and as there were a great many cases at Nisi Prius to be tried, he was going to sit in that jurisdiction at any rate till Thursday next, and consequently the divorce business would be postponed till Friday next.

Stamp Duties.—During the week ended Saturday, 1st instant, stamp duties were paid in respect of probate of wills and the issue of letters of administration to the amount of £7596 14s 10d. Of this sum £6928 4s 10d was paid as duty in regard to probate of the will of the late Mr. George Watt, of Cockatgedong station, near Lake Urana, whose estate was valued for the purposes of probate at £78,730.

Tobacco-growing in Fiji.—Mr. G. F. Sutherland, who was for some years tobacco expert to the Agricultural Department of New South Wales, and who, in 1895, went to Fiji, has been paying a short visit to Sydney. Mr. Sutherland took up residence in Fiji, determined to become a successful tobacco planter and cigar manufacturer there, and after keeping that purpose steadily in view for a few years he achieved it. Other efforts frequently made had failed, and it seemed that Fiji was not suited to the industry; but Mr. Sutherland persisted in a set of experiments, and they at length resulted in the establishment of a joint tobacco plantation and cigar factory. Two sorts of leaf are grown—Sumatra leaf for wrappers, and Zimmer's Spanish leaf for fillers; and Mr. Sutherland states that the product is equal to high-class Habana cigars. The local demand is so great that it exceeds the supply, and in order to develop the business to something approaching its possibilities Mr. Sutherland has arranged for a general extension of plantation and machinery houses. Then he will look over sea to reap the profit of his successful establishment of the tobacco industry in the islands.

Exhibition of Scottish Art.—Miss Jeanett Collins, a painter newly arrived here from Edinburgh, is showing at a studio adjoining the Society of Artists' Gallery, a collection of pictures by her father, the late Hugh Collins. This gentleman, who was a frequent exhibitor at both the Royal Academy and the Scottish Academy, was chiefly noted for his portraiture and figure-painting. Indeed, at the beginning of the young artist's career, referring to the former branch of art, Ruskin predicted "that no man would surpass him in the delineation of character." This friendly prophecy was so far realised that in the collection before us those works which depict character are of most value. Several picturesque and homely Scottish interiors are included in this category. "The Sword Dance" may be named, in which the principal figure of the manly dancer is instinct with elasticity and vigor, whilst the piper seated at the back with distended cheeks blows his hardest. There are no fewer than 12 figures in this clever composition. "Granny's Pet," an old woman dancing to the strains of a violin, with a little golden-haired child in the centre of a spacious clay-floored kitchen, forms another favourable example of this artist's style. "A Visit to a Highland Spey Wife," "The Artist's Model," and a strong piece of work in which two venerable, rugged old peasants, spread out their toil-worn hands as they ask a blessing upon their humble meal, will also attract attention. The collection is of considerable size, and the painter has not always proved as felicitous as in these particular works. Miss Jeanett Collins is herself a painter, and intends doing a little work here before her return to Scotland. She brings with her several numbers of "Black and White," and other illustrated London papers in which pictures exhibited by her at the Royal Academy have been reproduced.

Portraits of the Duke and Duchess of York.—Mr. J. Hubert Newman has been honoured with a sitting by the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York at Government House, and has secured fine portraits of the Royal pair, which are now on view at the Atelier, George-street. Some faithful and well-lighted portraits of the Duke, show his Royal Highness in the uniform of a Rear-Admiral with decorations, both with the hat on, and in a martial attitude, bare-headed, the right hand at the side, and the left-hand resting on the sword. This is one of the most favourable pictures of the Duke yet issued. H.R.H. is also shown in the uniform of a Colonel of Grenadier Guards, wearing the regimental bear-skin. Two eminently agreeable portraits of the Duchess show her Royal Highness in afternoon dress, both full-face and in profile, and are highly successful. The issue of these portraits from the George-street Atelier cannot fail to prove popular.

To-night's concert at the Boys' Brigade will be preceded by an athletic display in the gymnasium at 7.45 p.m.

It is elsewhere announced that a meeting of the Gipps Ward Property Owners' Defence Association will be held at Federation Hall, Harrington-street, to-morrow evening.

Regulations under the Public Watering Places Act appear in "Government Gazette" No. 470.

In reference to a complaint by a correspondent that the Electoral Office in Young-street was closed when he visited it on Saturday another correspondent writes to the effect that he visited the place between the hours of 2 and 6 p.m.—the hours named in an advertisement—and obtained his elector's right.

In the ambulance competition at the Young People's Industrial Exhibition on Saturday last the three squads that took part were members of the North Sydney centre of the Australian Ambulance Association.

The R. A. A. Band will perform in the Outer Domain this afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock.

A hairdresser named George Alexander, aged 29, living in Liverpool-street, was admitted to St. Vincent's Hospital yesterday afternoon, suffering from the effects of an overdose of chlorodyne.

At St. Vincent's Hospital yesterday the Deputy Coroner (Dr. R. H. Todd) conducted an inquest respecting the death of a labourer named William James Porter, which occurred on the 2nd instant from the effects of a fall. A verdict of accidental death was returned.

The report of the Sydney Hospital for the week ended June 1 is as follows:—Admitted, 57; discharged, 43; died, 8; remaining, 310; outpatients treated but not admitted, 643; casualty cases treated but not admitted, 594; number of typhoid cases in hospital, 7.

The report of the Prince Alfred Hospital for the week ended June 1 is as follows:—Number of inpatients at last report, 239; since admitted, 50; discharged, 39; died, 10; remaining in hospital on June 3, 240; number of out-patients treated during the week, 124; number of casualty cases treated but not admitted, 242—total, 366. 12 cases of typhoid in the wards.

COMMONWEALTH NOTES.

(BY OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

THE ADDRESS IN REPLY.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

Immediately the House of Representatives met this afternoon the Premier asked members to close the debate on the Address in Reply as early as possible. He expressed a hope that if the debate could not be finished to-night it would at least close by dinner time to-morrow. He said he expected some assistance on the point from the Opposition benches. The only members on that side of the House who have already spoken are Sir William M'Millan and Mr. Glynn, and they seemed rather amused at the sudden desire of the Ministry to close the debate.

Mr. A. C. Groom (Vic.) made one of the shortest speeches during the debate. Speaking from the Government cross benches, he declared that he would support the Ministry on the fiscal question if they adhered to the language of the Governor-General's speech. He believed in a revenue tariff that would encourage industries. "The highest duty I would consent to," he said, amid silence on all sides of the House, "is 25 per cent." "That's shocking," said Mr. S. Mauger, probably the strongest protectionist in the House, while Sir William M'Millan asked, "Do you call that a revenue tariff?" When Mr. Groom proceeded to show how the high protective duties in Victoria had failed to do what was expected of them, the risibilities of hon. members were excited.

Mr. M'Donald, one of the Queensland labour members, devoted himself to explaining the views of the workers in the northern State. He regretted that Queensland was not represented on the conventions, and said he believed that had they been the Constitution would be what he would consider was more liberal and elastic. He claimed that Queensland by returning out of its nine members seven who were against the kanaka employment had declared most emphatically against the black labour. He had, he said, a very easy conscience on the fiscal question, and would support the Government that gave him the legislation he desired.

Mr. Winter Cooke (Vic.) explained that he sat on the Opposition benches because he was a free-trader, and he would have liked to explain why he was a freetrader, but after hearing the authorities quoted by the other side he felt he need not do so. Apart from the fiscal question he favoured the Government policy in many points.

Mr. Chanter (N.S.W.) followed from the Ministerial benches, and dealing with the fiscal question went fully into the well-worn comparison between Victoria and New South Wales. The House, which up to this time was somewhat apathetic, showed improving interest when Mr. Chanter condemned inter-State jealousies, and pleaded for legislation in the interests of Australia as a whole.

Mr. T. Brown (N.S.W.), as the representative of a district having a special interest in the question of the selection of the site for the capital, urged a speedy settlement of the matter. He found fault with the Constitution in that it compelled the Federal Treasurer to consider the financial necessities of the states, and he thought that the sooner the latter were taught self-reliance the better. If no other way could be found out of the difficulty, the Federal Government should take over some of the services of the States, such as education and old-age pensions.

Mr. Fuller's (N.S.W.) speech was broken into by the dinner adjournment. He dealt lightly with the fiscal question, and like the preceding speaker found fault with the Constitution. He complained principally of the exclusion of Sydney as a possible site for the Federal capital. Mr. Harper (Vic.) devoted considerable time to the fiscal question, and his speech was punctuated by interjections from New South Wales freetrade representatives, more especially while he was elaborating statistics dealing with the borrowings and land revenues of the two larger States.

Mr. Conroy (New South Wales) made his first Parliamentary speech, and as became a strong fighter in the freetrade ranks adopted an attitude of uncompromising hostility to the Government. On behalf of Mr. Kennedy, Sir Langdon Bonython moved the adjournment of the House, which rose at 10.55 p.m.

SUPPLY BILL.

The Government, it is understood, will to-morrow ask for one month's supply. The period allowed by the Constitution during which the Governor-General in Council can draw supplies without reference to Parliament expires on Sunday. As the budget statement is not likely to be made before the end of July, supply will have to be again asked for next month.

BUSINESS BEFORE PARLIAMENT.

If the hopes of the Ministry to close the debate on the address to-morrow afternoon are fulfilled, the evening sitting will be devoted to formal business. There are a good number of questions to be answered, and with these out of the way the election of the Chairman of Committees will be proceeded with. Afterwards the hours and days of meeting will be fixed, the Standing Orders considered, and Sessional Committees appointed.

The Senate starts practical work to-morrow afternoon. The election of the Chairman of Committees, for which position Senators R. W. Best (Vic.) and J. C. Neild (N.S.W.) are candidates, will first take place, then the Standing Orders will be dealt with, the Sessional Committee appointed, and the Postal Bill introduced and read a first time.

A UNIFORM TELEPHONE SERVICE.

A preliminary meeting of the inter-State conference of electrical experts attached to the various State Postal Departments was held to-day, when Messrs. Jenvey (Victoria), Hesketh (Queensland), Nelson (New South Wales), and Sir Charles Todd (South Australia) were present. The conference has been asked by the Postmaster-General to report upon the practicability of standardising all the Australian telephone systems. It will, it is hoped, furnish Senator Drake with a progress report in a few days, and that gentleman will decide whether the conference shall visit any of the other capitals to inspect the local systems.

MR. R. E. O'CONNOR.

Mr. R. E. O'Connor, K.C., and Vice-President of the Commonwealth Executive Council, who is now in Sydney, purposes remaining here during the present sittings of the courts. His duties in the Federal Senate will be carried out by Senator Drake (the Postmaster-General), who will therefore be for the present the leader of the House.

FEDERAL CAPITAL SITES.

Mr. See, the State Premier, is to have an interview this morning with Mr. Alexander Oliver, who, it will be remembered, reported last year on eligible sites for the federal capital. He was appointed by the Lyne Government, and in his report, which has been published, he recommended three sites as most suitable—Canoblas, Yass, and Bombala. Since then, however, other suggestions have been made, and Mr. See will this morning confer with Mr. Oliver on the question of reporting upon them.

BATHURST, Tuesday.

A deputation from the Bathurst Federal League will shortly wait upon the Premier to urge the consideration of the claims of Bathurst in the matter of the selection of the site for the federal capital. The Attorney-General is also to be asked for an expression of opinion as to the correct method of measurement—whether it is by road or straight line—in connection with the 100 miles limit.

R.M.S. INDIA AT FREMANTLE.

FREMANTLE, Tuesday.

The R.M.S. India arrived at Fremantle at 8.30 this morning from Colombo with the following passengers in the saloon:—

For New Zealand: Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Stewart, Miss E. Hewitson.

The India sailed for Largs Bay at 3 p.m.

AT BEDTIME.—Wolfe's Schnapps taken hot with lemon cures colds and influenza.—Advt.

SECOND EDITION

SMALLPOX AT FREMANTLE.

PERTH, Tuesday.

On Thursday last Water Police Constable Richard Hughes, of Fremantle, felt unwell, and after Saturday was unable to attend to his duties. He received the medical attentions of Dr. Hope, but he rapidly became worse. Last evening smallpox symptoms developed, and the rash on the face was plainly visible. Dr. Hope's suspicions were then aroused, and he decided to quarantine the patient. This morning the doctor's suspicions were confirmed by a further examination of the patient, and he pronounced the case to be smallpox. Constable Hughes resides with his wife in a house, one of a terrace, in Lord-street, Fremantle. The other inmates of the house were a married man and his wife and a single man. These persons have all been quarantined. It was at first intended to remove the patient and contacts to Woodman's Point to-day; but, owing to wet weather, it was decided to postpone the journey until to-morrow. There is little doubt that Hughes contracted the disease on the Ormuz as he was on board of her doing duty a great portion of her stay in port.

THE PRINCE ALFRED HOSPITAL.

QUEEN VICTORIA MEMORIAL FUND.

The Queen Victoria Memorial Fund is being raised to equip the Queen Victoria memorial pavilions of the Prince Alfred Hospital. The movement began auspiciously several weeks ago, and has been generously supported. This addition will make possible an important extension of the great national work done by the Prince Alfred Hospital since its opening in 1882. The Premier has agreed to erect the pavilions, the foundation-stone of which was laid on Friday last by H.R.H. the Duke of Cornwall and York. It will be for the public to provide all that is necessary within the structures for the accommodation of patients. It is estimated that the equipment of the pavilions will cost about £15,000, and for this sum the directors have made a public appeal. Patients come to this hospital from all ports of New South Wales, medical students are trained in it, there is hardly ever a bed to spare, and its outdoor patients are numbered by thousands. It is the object of the board of directors to erect a memorial to the late Queen Victoria, and to provide further accommodation for suffering humanity at this hospital, which from its inception has been so closely connected with the Royal family.

All subscriptions forwarded to this office will be acknowledged.

VICTORIA.

INCREASE IN THE REVENUE.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The Victorian revenue for May was £877,968, being £282,649 more than that of May of last year. The anticipated revenue for the year ending the 30th instant will exceed the estimated revenue by £400,000.

THE TRIBUTERS AND THE LLANBERRIS NO. 1 MINE.

A largely attended meeting of the Amalgamated Miners' Association was held at Ballarat to-night to discuss the trouble which has arisen between the tributers and the directors of the Llanberris No. 1 Company. The tributers, in stating their grievances, emphatically protested that they had an understanding with the mine manager that nothing should be deducted from the fortnightly pay until there was an allowance of £4 10s for wages. It was shown, however, that a number had signed agreements contracting themselves out of the Mines Act of 1897. A proposition was made to the effect that the tributers should receive strike pay, but this was withdrawn when it was shown that the men had withdrawn from the mine without having first referred their case to the branch for a vote. It was eventually resolved that a deputation wait upon the directors with a view of securing more favourable terms for the men.

The friends of Mrs. Goe will be glad to learn that she is slightly better to-day. Her condition some days ago caused considerable anxiety.

A London syndicate has exercised option for purchase of 20,000 shares in Duke United mine at 17s 6d per share. The same syndicate previously took option for 16,000 shares at 12s.

The Acting Railway Commissioner states that in about six weeks' time tenders will be called for laying the foundations of a new railway station in Flinders-street, and that when the foundations are nearing completion tenders will be called for the superstructure.

QUEENSLAND.

TICKS NEAR BRISBANE.

BRISBANE, Tuesday.

For some weeks past ticks have been showing considerable activity in the vicinity of Brisbane. They are more numerous than ever. During the cold weather, however, they will probably not be so active.

THE REVENUE.

The revenue for May was £299,713, a decrease of £55,792 as compared with May of last year. For the 11 months the revenue totalled £3,794,007, being a decrease of £410,190 compared with the corresponding period of last year. The excess of revenue over expenditure for the 11 months amounted to £151,959.

The resignations of Messrs. Groom and Stewart as members of the Assembly have been received. Writs have been issued for the election of new members to take their places.

The body of a man named Thomas Pearce was found at Proserpine, near Bowen, hanging in a fowl-house.

Complaints are being made by miners on the Happy Valley alluvial goldfield, near Bowen, on account of the influx of Chinese.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

MEMORIAL TO THE LATE QUEEN.

ADELAIDE, Tuesday.

A meeting of the executive committee appointed by the citizens to raise funds towards establishing a home in memory of Queen Victoria was held to-day. The secretary reported that circular letters from Lady Tennyson had been sent to over 3000 ladies throughout the State asking for co-operation in the movement, and the response had been highly satisfactory. The financial position was now £3956, subscribed mostly in shillings, but many country districts had yet to furnish returns. Sir Edwin Smith had promised to hand over the Jubilee Fund originated by Lady Smith while he was Mayor of Adelaide, and which now amounted to £931; so that £5000 was practically available for the movement. A committee was appointed, with power to acquire land and erect buildings, to carry out the objects of the fund. It was announced that the Duke of Cornwall and York had consented to lay the foundation-stone, and the Duchess had expressed her willingness to receive purses containing subscriptions at the ceremony. Saturday, July 17, was decided upon for laying the foundation-stone, and plans for the proposed building are to be immediately prepared. The chairman, Mr. W. Herbert Phillipps, also stated that it was possible that they would acquire a piece of land without paying for it.

To-day six of the Ormuz passengers who are invalids were by the authority of the Executive Council removed from Torrens Island to the isolation block of Adelaide Hospital.

TASMANIA.

LAUNCESTON, Tuesday.

The body of William Dry Landale, a well-known sportsman, was found among the rocks at the bottom of the corporation stone quarry, Patterson-street, to-day, a fall of 70ft. At the inquest the evidence disclosed that deceased had been despondent since his return from Melbourne a fortnight ago. The medical testimony showed that the skull of deceased was smashed, and death was due to concussion of the brain and great shock to the system. The jury returned a verdict of suicide whilst temporarily insane. Deceased was the son of the late Dr. Landale and a nephew of the late Sir Richard Dry, and was one of the best known horsemen in Tasmania, being responsible for some of the greatest victories on the turf in the State. He was about 50 years of age.

The Commercial Bank shipped to Melbourne to-day two boxes of gold valued at £11,777.

The Customs returns last week totalled £2869, as against £3467 for the corresponding period of last year.

The annual meeting of the Tasmania Agricultural and Pastoral Society was held this evening. The balance sheet showed the receipts for the year to be £1490 and expenditure £1282.

HOBART, Tuesday.

The announcement is made that Lord and Lady Hopetoun will leave Melbourne for Hobart per the steamer Warrimoo on the 26th, and will be the guests of Sir John Dodds, the Administrator.

The minerals exported from Tasmania during May were of the value of £133,326.

Mr. John Goodrick, the victim of the vehicle accident in Elizabeth-street on Monday evening, died this morning. Mr. Walton is recovering.

FOREIGNERS ATTACK BRITISH SOLDIERS.

A FRENCHMAN KILLED.

LONDON, June 3.

A fight between British, French, and German soldiers occurred at Tientsin. A Frenchman was killed and several were wounded.

June 4.

Particulars of the affray at Tientsin show that the Welsh Fusiliers, who were acting as policemen, tried to prevent French soldiers plundering a house on the Taku road.

Two hundred French and German soldiers then attacked the Welsh Fusiliers with bayonets and bricks, wounding four of the British.

The Fusiliers fired on the mob opposed to them, killing one Frenchman and wounding three Frenchmen and four Germans.

FAREWELL TO COUNT WALDERSEE.

LONDON, June 4.

Reuter's correspondent reports that the Ministers of the Powers at Peking bade farewell to Count von Waldersee yesterday amid an impressive military display.

The baggage of the Germans included an extraordinary number of Chinese carts, jinrickshas, chairs, and tables.

GERMANY.

PROSPECTS OF A BAD HARVEST.

LONDON, June 4.

The prospects of the harvest in Germany are very bad. The Empire will probably require to import 12,000,000 quarters of grain next season.

EXPLOSION OF A GASOMETER.

LONDON, June 4.

The chief gasometer of Corps, of 500,000 cubic feet capacity, has been destroyed by an explosion. It is suspected that gasworkers who are on strike caused the explosion by means of dynamite.

The word Corps is probably a mutilation in transmission, although there is a town of that name in France.

THE LONDON AND GLOBE FINANCE CORPORATION.

NO RECONSTRUCTION YET.

IMMENSE LIABILITIES.

LONDON, June 4.

Messrs. George Cloutte and C. J. Ford, the liquidators of the London and Globe Finance Corporation, find it impossible at present to issue a scheme of reconstruction, but they hope that it will become possible.

The liquidators found that practically the whole of the securities were pledged to secure £600,000 advanced to the corporation. Loans amounting to £425,000 are still outstanding. The amount owing to unsecured creditors exceeds £1,000,000.

Owing to difficulties which occurred at the end of 1900 the London and Globe Finance Corporation, Limited, went into voluntary liquidation, an order to that effect being made by the Bankruptcy Court on January 19 of this year.

THE "A" BATTERY.

Gunner J. D. Kennelly, "A" Battery (New South Wales), writing from Pretoria on April 20, states that the battery had been travelling about a lot, averaging 30 miles a day, and had been highly complimented upon their marching by Colonel Plumer. The "A" Battery had three times been engaged during the march, and compelled the enemy to abandon two guns, and a large number of waggons and carts.

MILITARY SERVICE AT NORTH SYDNEY.

A military service was held on Sunday afternoon in the North St. Leonards Presbyterian Church in connection with the safe return from South Africa of Trooper Horace W. Gilchrist, of the 1st Australian Horse. The church was crowded, extra seating accommodation having to be provided for a large number of soldiers. Amongst those present were Major Gilchrist and Lieutenant Parker. The Rev. W. H. Ash delivered a thanksgiving sermon, and the musical portion of the service included the hymn "Onward, Christian Soldiers," which was sung by the choir as the members of different corps entered the church. A verse from the National Anthem closed the proceedings.

THE MORAYSHIRE.

ADELAIDE, Tuesday.

The Morayshire arrived yesterday with 718 returning soldiers, most of whom saw a good deal of the war. Major Tunbridge (Queensland) is in charge. The men are in fairly good health. There were several cases of sickness, principally of colds and measles. One of the Queenslanders stated that about a week after leaving Capetown orders were given to holystone the deck, and eight men objected, as it was thought the sailors should have done the work. The eight men were placed in the guard-room, and the officers asked the remainder of the men to carry out instructions, but they refused. A large number of men demanded the release of the prisoners. This was not entertained, and the soldiers marched in a body to the guard-room. The request was again refused, and the door of the room was smashed in. Eventually quiet was restored, and the order that caused the trouble was not persevered with. The Morayshire left yesterday for Melbourne.

COLONEL LASSETTER'S CONTINGENT.

Messrs. F. Lassetter and Co., Limited, of Sydney, have received the following cable from Colonel Lassetter, dated June 3:—"All well. Had successful march to Klerksdorp."

The following extract from a telegraphic despatch received from the General of Communications, Capetown, was published in general orders yesterday:—"Narrung left Capetown May 23, has on board Captain S. S. Ryrie, New South Wales Citizens' Bushmen's Contingent, and 19 men of various corps for Sydney."

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The Lieutenant-Governor received a cable to-day from the Governor of Cape Colony as follows:—"June 2: Private Boxall, of Bethune's Mounted Infantry, has been missing since April 16."

AUSTRALIAN FRUIT.

LONDON, June 4.

The apples which were shipped by the R.M.S. Victoria arrived in excellent condition.

The experimental shipment of pears and grapes arrived in generally fine condition, only three or four cases being slightly wasted.

Experts attribute the soundness of the shipment entirely to the temperature, which was maintained at 43 degrees to 49 degrees throughout the voyage.

In the shipment by the Warrigal, in which the temperature was kept at about 38 degrees, many of the apples, peaches, and pears were frozen.

The market was dull, and the sale was disappointing.

Apples realised from 6s 6d to 10s per case; pears, 5s to 12s per case; the bulk realising about 7s 6d. The shipment was a failure financially.

THE WEATHER.

THE ROYAL VISIT.

THE SHOOTING PARTY.

A NICE OUTING.

POOR SPORT.

ADVENTURES BY FLOOD AND FIELD.

(BY OUR SPECIAL REPORTER WITH THE ROYAL PARTY.)

CONDOBOLIN, Tuesday.

The special train with his Royal Highness on board arrived safe at Derriwong siding at 7 this morning. Notwithstanding the early hour a large number of residents of the district had driven out to meet us. It was extremely cold, and a number of fires were lighted, around which the people crowded. Amongst those present were a number of ladies. Sub-Inspector Webb, of Forbes, came up with a number of mounted troopers, but the Duke decided not to take an escort with him. The destination of the party was Borambil station, and Mr. R. Whitehead, manager, was introduced to his Royal Highness. An early breakfast was partaken of in the train, and then the vehicles were got in readiness. The Duke rode at the head in a waggonette drawn by four dark horses. He was accompanied by Lord Hopetoun (Governor-General), Lord Wenlock, Mr. F. B. Suttor (Vice-President of the Executive Council), and Mr. Whitehead, the lastnamed being on the box seat. About half a dozen vehicles of a miscellaneous description followed, and there were also a number of horsemen. One of the best vehicles was occupied by the detectives, Inspectors Christie (of Melbourne) and Hinds (of Sydney), whose instructions were to keep as close to the Duke as possible. A smart run of about 10 miles brought us to Borambil station. Before reaching this place what is known as a swing bridge had to be crossed. It is a locally built structure, of unique design. The main support is two wire ropes, the bridge underneath being held up upon the suspension principle. It was necessary to unharness the horses and lead them across, and then the attendants had to drag the vehicles across as best they could. Borambil station practically formed a half-way house so far as our journey was concerned. The Duke, Lord Hopetoun, Mr. Suttor, and others deserted the vehicles here and took to horseback and a pleasant canter over the adjacent country ensued. It was 10 o'clock by the time a start was made, and the weather became a little warmer. It was fine, but the sky was darkened by heavy clouds, and, much to the disgust of many members of the party who had cameras there was not sufficient light to take snapshots. No doubt the Royal party was much relieved by this fact. The Duke, who was dressed in a light shooting suit, appeared to enjoy the ride very much, and made inquiry from those around him concerning the surrounding district. It must be candidly confessed that there was not much to be noticed in the way of scenery. The country was flat and uninteresting. The weather has been very dry, and scarcely a vestige of herbage was to be seen. A large number of sheep were roaming about, and some of them were being hand-fed, a lot of hay being distributed to them from a waggon. The bush mostly consisted of myall scrub, and was of a straggling character and stunted in growth. A portion of the country had been ringbarked, and in places some of it had been prepared for wheat, for which the district is said to be very suitable. We passed very few dwelling-houses on the way out—not half a dozen all told—but the residents came to the doors, waved flags, and gave the Duke a hearty welcome.

Reports had been received for weeks past that wild ducks were very plentiful on some of the lagoons on Borambil station, about 18 or 20 miles on the direct road from the railway platform, and this spot was reached about 11 o'clock. Nearly all the members of the party, including the Duke and his suite, quickly loaded their guns and walked to the borders of the lagoon, which was a long narrow lakelet. Firing in quick succession was soon heard, and large flocks of blue ducks rose in the air. Only a few, however, were bagged, and the remainder circling higher and higher were soon lost to view. The party stayed in the neighbourhood for a time and fired at a few stray birds with very little effect, and then the vehicles were called into requisition again and a start was made for a second lagoon. Ducks were met with but the shooting was poor, and after about half an hour's search for sport it was resolved to go to another place. Mr. R. Whitehead led the way to some high ground where rabbits were plentiful, and the slaughter was great.

It was believed that a number of emus were disporting themselves in a paddock about three miles distant, and a general rush was made for the place. The party had now been joined by a number of residents, some of whom were provided with guns, but it became necessary to cross a footbridge, and the police guarded the entrance, allowing only members of the Royal party to go through. We trudged up some rugged hills and thoroughly searched the whole place, but the emus must have seen us coming, for they had cleared out, and only rabbits were met with, which the party had now become tired of shooting. His Royal Highness was credited with shooting a brace of ducks. He also brought down a couple of cockatoos. The bag for the day numbered 18 birds only. At half-past 1 o'clock a halt was called for lunch. The tablecloth was laid upon the ground, and the Duke found a seat upon some empty hampers. Lord Hopetoun was by his side, and the remaining members of the suite sat on the ground.

The last shooting expedition terminated about half-past 4 o'clock, then a return was made for home. This was of course Derriwong Siding, where the Royal train is placed. There is no township of any kind. We are simply in the bush. The mounted police and a number of local residents have erected tents on the flat. The burning of many camp fires lights up the district for miles around. Coming back there were one or two narrow escapes from accidents. The Duke was piloted through all right, but one vehicle nearly fell into a creek, and then the buggy with the detectives and a press representative on board got bogged in a lagoon, but was eventually pulled out by some local residents. Up to a late hour to-night three of the Royal servants, who were in a vehicle, had not put in an appearance. It is feared that they are bushed, and mounted troopers have gone out in search of them.

If the sport to-day so far as shooting was concerned was somewhat disappointing, the Duke's experiences of bush life in the backblocks was somewhat unique, and he expressed himself as being pleased with the outing. Altogether the distance traversed by the party was about 50 miles.

To-morrow morning the party goes on a shooting excursion in another direction. The Royal train will leave on the return journey at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, Sydney will be reached about 8 o'clock on Thursday morning.

BLAYNEY, Tuesday.

The Royal party passed through here about midnight. No one was allowed on the platform. The Mayor would have been pleased to have had the privilege of welcoming the Royal party to the western district.

THE DUCHESS OF CORNWALL AND YORK.

VISIT TO THE BLUE MOUNTAINS.

Yesterday the Duchess of Cornwall and York paid a visit to the Blue Mountains. Her Royal Highness was accompanied by Lady Hopetoun, Commander Winsloe, Sir Donald Wallace, Mr. Sydney Hall (artist), and Commander Wemyss (H.M.S. Ophir). The party travelled by special train, and viewed the Leura and Katoomba Falls, returning to the city in the evening.

PARLIAMENTARY VISIT TO THE OPHIR.

At the instance of the Governor-General a number of members of the Legislative Assembly paid a visit to the Royal yacht Ophir yesterday afternoon. About 50 members accompanied by ladies left by steamer from the floating jetty at a quarter to 3 o'clock, and inspected the Royal yacht. Among the company were Mr. See (Premier), and Mr. Waddell (Colonial Treasurer). A good view of the fittings of the vessel was obtained, and a pleasant afternoon was spent.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS TO THE DUKE.

On Monday Mr. See, the State Premier, forwarded to the Governor-General the following letter:—"Your Excellency,—I desire on behalf of the Government and people of New South Wales to request that your Excellency will be good enough to convey my humble duty and warmest congratulations to his Royal Highness on his birthday, with the hope that he may be spared for many years to come."

Mr. See received a reply from Sir Arthur Bigge yesterday, which ran as follows:—"The Duke of Cornwall and York desires me to convey to you the sincere thanks of his Royal Highness for the kind message of congratulation and the good wishes which you have been good enough to communicate on behalf of the Government and people of the State of New South Wales on account of his Royal Highness's birthday."

A ROYAL STAMP COLLECTOR.

H.R.H. the Duke of Cornwall and York pursues the pastime of collecting postage stamps with a considerable degree of pleasure. Philatelists in this State hope that his example in that respect will lead to a material accession to their numbers. The Postmasters-General (both federal and State) of Australia have already made considerable additions to the collection of his Royal Highness, the presentations from the three States of New South Wales, Victoria, and Queensland being estimated to be worth about £2000. In acknowledgment of the presentation of postage stamps by members of the Sydney Philatelic Club, of which the Duke is patron, Mr. Basset Hull, the hon. secretary, has received from Commander Godfrey-Faussett, A.D.C. to H.R.H., the following letter:—"His Royal Highness the Duke of Cornwall and York desires me to tell you how extremely grateful he is for the beautiful and valuable collection of New South Wales stamps contained in the Address which was presented to H.R.H. by the Sydney Philatelic Club, which club he is so proud to be associated with as patron."

ARRANGEMENTS FOR DEPARTURE.

The departure and embarkation of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York will take place to-morrow. Their Royal Highnesses will leave Government House at 11.15 a.m. Route: Macquarie-street, entering Domain at Governor Bourke's statue opposite Bent-street, thence by roadway at the rear of Parliament House to St. Mary's Gates, thence by main avenue to the pavilion at Farm Cove. Twenty-five feet of the causeway along the route will be reserved by barriers for the passage of the Royal carriages and escort. No foot passengers will be allowed within the barriers. All horse and wheel traffic on the line of route will be suspended for 30 minutes before the passing of the Royal carriages. No vehicles or horses will be allowed in the Domain until after the embarkation except those in official attendance. Only officials and others specially authorised will be admitted within the enclosure of the pavilion. Carriages of officials and other gentlemen present at the embarkation will take up position off the main avenue as directed by the police. Other regulations will be similar to those published at the landing and procession.

THE MILITARY PREPARATIONS.

A half-day parade of all the metropolitan corps and Parramatta Half-squadron, including the local Naval Forces, will be held to-morrow in honour of the departure of the Duke of Cornwall and York. Members of the Naval Forces will muster at the Customhouse, Circular Quay, at 10.15 a.m.

A general order issued yesterday contained the following detailed instructions for the parade:—The whole of the metropolitan troops will parade in review order in the Outer Domain at 9.30 a.m. on Thursday, the 6th instant, with a view to lining the route from Government House gates to the Royal landing stage, Farm Cove, and will take up the following positions:—(a) R.A.A., N.S.W.A., field and garrison, and Corps of Engineers, in that order, from Government House gates to Governor's Bourke's statue. (b) Infantry units and Army Medical Corps, from Governor Bourke's statue along road towards St. Mary's Cathedral, thence turning to the left inside the park gates, along the avenue leading towards the landing stage, and connecting with the local Naval Forces, who will occupy the remainder of the route as far as the head of the steps leading to the landing stage. The whole of the above troops will be in position extended at 10.30 a.m. Major and Lieutenant-Colonel M. W. Bayly, D.A.A.G., will act as staff and supervising officer from Governor Bourke's statue to landing place, and Major M. M. Boam, D.A.A.G., for remainder of route. The R.A.A. will furnish a Royal Guard of Honour and band at the Royal landing stage.

A HARBOUR FAREWELL.

The new Government yacht Victoria is under orders to convey the State Premier, the members of the Ministry, and of both Houses of the Legislature down the harbour to-morrow as a convoy to the Royal yacht Ophir. If the weather be favourable the steamer will venture outside the Heads. Invitations are now being issued to members of the Legislature, and to heads of departments in the Public service.

THE ROYAL VISIT TO NEW ZEALAND.

The Union Steamship Company have arranged to make a special trip with their fine steamer Mararoa from Sydney in connection with the projected visit of their Royal Highnesses to New Zealand. Particulars of the trip are given in another column.

The public offices and banks were closed yesterday. Sports held at Goolma in aid of the hospital netted over £30.

MOREE, Tuesday.

Sports in aid of the cricket ground were held yesterday, and a ball was held at the School of Arts.

MURWILLUMBAH, Tuesday.

Yesterday was kept as a close holiday. The annual picnic of the Presbyterian Sunday School took place at Woming. There was a very large gathering at Tweed Heads. An enjoyable picnic was given by the residents to the children attending the Public school.

WALGETT, Tuesday.

Yesterday was observed as a close holiday here. During the day sports were held in Warrena Park, and were well attended. The town band played selections on the ground. The principal events resulted as follows:—

Hundred Yards Sheffield Handicap.—H. Ford, 1; J. Dodd, 2.

Seventy-five Yards Race.—J. M'Garry, 1; A. Dodd, 2.

Boys' Handicap.—M. Weber, 1; S. Weber, 2.

Hop, Step, and Jump.—J. Dodd, 1; distance, 41ft.

Throwing at the Wicket.—W. Hamlett, 1.

In the evening at the School of Arts a successful concert in aid of the funds of the Presbyterian Church was given.

PERTH, Tuesday.

A close holiday was observed yesterday.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Tuesday.

The Premier expects that on the occasion of the Royal visit 4000 troops will be at Auckland, and 8000 at Christchurch.

LATE MINING.

WESTERN AUSTRALIAN MINES.

KALGOORLIE, Tuesday.

For the month of May the Kalgurli treated 1470 tons for 1870oz. of gold; the standard extraction equalled 91·6 per cent. The battery at the Hainault in 23 half-days treated 670 tons for 474oz.; 11 per cent. standard.

There is considerable excitement ruling over the new find in the King Edward lease, lately taken over by Ivanhoe and Boulder Junction, at Dayhurst. Rich stone has been exposed 7ft. wide, going 6oz. to the ton. A rush set in on the news being known. All the country along the line has been pegged.

The Croesus Proprietary lode was sampled on Saturday by Mr. Turner, assayer and metallurgist for Brookman's Boulder. A bulk return from 4ft. assayed over 3oz.

GOLDSBROUGH, MORT, AND COMPANY, LIMITED.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The Full Court to-day commenced hearing arguments on appeal from the decision of the Chief Justice, confirming the special resolution for the reduction of the capital of Goldsbrough, Mort, and Co., Limited. The arguments are likely to extend over several days.

STATE POLITICS.

TO-NIGHT'S MEETINGS.

Balmain South Election: Meeting of friends and supporters of Mr. S. J. Law, M.L.A., Sterland's Hotel, Darling-street, Rozelle, 8 o'clock.

Glebe Election: Mr. J. A. Hogue, Australian Youth Hotel, Bay-street, 8 o'clock.

Gipps Division: Mr. Hugh M'Kinnon, 8 o'clock.

Marrickville Electorate: Mr. R. W. W. M'Coy, Athenaeum Hall, Dulwich Hill, 8 o'clock; Mr. David Chenhall, Victoria Hall, Victoria-road, Marrickville, 8 o'clock.

Phillip Division: Committee Meeting of Mr. George Vere Barnett, Club House Hotel, Abercrombie-street, 8 o'clock.

Ryde Electorate: Mr. F. Henley, Walker's Hall, Epping, 8 o'clock.

THE COMING ELECTIONS.

Members of the present Legislative Assembly and candidates for seats in the new House are alike interested in the date of dissolution of the present Assembly. It was generally expected that a Cabinet, to be followed by a meeting of the Executive Council would have been held yesterday, when the date of dissolution would probably have been decided, but no such meetings were held. It is understood that the temporary indisposition of the Lieutenant-Governor prevented any meeting of the Executive being held. The Cabinet did not meet. Mr. See, the State Premier, was questioned yesterday as to the probable date of the dissolution, but declined to add anything to what he has already said—that the dissolution will not take place until after the departure of the Duke and the Duchess of Cornwall and York. There are, however, members of the Assembly who claim to have received unofficial intimation that the writs for the elections will be issued on Tuesday next, and assuming this to be correct, the probability is that the proclamation of the dissolution will issue about Saturday, as four days' grace are allowed between the date of dissolution and the issue of the writs for the elections. This would make the date of election about the 29th instant, as the Act provides that the date of election should not be later than the eighteenth day from the issue of the writs. The writs would then be returnable on or about July 16, and the new Parliament would meet on or before the 23rd of the same month, as the Act prescribes that the day to be fixed for the meeting of Parliament shall not be later than the seventh clear day after the date on which the writs are made returnable. The Ministry, however, decline to give any information as to what dates are contemplated, and until that is available all forecasts are not more valuable than guesses.

ELECTION NOTES.

It is probable that to-day will witness important developments in connection with the selection of candidates to represent the Liberal party of New South Wales. A meeting of the executive of that body is to be held this afternoon, when it is expected that reports will be received from sub-committees appointed to inquire into the likelihood of what candidates will receive public support in Albury, Argyle, Ashburnham, Bathurst, Balmain North, Balmain South, Burwood, Grenfell, Hartley, Macquarie, Ryde, Shoalhaven, Singleton, Wickham, Waringah, and the Bligh, Fitzroy, Gipps, Lang, and Denison divisions of Sydney. The executive of the party has already selected more than 50 candidates, so that should the selections mentioned above be made to-day the party will have provided candidates for about three-fourths of the constituencies.

It is stated that Mr. O. B. Connolly whose name was mentioned as likely to contest the electorate of Northumberland, has retired, and that there is not now any candidate to oppose the sitting member. The name of Dr. Doyle, of Newcastle, is, however, mentioned as that of a gentleman whom the electors would be likely to support, and there is some talk of presenting him with a requisition asking him to become a candidate.

The name of Mr. Wise, State Attorney-General, has been mentioned as one likely to contest a suburban seat, or failing that a city one. Mr. Wise was, however, seen yesterday afternoon with regard to all rumours, and gave them a denial. He said that he had not been approached, nor had he approached any one, with regard to becoming a candidate for any constituency, and that he had no intention of forsaking his place in the Legislative Council.

A requisition bearing about 760 signatures has been presented to Alderman Jackson, Mayor of Redfern, asking him to contest that constituency. Mr. Jackson has declined to do so on the ground of loyalty to his party.

Alderman E. Lindsay Thompson, J.P., announces in our columns that he is a candidate for the King Division, and will shortly address the electors.

Mr. J. A. Hogue, M.L.A., is announced to address the Glebe electors from the Australian Youth Hotel, Bay-street, this evening.

Mr. D. Chenhall will address the electors of Marrickville at the Victoria Hall, Victoria-road, at 8 o'clock to-night.

Mr. S. A. Byrne announces by advertisement that he will contest the Paddington Electorate at the forthcoming elections in the interests of labour and local government.

THE DENISON DIVISION.

Mr. A. Kelly, who has been selected to contest the Denison election in the interest of the labour party, addressed a large open-air meeting last evening from the balcony of the American Hotel, Ultimo-street. The chair was taken by the Hon. James Wilson, M.L.C. Mr. Kelly had an excellent hearing, and was frequently applauded during the course of his address. He dealt with a very large number of prominent questions, and particularly with the subjects of the proposal to reduce the number of members of the Legislative Assembly, to which he is opposed, and to the improvement of the existing old-age pension scheme. He announced that he intended to be guided by the terms of the manifesto shortly to be published by the leaders of the labour party, and said that in coming before the electors he relied upon his past record, both in Parliament and in the municipal council. At the conclusion of his speech Mr. Kelly was accorded a vote of confidence, on the motion of Mr. Ford. Glynn, the president of the Denison branch of the Labour League, seconded by the vice-president (Mr. A. L. Pogonowski), and supported by Mr. S. Smith, M.L.A., and Mr. S. Powell.

PHILLIP DIVISION.

MR. J. J. MOLONEY'S CANDIDATURE.

Mr. J. J. Moloney, the selected liberal candidate for Phillip Division, addressed a large meeting from the balcony of the Metropolitan Hotel, Pitt-street, last night. Mr. John Wildman presided.

Mr. Moloney, who was well received, spoke at considerable length. He said that in the best interests of the port of Sydney he thought that the Harbour Trust Act should be promptly amended, so as to abolish all outward and transhipment wharfages. If that were not done, Sydney as a terminal port would be placed under a very great disadvantage. He would if elected endeavour to have that Act amended at the earliest opportunity. Another matter which would receive his attention would be the question of unemployed labour. He would do all in his power to solve this difficult problem. On the question of the federal capital, though an unpopular opinion, he believed that it should be situated on the seaboard of New South Wales, and not inland. A State bank on proper lines would be a national advantage. Mr. Moloney dealt with many other important matters, such as plague expenditure and the cost of the Commonwealth celebrations, the money to meet which, he understood, had been obtained in an unconstitutional manner. Technical education and the Greater Sydney scheme were topics upon which he spoke at length.

At the conclusion of the address a vote of confidence in Mr. Moloney, proposed by Mr. A. E. Chisholm, and seconded by Mr. A. W. Taylor, was carried unanimously.

FLINDERS DIVISION.

MR. H. EVERS' CANDIDATURE.

Last evening a meeting of the friends and supporters of Mr. H. Evers was held at St. David's School Hall, Arthur-street, Surry Hills. Mr. A. M'Neil presided over a good attendance. Mr. Evers briefly addressed the meeting upon the present political situation, and stated his intention to go to the poll at the forthcoming State elections. Mr. R. B. Cropley and Alderman J. Dillon spoke in support of the candidate, who was accorded a vote of confidence at the close of the meeting.

KING DIVISION.

MR. FRED WALSH'S CANDIDATURE.

Mr. C. W. Beal, who has acted as one of the hon. secretaries of the committee appointed to secure the return of Mr. Fred Walsh as the representative of King Division, has written a letter in which he expresses fears that, owing to illness, which for a time prevented him from getting about, and deprived him of the opportunity of placing full information before the selection committee, so good an impression as to the chances of Mr. Walsh in the contest was not made upon the minds of the members of the committee as might have been produced had the work of selection been delayed.

BLIGH DIVISION.

MR. P. E. QUINN'S CANDIDATURE.

A preliminary meeting of the friends and supporters of Mr. P. E. Quinn, M.L.A., was held at the Mission Hall, Palmer-street, Woolloomooloo, last night. Mr. Alexander Martin occupied the chair. There was a large attendance. Mr. Quinn addressed the meeting at considerable length. He spoke in support of the present Government, and referred in eulogistic terms to the actions of the Lyne and See Governments. He particularly eulogised Mr. O'Sullivan, the Minister for Works, for his administration of his department. He said the Early Closing Act was being made a point in the election, but as far as he was concerned he would rather go out of Parliament than see the integrity of that Act interfered with. There were certain hardships under that Act, he was aware, and he would be glad to remedy them if it could be done without interfering with the integrity of the Act, but otherwise he would rather go out of Parliament than agree to such amendments. Mr. John Donelan, J.P., proposed, and Mr. J. E. Birt seconded, a motion of confidence in the candidate, which was carried unanimously. On the motion of Mr. J. S. A. Tayler, seconded by Mr. A. E. Smith, a committee was formed to secure Mr. Quinn's return.

MR. H. DALY'S CANDIDATURE.

Mr. Henry Daly, who announced himself as "the Liberal candidate," addressed a meeting of the electors of Bligh Division from the Burdekin Hotel, William-street, last night. There was a good attendance. Mr. Daly said the question of the election was who was to rule the country. The present Government had no mandate from the people, and came into power by ousting Mr. Reid on a very small matter. The present Government was a protectionist one, while the bulk of the constituencies were freetrade. Freetrade was synonomous with liberalism. This Government had been in power 21 months, and Parliament had only been eight months in session, so that the government of the country had been carried on behind the backs of the people. Within the past 12 months the Government had spent certainly not less than 14 million pounds, and the bill had not come in yet. Democratic legislation of a strictly civic character should be undertaken. A system of local government should go side by side with a reduction of members of the Assembly to about 80, while the Upper House should be made elective. He was in favour of a railway into the city instead of the present proposal for a station at Devonshire-street, of amending the Early Closing Act, to remedy injustices to small shopkeepers, and of the rigid exclusion of Asiatic labour. At the end of his address the candidate was accorded a vote of confidence.

FITZROY DIVISION.

MR. D. LEVY'S CANDIDATURE.

Mr. Daniel Levy opened his campaign as a candidate for Fitzroy Division last evening, when he addressed a large attendance of electors at the President Lincoln Hotel, Forbes and Woolloomooloo streets. Mr. E. J. Wangenheim, J.P., was in the chair.

Mr. Levy met with a good reception, and during the course of his address referred to the most important features of local politics. The candidate said he strongly favoured the reduction of members of the State Parliament. He also favoured the principle of local Government. The questions of law reform and education reform were matters that he thought should receive the utmost attention. The candidate was accorded an excellent hearing, and a show of hands was declared in his favour. The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the chairman.

PADDINGTON ELECTORATE.

ALDERMAN R. W. USHER'S CANDIDATURE.

Alderman R. W. Usher (Mayor of Paddington) addressed the electors of Paddington at the Windsor Castle Hotel, Windsor-street, Paddington, last evening. Mr. Kenny presided.

Alderman Usher met with a good reception, and stated that Mr. J. T. Gannon, who had announced himself as a candidate, had decided to retire in his favour. The candidate referred to the manner adopted by the various selection committees in choosing representative candidates. He favoured the reduction of members in the Legislature, also the Conciliation and Arbitration Bill and old age pensions scheme. The transit regulations and the Factories Act he considered needed amendment. Referring to the public parks, he said that in the interests of the general public they should be under municipal control. At the conclusion of his address the candidate was accorded a vote of confidence.

WOOLLAHRA ELECTORATE.

ALDERMAN W. F. LATIMER'S CANDIDATURE.

Last evening Alderman W. F. Latimer's friends and supporters met at Queen-street, Woollahra. Alderman T. Fairweather presided. On the motion of Alderman W. J. Trickett, M.L.C., seconded by Mr. James Marks, it was resolved that those present should form themselves into a general committee with a view of forwarding the candidature of Alderman Latimer. After discussion sub-committees were formed for each ward in the electorate. It was decided that the candidate should address the electors at a public meeting to take place at the Oddfellows' Hall, Woollahra, on Thursday evening, 13th instant.

WATERLOO ELECTORATE.

CANDIDATURE OF ALDERMAN G. ANDERSON, M.L.A.

A meeting of the friends and supporters of Alderman George Anderson, M.L.A., was held at the Foresters' Hall, Waterloo, on Saturday evening. The object of the meeting was to form a committee to secure the re-election of Mr. Anderson at the ensuing State elections. The attendance, however, was so large that it was found necessary to adjourn to the main hall of the building. Amongst those present were Mr. G. B. Edwards, M.P., and a number of the aldermen and leading residents of the district. The chair was occupied by Alderman D. T. Brown, J.P., who stated the objects of the meeting. It was then proposed by Alderman G. H. Bunting, seconded by Alderman J. Pittman, and supported by Mr. James Kirgan,—"That all gentlemen present form themselves into a committee to secure Mr. Anderson's return to Parliament." The motion was carried unanimously. Alderman Brown, and Messrs. Edward Sweeney and Joseph Bradwell, jun., were then elected as joint secretaries to the committee. Over 150 names were handed in as members of the committee. Mr. Anderson and Mr. G. B. Edwards then addressed the meeting.

ASHFIELD LIBERAL ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Ashfield Liberal Association was held at the Ashfield Hall last night. There was a large attendance. Mr. J. H. Deals was elected president of the branch, Mr. Stuart Fraser secretary, and Mr. J. W. Mortley treasurer. The programme as outlined by Mr. C. A. Lee, leader of the party, was unanimously approved of, as was also the candidature of Mr. F. E. Winchcombe for Ashfield. Arrangements were made for supporting the Liberal party's programme, and an executive committee was appointed.

ADELONG, Tuesday.

At a meeting of the Political Labour League yesterday delegates attended from Tumut and Grahamstown. It was decided to accept nominations for candidates up till June 10.

GLEN INNES, Tuesday.

Mr. John A. Martin has been appointed returning officer for the electorate of Glen Innes.

Mr. F. J. Thomas, a candidate for Glen Innes Electorate in the State Parliament, has been addressing successful meetings at different centres of the district. He has declared himself a follower of Mr. C. A. Lee.

JUNEE, Tuesday.

Mr. P. Waxman gave an address yesterday.

TAREE, Tuesday.

Mr. J. H. Young gave an address yesterday. He contended that the Government had spent public money wastefully.

WHITE CLIFFS, Tuesday.

The final result of the political labour league ballot for a labour nominee for the State election was:— J. Buzzacott, 153; J. C. Meehan, 146; informal, 2.

THE VICTORIAN LOAN.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The State Treasurer (Mr. Peacock) to-day opened tenders received for the Victorian Government local loan of £500,000 in 3 per cent. debentures. The loan was the balance of the issue authorised by Parliament under the Railway Loan Act of 1900, and the minimum price was fixed at £96. The debentures are repayable on July 1, 1930, but the Government has the option of redeeming them at any time after 21 years on giving 12 months' notice. Before opening the tenders Mr. Peacock stated that the balance of the amounts of the accepted tenders would be payable on and after July 1 up to September 30 next. The debentures, he said, would be issued on and after July 1. The total number of tenderers was 144, and the sum tendered amounted to £570,950. The gross amount realised by the loan will be £482,031, but from that sum there will have to be deducted brokerage on those tenders that passed through the hands of brokers. At ½ per cent. the brokerage on the last £500,000 local loan amounted to £1100; but as the brokerage on this occasion was ¼ per cent. the sum is likely to be larger. The lowest accepted tender for the present loan was £96 2s. A sum of £450, however, had to be accepted at £96 1s 6d in order to make up the required sum. There was a sum of £6500 tendered at £96 1s 6d. The average price of the loan as worked out by the Treasury officials was £96 8s 1·524d, while the rate of interest comes to £3 2s 2·83d per cent. It is understood that among the principal tenderers were the Australian Mutual Provident Society, £100,000; the Savings Bank Commissioners, £150,000; Messrs. F. Thoneman and Co., £65,000; Messrs. John Goodall and Co., £47,000; Mr. A. E. Millard, £20,000; and Mr. C. Goulden Miller, £12,000. When the last local loan of £530,000 was floated in August of last year the number of tenderers reached 203, while the amount subscribed was £892,000. The gross proceeds per £100 was £98 10s 5d. The lowest successful tender was at £96 5s, and of the tenders at that amount about 40 per cent. were allotted.

THE MAILS BY THE ORUBA.

A PORTION DAMAGED BY FIRE.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

To-day for the first time in the history of the Victorian Postal Department a portion of the English mails received from Adelaide was found to have been burnt in transit. When the mail bags which came by the Oruba were taken from the Spencer-street station to the mail room at the General Post-office it was discovered that six bags of newspapers had been damaged. The leather bags themselves had been burst through, and many hundreds of papers contained in them were charred almost beyond recognition, while the wrappers in even more cases had been singed through, and papers they held were loose. In the circumstances only a portion of the contents of the six bags can, by the exercise of much ingenuity, be delivered, and even when delivered some of them will not be of much value. How the bags were burnt the authorities will not know until to-morrow. All that they learnt to-day was conveyed in a telegram from Adelaide Post-office. "During voyage from Fremantle a fire occurred in Oruba mail-room, and bags were damaged. The commander's letter is attached to the waybill." The mail bags are stacked in columns in a very large compartment in the mail steamer. It is presumed that the commander's letter will state how the fire originated. Victoria is apparently very fortunate not to suffer more than she has done, because information was also received from Adelaide to-day stating that the New Zealand portion of the mails was affected, and that the registered letters for Christchurch had been burnt or damaged.

COURSING.

THE FEDERAL CUP.

Entries close this morning for the Federal Cup, to be decided to-morrow, Friday, and Saturday, at Belmore. The draw will take place at noon to-day at Usher's Metropolitan Hotel. Entries for the Members' Stakes close to-morrow. The federal dinner will be held at the Metropolitan Hotel this evening when the card for the Cup will be called. A large number of entries have been received for the Cup from Victoria, and many parts of New South Wales.

By advertisement elsewhere it will be seen that Mr. C. White, a well-known coursing representative of Bathurst, has decided to dispose of his dogs at Belmore to-morrow. Mr. White's wife died on Friday last, and he has decided to retire from the sport. Followers of the leash will sympathise with Mr. White in his sad bereavement.

GOLF.

GOULBURN v. ALBURY.

A novel match was played on Saturday between Goulburn and Albury clubs. The difficulty of securing players to visit far distant links caused the Goulburn Club to suggest to the Albury Club a match under the following conditions:—Each club to play on its own links, and to allow the difference in bogey to the club having the larger number of strokes for the round. Goulburn's bogey is 96, and Albury's 84, so that 12 strokes were allowed to the Goulburn team. The result was a win for each member of the latter. The scores were:—

Goulburn.		Albury.
E. Payten, 103—12	91	C. H. Dight	92
F. E. Conelly, 105—12	93	J. Stephen	107

Mr. J. P. Dimslow acted as referee.

CRICKET.

LEG-BEFORE-WICKET LAW.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The English mail brings details of the meeting of the Marylebone Club dealing with the proposed alteration of the leg-before-wicket rule. Law 24 in its present form reads:—"The striker is out if with any part of his person he stops the ball which in the opinion of the umpire at the bowler's wicket shall have been pitched in a straight line from it to the striker's wicket and would have hit it—leg before wicket." For this it was proposed to substitute:—"The striker is out if with any part of his person (except the hand) which is between wicket and wicket he intercept a ball which would have hit his wicket—leg before wicket." The proceedings were private, but it was officially announced that the proposed alteration was moved by the Hon. Alfred Lyttelton, M.P., seconded by Mr. John Shuter. Mr. A. G. Steele was a supporter of the old rule, which still stands, as the majority in favour of the alteration, 259 to 188, does not give a two-thirds majority.

The semi-final of the first junior competition was concluded at Marrickville on Saturday, the contesting teams being Adelphian and Marathon. Adelphian scored 175 (Hodgson 47, Wales 38). Marathon lost their last wicket with the total at 128 (Pratt 26, Iddles 24 not out). The wickets for Adelphian were secured by J. Bardsley (nine wickets for 66 runs), and B. Perry (one wicket for 43 runs). The match was thus won by Adelphian.

FOOTBALL.

SCHOOLS PREMIERSHIP.

Newington College defeated St. Joseph's College at Stanmore on Saturday by 17 to 5. Playing with a strong wind Newington soon had their opponents in difficulties, Millican, Brown, and Ireland handling the ball in turn obtained first try for Newington. Some even play followed at half way, after which Brown got possession, and feinting through the ruck passed to Webb, who forwarded it on to Finau. Brown got Finau's pass and scored. Brown, who was playing a very good game, broke through the three-quarter line, and as he neared the full-back passed to Millican, who ran in. Brown kicked the goal. Finau broke away from the line-out, with Wise alongside of him, who took the pass and scored. In the second half the game was more even, St. Joseph's attacked strongly for some time, and scored owing to a miss-kick by Millican, which rebounded over the goal line. Brown scored for Newington by a fine run from half way.

BOWRAL, Tuesday.

In the football match in connection with the Berrima-Camden District Rugby Football Union competition Myra Vale defeated Moss Vale by 11 to 3 points.

DUBBO, Tuesday.

The first football match for the Burkingshaw trophy was played on Saturday afternoon. Ormonde (18) beat Newtown (5). The scores at the match yesterday were:—Dubbo, 33; Orange, 3.

GUNNEDAH, Tuesday.

The Liverpool Plains Rugby Union held its annual carnival on the racecourse yesterday. The day was very cold, and the attendance small. The union also held a concert at the School of Arts at night, at which the prizes won during the day were awarded.

In the competition match between the premiers of the Gunnedah and Boggabri clubs, the former won by 37 points to nil.

LIVERPOOL, Monday.

Forest Lodge Cambridge and Liverpool Admiral met in a football match on the latter's ground to-day. The match, which resulted in a draw, was witnessed by a large gathering of the townspeople.

LITHGOW, Tuesday.

At football yesterday the Ironworks team met the Warrigals, of Sydney, on the local ground, and a good game ensued, resulting in 13 points to nil in favour of the ironworks.

ATHLETICS.

AUSTRALASIAN CHAMPIONSHIPS.

SCHNAPPER FISHING.

The Drummoyne Schnapper Club, fishing near Bird Island on Saturday night and the following day in the tug Greyhound, caught over 400 fish, chiefly schnapper. Mr. M. Ross won a trophy presented by Mr. J. Bowden. Thirty-one fishermen took part in the outing.

The Sportsman Fishing Club also fished near Bird Island at the same time, and secured 350 fish. Mr. G. Goldsmid had charge of the party. Some large fish were taken.

PIGEON SHOOTING.

BATHURST, Tuesday.

At a novice pigeon match held by the Bathurst Gun Club to-day, for which there were 21 entries, R. Pratley won, killing his seven birds in grand style.

ENTERTAINMENT TO RUSSIAN SAILORS.

An entertainment of a unique character was given yesterday to the petty officers of the Imperial Russian battleship Gromoboi. It consisted of a dinner and musical festival given by the petty officers and non-commissioned officers of his Majesty's ships now in port, including those of the Royal yacht and her escorts. The Russians were conveyed to Garden Island in their own steamboats at 2 p.m., and were there received by their hosts, who showed them over the island and then escorted them to the banquet room, which had been tastefully decorated with flags, in which the Russian and British ensigns were most conspicuous, and on a raised dais at one end the band of the Royal Arthur, under the direction of Signor Bilezzi, played appropriate selections. The Russian men were seated at the tables with one of their hosts on either side. They enjoyed an excellent meal. Prior to the commencement of the dinner the band played the Admiral's salute as his Excellency Admiral Beaumont, accompanied by the Russian Commander, Captain Jessen, Captain Royle, R.N., and Mrs. Royle, Captain Walker, R.N., H.M.S. Royal Arthur, and Captain Noel, R.N., appeared on the scene and said a few words of welcome to the guests. The entertainment was presided over by a British petty officer, and Mr. Shearston, of the Royal Naval House, at the request of and for the petty officers present, addressed the Russian sailors, and spoke of the growing feeling of friendliness among the sailors of all nations as doing much to emphasise the great fact of universal brotherhood. An enjoyable evening was spent after the dinner.

FRESH AIR LEAGUE BALL.

The next ball in aid of the funds of the Fresh Air League will be held at the Town Hall on the 26th instant. The league works in conjunction with the Ministering Children's League, under a separate board of management, and its aim is to provide the tired and weary of our respectable poor exhausted by domestic cares, and more especially the young children, with a country holiday during the summer months. We are informed that since the inception of the league in 1891 1449 persons have enjoyed four weeks' country air through this institution, and during one season 253 persons—chiefly children and mothers with delicate infants—received the benefits of the league. The only present sources of income of the league are the ball, members' subscriptions, and donations from the public. All moneys received are spent directly on the objects of the league, and there are no disbursements for rent, management, or salaries. All the work is voluntarily performed.

PUBLIC WORKS TENDERS.

Tenders were accepted yesterday for the following public works for the week ended 1st instant:—

Government Architect's Works.—Regulating and maintaining clocks at Government House, Sydney, and stables for 12 months: John Rodick, Bond-street, £5 per quarter. Additions and alterations at Burrowa lockup and ... John Burnett, Moss Vale, £545 15s. Repairs, painting, &c., post and telegraph office at Picton: W. S. Stead and Co., Annandale, £83 15s. Erection of court house and police station at Millthorpe: Henry Ford, sen., Cowra, £1550.

Harbours and Rivers Works.—Supply of a set of marine engines and boiler for service on Northern Harbour works and bars, J. Wildridge and Sinclair, Pitt-street, £1450.

Railway Construction Works.—Supply, &c., of ironbark timber for Culcairn to Germanton railway, Ewers and Handover, Dubbo, schedule prices; supply, &c., of 2000 sleepers, Culcairn to Germanton railway, C. Hardy and Co., Wagga, 3s 3d at Wagga, 3s 9d at Culcairn.

A tender for the construction of a wooden hull of a launch for the Lunacy Department was opened—that of W. M. Ford, Berry's Bay, £772 10s.

COMPLIMENTARY BENEFIT TO MR. TOD CALLAWAY.

At the Paddington Town Hall last evening a complimentary farewell benefit concert was tendered to Mr. Tod Callaway, who is leaving for London by the R.M.S. Ormuz. There was a large attendance. An excellent programme was carried out. Mr. Callaway was enthusiastically received, and encored for his contributions, "Humorous Refrains." Messrs. Rasche, E. Burnham, and G. King acted as accompanists. The concert was arranged by the Paddington Jolly Boys' Musical Club.

Visitors to Sydney will find that Usher's Metropolitan Hotel, King-street, provides absolutely the best accommodation in the city.—Advt.

THE SMALLPOX OUTBREAK.

FURTHER CASES FROM THE ORMUZ.

The spread of smallpox among the passengers and crew of the mail steamer Ormuz has grown somewhat alarming. Up to last night no less than 19 cases were definitely diagnosed as those of the dreaded disease, and four persons were in isolation pending decision of the medical authorities at the Quarantine Station on the nature of their ailments. The following is a full list of the cases from that vessel:—Second-class passengers, Stanley J. W. Clarkson, Charles E. Jull; third-class passengers, A. Atkinson, P. Benjamin, J. Gillespie, L. Handcock, G. Pavett, J. Reynolds; crew, stewards' department, E. W. Abel, E. S. Dale, F. Gilbert, S. Julius, A. Mansfield, W. Perrin, H. Pockett, F. Sturman; able seamen, Frank E. Smith, Peter Cleary; engine-room, A. Brofeldt.

Concerning the condition of the patients, yesterday's bulletin issued from the station states that Mrs. Blondell is seriously ill, and Clarence Olliffe has slightly improved, but is in a critical state. These two cases were discovered, it will be remembered, on shore. Of the Ormuz patients, Lavelia Handcock was in a critical state; Reynolds, Atkinson, Gilbert, and Clarkson, were severe cases; while Smith, Brofeldt, Cleary, Jull, Pockett, Abel, Perrin, Dale, Pavett, Gillespie, Julius, Mansfield, Benjamin, and Sturman were doing well.

The Changtu patients are now all convalescent.

Inquiries were made from the medical staff at the Board of Health yesterday as to the probable source of contagion of the North Sydney patient, but it was stated that nothing definite was known on the subject.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

There were no new developments of any kind at the quarantine station to-day.

THE IRONWORKERS' STRIKE.

In accordance with the decision of the Ironworkers' Assistants' Union, Mr. J. M'Farlane, secretary to the strikers, has forwarded the following letter to the ironmasters:—

"Ironworkers' Assistants' Union of New South Wales, June 4, 1901."

"Mr. Henry Hudson, chairman Irontrades' Employers. Dear Sir,—I have been instructed by my society to write, asking, with your permission, to withdraw our previous letter, which unfortunately has produced a deadlock, and at the same time to state that, whilst adhering to the question of the minimum wage, they would be pleased to again meet you in conference on the other points at issue. As, so far, the utmost good feeling has existed between masters and men, we believe that should you again consent to meet us a satisfactory settlement may be arrived at. Yours respectfully (Signed) J. M'Farlane."

The letter was considered at a meeting of employers held yesterday afternoon. Mr. Henry Hudson presided, and 19 firms were represented. It was resolved to send the following reply:—"We are prepared to meet delegates, provided they are fully empowered to make terms with the employers for a full settlement of the dispute between the employers and employees of the iron trade. To save time, it may be as well to inform you that the employers have resolved to adhere to the compromise offered in our letter of May 24 last."

The compromise above alluded to provided for payment of overtime as required by the strikers, and an offer to raise the minimum rate of pay for men to 6s. The wages' demands of the strikers for men and youths and their stipulation as to the employment of non-unionists were rejected. As matters now stand, the employers propose to pay men 7s per day and 6s per day according to their value, to pay employees under 21 years of age as youths, and to treat unionists and non-unionists in their employ alike. The strikers ask that men shall be paid 7s per day all round, and that further consideration be given in conference to the rates of pay for youths, and to the question of employing non-unionists, with the view of altering the employers' decisions on those subjects.

At the employers' meeting attention was drawn to newspaper notices relating to the strike, which were said to be somewhat misleading, inasmuch as they have led to the inference being drawn that, if Mort's Dock and Engineering Company, Limited, and the Clyde Engineering Company gave way to the men, all the rest of the employers would do likewise. The gentlemen present declared that such was not by any means the case.

A letter was read from Mr. Clegg, chief clerk of the Minister for Public Instruction and Labour, on the Minister's behalf, offering the Minister's services to bring about a renewal of negotiations between the employers and the strikers. It was resolved to thank the Minister, and intimate that mediation did not at present appear to be necessary.

THE DAIRYING INDUSTRY.

KIAMA, Tuesday.

A well-attended and representative meeting of dairy farmers took place in the Kiama Agricultural Association's Exhibition-building this afternoon. Mr. Alexander Campbell, M.L.A., presided. Mr. O'Donnell (Mayor, Central Illawarra) was present as representative of the Unanderra Dairy Farmers. The minutes of the meeting held at Kiama on May 14, when the Dairy Farmers' Union was formed, were read and confirmed. A letter from Mr. James Graham (secretary of the branch union formed at Clunes, Richmond River) stating the Kiama Union would have its support, and a letter from the Barrengarry Dairy Company promising assistance, were received. Mr. D. L. Dymock spoke in favour of the union and read extracts from the "Sydney Morning Herald's" London correspondent's letter which appeared on May 29. He directed his remarks principally to the reference there made to mottled butter, and said one of the objects of the union would be to recommend an equitable standard of milk and cream tests and moisture in butter. Mr. Alexander Campbell, M.L.A., was appointed to represent the Dairymen's Union of New South Wales at a meeting called by Mr. M. A. O'Callaghan, dairy expert, for June 13 in Sydney, having reference to the establishment of a butter exchange. Rules in connection with the union were passed. They provide that the objects of the union shall be to protect and develop the dairying industry, to notice all Parliamentary bills relating to dairying matters, the supervision of stock and premises, the Cattle Disease Act, and the necessary qualifications of factory managers relating to manufacture and scientific knowledge, to recommend burearies, to recommend an equitable standard of milk and cream tests and moisture in butter, to secure all the advantages obtainable by technical education equitably distributed in different counties, and to secure the interests and advice of the respective members of the districts to their Parliamentary capacity. The management of the union is to consist of a chairman, secretary, treasurer, and an executive committee of five, who shall be producers, to be appointed at the first conference, to be held in Sydney. The officers pro tem. are Mr. Alex. Campbell, M.L.A., chairman; Mr. Thomas Brown, J.P., treasurer; and Mr. Percy Robb, secretary.

NEW SOUTH WALES ALLIANCE.

FORMATION OF A BRANCH AT BALMAIN.

A public meeting was held last night in the Balmain Temperance Hall, Montague-street, under the auspices of the New South Wales Alliance, for the purpose of forming a local branch. There was a good attendance. Canon Boyce occupied the chair. The proceedings were opened by the singing of "The Old Hundredth," after which prayer was offered by the Rev. W. H. Williams (Balmain East Wesleyan Church).

The Chairman addressed the meeting in explanation of the objects of the alliance, and said the present crisis in the history of the State was a serious one indeed. The licensed victuallers were putting forth special efforts in connection with the coming State elections, and he trusted the temperance people would also be determined that New South Wales would be much more sober in the future than in the past. (Applause.) The licensed victuallers were putting forth as a test question, "Are you in favour of local option with compensation?" He did not know what they meant by using the term local option at all. The people in this country, it would be found, were never going to tax themselves for the sake of publicans and brewers. (Applause.) The alliance did not propose to interfere with a license during its currency, but they said that a publican had no more right to a renewal of his license than a lessee of a house had to a renewal of his lease. The platform of the New South Wales Alliance was not against a reasonable notice before the polls were taken. They wanted to be fair. An alarming point in the publicans' platform was the retrograde movement of opening on Sunday. Even with a defective law they were not going back to the bad old times. They were going to, if possible, make the law effective. (Applause.) They wanted the onus of proof changed, as obtained in the English law. This had been asked for and even recommended by Royal Commission time after time, but no Government had yet given it to them. They were determined at the coming election to push this matter to the front, and instead of having Sunday opening they would have an effective Sunday closing. (Applause.) He considered this question one of the most perilous and retrograde demands ever put before them by the licensed victuallers. The early closing law should also be made to apply to public-houses as well as to shops. They were opposed to the employment of barmaids. (Applause.) They were in favour of closing hotels on election day, as obtained in Canada. No worse bribery existed than that of beer. The people had a right to decide whether they wanted the traffic or not. They were asking that the polls should decide this particular question, Local and State option, which was the people's right, should be conceded to the people of the State. And until they were conceded that great democratic principle they would have to fight the battle of the elections, and he thought they would give a good account of themselves. (Applause.)

On the motion of the Rev. W. F. Oakes, seconded by Mr. A. Gow, it was unanimously decided to form a local branch of the alliance. The Rev. G. T. Walden (president of the Christian Endeavour Union) spoke in support of the resolution.

It was also decided,—"That a provisional committee, consisting of the Revs. W. F. Oakes, W. H. Williams, J. Dixon, A. E. Blackwell, and H. Gainford, Messrs. J. Sims, A. Gow, J. Matthews, A. T. Lown, and S. Hunter, be appointed to carry out the initiatory matters in connection with the formation of the branch."

The meeting closed with the benediction.

NAVAL STRENGTH OF GREAT POWERS.

A Parliamentary paper has been issued giving certain particulars of the fleets of Great Britain, France, Russia, Germany, Italy, United States of America, and Japan distinguishing battleships, built and building; cruisers, built and building; coast defence vessels, built and building; torpedo vessels, t.b.d.'s, and torpedo boats, built and building; date of launch, displacement, and armaments reduced to one common scale. The return was last issued in January, 1900. Vessels which appeared on January 15, 1901, in the official list of each navy as built or building are enumerated where the money had been appropriated on that date, and which were soon to be laid down.

THE SUEZ CANAL.

One of the statistical tables published by the Suez Canal Company shows the number and the proportion of steamers that continue their passage through the Canal by night with the aid of electric lighting, compared with those that navigate by day only. Between the years 1894 and 1899 the proportion of the former category never descended below 91 per cent., and in 1895 it was as high as 95·11 per cent. There was a sudden drop in 1899, when only 90·8 per cent. of the steamers continued their navigation during night hours. There was a small increase in 1900, but the proportion was then only 91·2 per cent., when 281 steamers, of a total of 3441 tons, or 8·8 per cent., anchored from sunset to sunrise on the following day. The time employed by all steamers was not, however, affected by the increase or decrease in the proportion of steamers navigating day and night. In 1895, when the rate was 95·11 per cent., the average duration of the passage was 18 hours 18 minutes; in 1899, with 90·8 per cent. only, the time was 18 hours 15 minutes.

NEW LEVIATHANS.

Many comparisons have been drawn between the two new leviathans, the White Star liner Celtic, just launched at Harland and Wolff's in Belfast, and the Norddeutscher Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II., still to leave the stocks at the Vulcan works in Stettin, Germany.

The Celtic, registering 20,880 tons gross, has a draught of 36ft. 6in. and a displacement of 36,700 tons, with a length of 700ft., breadth of 75ft., and a depth of 49ft. The Kaiser Wilhelm II., on the other hand, registers 19,500 tons gross, and shows a displacement of 26,000 tons at 29ft. draught, with a length of 707ft., breadth of 72ft., and depth of 43ft. It will be noted that the N.D.L. liner is 7ft. longer than the Celtic, but the latter vessel has a much larger displacement, being 3ft. deeper and 3ft. broader.

The design of the German liner is different, as she is contracted to have a higher speed than the Celtic, which further manifests itself in the latter steamer indicating 14,000-h.p. as against 40,000-h.p. of the Kaiser Wilhelm II., giving her a speed of 24 knots against 16 knots in the Celtic.

There is also a marked difference of the distribution of passengers for the three classes.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

Tuesday Evening.

Business on the Stock Exchange after the holiday opened without much life to-day. The market, however, was a generally firm one. Government stock was steady, the movements being inconsiderable. Bank of Australasia advanced 2, Union of Australia 1, and Commercial of Sydney were quitted at a rise of ¼. Bank deposits continued steady. Australian Joint Stock Bank A's and English, Scottish, and Australian debentures selling at the previous quotations. Steam and Insurance were firm. Tooth's Brewery brought 28s 1½d, with buyer at close at the same figure.

The following sales were reported on the Sydney Stock Exchange to-day:—Forenoon: E. S. and A. Bank debentures, 19s 3d; Bank of New South Wales, 44¾. Noon: A.J.S. Bank A deposits, 14s 9d; Tooth's Brewery, 28s 1½d. Afternoon: Nil. Late sale: Commercial Bank of Sydney, 31¾. The closing quotations were:—

* Where dividends are interim the yield is based on a year's distribution; otherwise on the last half-yearly one.

The amount of the clearances of the Sydney banks for the week ended yesterday was £2,681,058, compared with £3,066,714 and £2,856,628 in the corresponding weeks of 1900 and 1899 respectively. The total amounts since January 1, in comparison with the amounts for like periods for earlier years, were as follow:—

January 1 to June 3, 1895	£47,849,396
January 1 to June 2, 1896	46,327,850
January 1 to June 7, 1897	51,872,356
January 1 to June 8, 1898	51,836,709
January 1 to June 5, 1899	55,478,377
January 1 to June 4, 1900	60,633,174
January 1 to June 3, 1901	65,323,299

To date so far since January 1 the clearances exceed those of last year by £4,690,125, or 7·7 per cent. In Melbourne to May 27 the bank clearances showed an increase of £6,005,109.

Tenders for £500,000 N.S.W. Treasury bills were received to-day. They will be examined and reported on to-morrow (Wednesday).

In Victoria they are quicker in giving the results of loan negotiations to subscribers and the public than they are in New South Wales. It appears that the £500,000, for which tenders closed to-day, has been over subscribed, and at a premium of 1s on the minimum of £96. As the loan is floated at a net price, £96 1s will give the investor £3 5s 10d per cent. if redeemed at par in 1922, or £3 4s 9d if in 1929, the Government having prudently made the issue so that it can exercise the option of repayment in the earlier year, or any year thereafter, until the later one. The Victorian Treasurer is disappointed. But we are not altogether surprised, for the amount of money available for such securities must be getting smaller than it was, when 3 per cent. stock was freely taken at par. Besides, to offer £500,000 at one time is not so conducive to subscription at a full price as to sell it out as required by trustees. However, the needs of the Government doubtless require a more speedy subscription, which has to be paid for.

At the statutory half-yearly meeting of the Australasian Temperance and General Mutual Life Assurance Society held in Melbourne on Friday, Mr. Henry Meeks, the chairman, said that the society was obtaining a large amount of new business, and its character and cost were being closely watched. Some large savings had been effected in management expenses. The society's policies were valued on a 3½ per cent. pure premium basis. During the last quinquennium only 56 per cent. of the death rate expected was experienced in the abstainers' section, while the rate was much higher in the general section. The figures for the half-year ended March 31, in comparison with the same period last year, he said, revealed an increase of new business of 51 per cent., an increase of new premiums of 51 per cent., an increase of renewal premiums of 16 per cent., and an addition to the funds of 102 per cent., while there was a reduction in claims. A vote of thanks was passed to the directors and staff.

There was a good demand at the local wool sales to-day, at about the prices current a month back. Faulty wools were perhaps a trifle weaker. The highest prices obtained were—for scoured 17d, for greasy 8½d. The special feature of the sale was the keen demand for superfine wool. The Japanese bought freely of good free scoured. Of the catalogues, comprising 1987 bales, 1351 were sold publicly, and private transactions brought the aggregate business to 2709 bales.

The State Fire Insurance Company, of which Messrs. Gibbs, Bright, and Co. are the agents, show net premiums for 1899 aggregating £98,071. The net losses had absorbed £51,807. The credit balance of £1779 from 1899 had been increased to £15,576 as the result of the operations of the year, and out of this the directors recommended the payment on April 2 of a dividend at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, which would absorb £4200, and the carrying forward of the balance.

The speculation in New York to which our correspondent comments in yesterday's issue, under date May 4, developed rapidly. Never before was there such a rush of speculators into New York. It was due largely to the abundance and cheapness of money, and women entered on the business, their purchases being of considerable value. The New York "Sun," speaking of their state of feeling, wrote, "If you'll come up into my office for a short time and take in what is going on you may be pardoned for concluding that a considerable number of the Furies have gone on a picnic." A telegram to the San Francisco "Call" gave the following description of the New York market on May 7:—

New York, May 8.—The stock market to-day offered the novel spectacle of a bear panic and a bull panic in progress side by side. The bear panic in Northern Pacific was the impelling cause of the demoralised rush to sell other stocks, which was held in check for a time after the astounding opening in Northern Pacific, but which gained almost panic force in the late trading. Prices were not toppled over as a direct result of calling of loans and forced liquidation, such as often culminate a period of over speculation, although there was a very general broadening of margins and added severity in the scrutiny of collateral, as was inevitable in the uneasy conditions prevailing; but it was evident that the holders of long stock were holding their stocks tenaciously and were waiting to be actually forced out. The punishment which was being inflicted on the shorts in Northern Pacific was so distressing an example as to keep the bears in a timid frame of mind, and they hesitated to attack the market. The support which came in on the opening dip helped to encourage the bulls and intimidate the bears; but the liquidation seemed so large that the bears took courage and attacked the market after midday and secured rich returns. As the recession in prices reached the 10-point line the decline gathered force, showing the dislodging of long lines of long stock by the wiping out of margins. A scrutiny of a stock table will show the large number of stocks whose declines extended to between 10 and 20 points, with the resulting wiping out of the ordinary margin. The chaotic condition into which the market was thrown became alarming in the afternoon, but the determined support which developed and the resultant rallies, which reached as much as 8 points in one or two instances, took away the effect to a partial extent of the disorderly drop in prices, and even induced expressions from some of the more confident bulls that the health of the market was greatly improved as a result of the day's happenings. The apparently unlimited buying orders which appeared in United States steel preferred when the decline had reached 12 points and the resulting rally of 8¼ points, gave some of the bull speculators the courage to claim that the day's reaction was really cornered by the powerful financial interests which have been behind the bull market throughout, with a desire to shake off weak followers, and that it was not out of proportion to the unprecedented advance which had preceded it, to the unequalled conditions which at present obtain in this country and the prodigious dimensions of the market and of the forces which have been at work in it. It is the contrary view that collapses; such as that of to-day do not tend to attract new buying demand by such reasoning as that stocks are more attractive at lower prices. Anyone seeking to explain to-day's movement would have to go back over a period of many weeks, and for every suggestion of a great financial combination or consolidation, he will have to suppose a deep-seated doubt or apprehension such as was shown by the disclosures of this morning in Northern Pacific. It came with a chilly shock to the speculation that the country's great financial forces, which it was supposed were earnestly working in accord to secure a community of interests in the whole railroad world, were in fact arrayed against each other in measures of bitter retaliation and antipathy. The broad intimation was carried by the disclosures growing out of the Northern Pacific development that the recent great buying of stocks was for the most part wholly speculative, and without the supposed basis in investment purposes. Add to this the growing constructions of the money supply, continued insatiable demands from the stock speculation, inroads upon the narrow bank surplus by the taking up of the revenue surplus of the Government, a further shipment of gold to Europe to-day, and growing uneasiness among money lenders as to the stability of values of the securities which they hold as collateral, and the delicacy of the position is easily seen. It is not surprising, therefore, that the shock of the Northern Pacific episode, coming upon this situation, toppled prices over. Northern Pacific's sky-rocket course this morning to 180, compared with 143 at last night's close and 132 for the London parity this morning, is almost unprecedented for short-time movements in the local stock market. The stock was up to that figure and back to the opening figure of 155 within three minutes. It went as low as 143 afterwards and as high as 170, closing at 160. The close corner into which the shorts were crowded of course explained this movement.

As we have been informed, the movements were even greater within the next few days, until the fight which represented the core of the speculation was brought to an end, though not until many millions sterling had been lost.

BREADSTUFFS.

Country holders of wheat were very firm in their ideas. Shippers continue to pay from 2s 7d to 2s 7½d for prime grain ex trucks Darling Harbour. A parcel from Condobolin is reported to have realised 2s 8d. Business has been somewhat dislocated owing to the holidays. Flour was flat at £5 15s to £6 5s per ton.

The imports of flour at the port of Sydney during the week ended June 1 totalled 123 tons, and the exports 1241 tons. There were no imports of wheat during the same period, but the exports aggregated 96,316 bushels.

The receipts of wheat and flour by rail at Sydney, Clyde, Homebush, Burwood, Ashfield, Petersham, and Newtown during the week ended June 4, compared with those of the previous week and the corresponding week of last year, are as follows:—

	Wheat. Tons.	Flour. Tons.
Week ended June 4	5,082	1,045
Previous week	4,429	749
Last year	1,077	494

The receipts of wheat and flour during the first 23 weeks of the last nine years are as follow:—

	Wheat. Tons.	Flour. Tons.
First 23 weeks in 1893	11,747	9,037
First 23 weeks in 1894	10,045	9,141
First 23 weeks in 1895	13,370	10,466
First 23 weeks in 1896	8,518	3,814
First 23 weeks in 1897	17,205	4,173
First 23 weeks in 1898	58,108	13,409
First 23 weeks in 1899	35,859	7,984
First 23 weeks in 1900	79,172	9,249
First 23 weeks in 1901	135,497	18,694

It will be seen that up to date just twice as much flour has arrived by rail as during the corresponding period of last year.

Important news is conveyed in our cable to-night. It states that the German crop prospects are very bad, and that probably 12 million quarters of wheat will have to be imported. The official statistics of the German crop have for the last three years shown much greater yields than in previous years. In 1899 the crop was estimated by the Imperial German Statistical Office at 17,500,000 quarters, and this necessitated an import of 4½ million quarters. If, as stated in our cable, next cereal year will require an import of 12 millions of quarters the presumption is that the crop is not likely to exceed 10,000,000 quarters. The past two seasons were responsible for imports of 4½ million quarters, whereas during the preceding three seasons the imports were about 6½ millions each. When last mail left 22·6 per cent of the acreage, or 1,000,000 acres in all, had been winter-killed, thus causing a deficit of 25 millions of bushels. It will be interesting to see whether the German Government will adhere to its proposal to increase the grain duties, or follow the cue of France, Italy, and Spain, and suspend the duty already imposed during the year of partial famine.

IMPORT MARKET.

There was no great buoyancy about business to-day, nor could any such display be expected. Merchants had some leeway to pick up, the inevitable legacy of a holiday, and the mails required more hasty consideration than they generally receive. Still some few good transactions were recorded. The chief movement was in tinplates, which were operated in fairly extensively on the receipt of cables advising a further sharp rise in Wales. Generally the metal market has a firmer tone, and numerous inquiries are afloat for several of the leading lines. Good sales of cornsacks and woolpacks for season's shipment from Calcutta were completed. Oils generally ruled firm at full late rates. Tea did not find a very keen demand. Groceries, oilmen's stores, and dried fruits sold steadily.

Messrs. Mailler and Quereau, writing from New York under date May 2 regarding the freight market, state:—"There is not much new to be advised, rates continuing about as previously quoted, except in cases of steamers or sailing vessels about completing their loading, when some large bulky lines have been taken at concessions for filling-up purposes. General rates on merchandise have remained fairly firm, and with the outlook for poor return cargoes from the colonies and the Far East, there is not much disposition shown towards cutting freight rates outward."

Tea.—The inquiry was good, but the actual sales were not particularly heavy. Sixty chests of Ceylons were placed at 9d to 10½d, and 40 chests of pekoe at 6d.

Messrs. Cyril Trower and Co. announce a tea auction for Tuesday next under instructions from Messrs. Gerber, Michaut, and Co., comprising 1000 packages new season's Ceylons ex Ormuz and Arcadia. Catalogues and samples are now obtainable at the rooms, 199 Pitt-street.

Sugar.—No change occurred in this market, steady sales taking place.

Groceries.—Candles ruled very firm, there also being a keen inquiry for tinned fish of all descriptions. 500 cases of Mannanita asparagus were placed at market rates. 1500 cases of Milkmaid condensed milk sold in the aggregate at agents' prices.

Dried Fruits.—250 boxes of evaporated apples changed hands at 3½d in bond. Cables have been received indicating a recovery in currants in Greece after a slight fall which took place last week. The local market ruled firm.

Liquors.—250 cases of Hennessy's brandy changed hands at market rates. Other sales included the following parcels in the aggregate:—600 cases of Crawford's whisky, 450 cases of Dagger stout, 400 cases and 50 hogsheads of Aitken's ale, and a shipment of Rose's limejuice cordial, at market rates.

Metals.—Private cables have been received indicating a smart advance in I.C. coke tinplates. The rise is variously stated at from 9d to 1s 3d per box, according to delivery, prompt shipments being the dearest. One message gives some idea of the cause of the upward movement, stating:—"Market strong; purchases difficult to make; makers full of orders." On spot some 3000 boxes were bought up at to 15s 3d, and holders now ask a considerable advance on the rate current before the rise. Fencing wire had a good inquiry, several sales being effected at £8 12s 6d for No. 8, and £9 12s 6d for No. 10. Barbed wire was well held at full rates. Wire nails had a firmer tendency. Stocks of pig-iron on spot continue very light, and shipments afloat are also advised at moderate.

Jute Goods.—200 bales of cornsacks for August shipment changed hands for forward delivery. Fifty bales of 11¼ and 20 bales of 12 lb. woolpacks for June shipment sold at 2s and 2s 1d respectively.

Oils.—Kerosene ruled firm at 11d in small lots, and down to 10¼d f.o.b. Two hundred and fifty cases of China oil sold at market rates. Linseed and castor were both well held.

Now that a shipment of Russian bulk oil is en route from Batoum to Sydney naturally considerable interest attaches to that country as a producer of petroleum. The oil land in the Baku district is leased out by the Government to the highest bidders. Some of the wells are very prolific, one from June to August last turning out about 2,000,000 barrels, or an average of 37,000 barrels per day, a barrel containing 42 gallons. Several wells have started off with a daily output of 100,000 barrels, one producing over 4,000,000 barrels in 40 days. The U.S. consul at Batoum gives the production of different oils in the Baku district during 1899 and 1900 as follows:—

	1899. Gallons.	1900. Gallons.
Illuminating oil	615,805,000	617,250,000
Lubricating oil	67,015,000	67,055,000
Residuum	1,124,305,000	1,318,580,000
Crude	121,450,000	194,890,000
Total	1,918,585,000	2,197,785,000

The Strong and Trowbridge Company, writing from New York under date May 4, state:—"We are just advised of the charter of the ship Albyn by the Standard Oil Company for Melbourne or Sydney, August-September loading, to carry 100,000 cases of kerosene."

Lumber.—Messrs. Scott, Henderson, and Co. advise the receipt of the following information regarding the San Francisco lumber and freight markets to hand by mail:—

Oregon.—The price remains unchanged, i.e., 10dol. off schedule C. The mills are busy, and although the colonies are not taking anything to speak of, shipments off shore seem to keep up. The Orient and East Africa are very heavy buyers.

Redwood.—The price remains at £71dol. f.o.b. Humboldt Bay, but as the demand both off-shore and at home is very heavy we rather anticipate an advance of 50c. to 1dol. per M within the next few months. The prospects here are most encouraging; large crops, active trade, and everything looking more promising than we have ever seen it.

Freight.—There is no material change in the market since our last. Rates are weaker by reason of but few inquiries, but we know of no disengaged vessels available before October-November loading—everything has been chartered up to that time. We anticipate, however, that along towards the first of the year lower figures will rule, as, with so many tramp steamers headed for the Pacific unless there should be an abnormal increase in volume of trade we fail to see how present figures can be maintained.

Return of produce received at Sydney, Clyde, Homebush, Burwood, Ashfield, Petersham, and Newtown, per rail, for the week ended June 4:—

Butter, 196 kegs, 1586 cases; cheese, 95 cases; eggs, 316 cases; bacon, 16 bags, 113 sides; hay, 38 trucks; straw, 14 trucks; chaff, 387 trucks; wool, 372 bales; sheepskins, 752 bales; wheat, 3082 tons; flour, 1025 tons; oats, 36 tons; barley, 11 tons; meal, 3 tons; potatoes, 28 tons; bran, 173 tons; pollard, 93 tons.

The customs revenue received at Sydney to-day amounted to £9197. The principal items were:—

Spirits, £3727; wine, £17; ale, porter, and beer, £16; tobacco, cigars, and cigarettes, £1540; tea, £322; sugar and molasses, £90; dried and candied fruits, £623; confectionery, £44; preserves, £43; harbour and light rates, £890; pilotage, £96; colonial distilled spirits, £85; excise on tobacco, cigars, and cigarettes, £1163; excise on beer, £1210. Total, £9197.

EXPORT MARKET.

Shipment of Soft Fruits.—Our cables recently stated that the apples and pears which reached London in the Warrigal from Adelaide and Melbourne were in excellent condition, some of the pears realising as much as 28s per case. This is an excellent return. These pears were preserved by the Sutherland process, which is founded on two principles—first that all fruits keep in better condition the cooler they are, provided the temperature is not allowed to fall below freezing point; and, secondly, that it is essential that the skin of the fruit should be kept dry, as fungi are unable to germinate without the assistance of moisture. The fruit is kept dry by wrapping it in dry paper and enclosing the whole in wax paper bags, which are hermetically sealed. Some pears have been forwarded to Sydney by Messrs. George Wilcox and Co., which were taken haphazard from the shipment intended for the Warrigal. These had been kept at freezing works in Adelaide at between 30° and 35° Fahr., and consisted of Glout Morceau, Winter Nelis, Vicar of Wakefield, and L'Inconnue pears taken from the trees on March 29. On being tasted yesterday they proved quite as fresh and of quite as excellent a flavour as newly-picked fruit could have been. Doubtless it was similar fruit that realised 28s per case in London. The experiment is one of considerable interest, and our fruit-growers would do well to make themselves acquainted with the new method.

Butter Statistics.—The Collector of Customs states the imports of butter at the port of Sydney during the week ended June 4 amounted to 14,000lb., and the exports 141,568lb.

Wool Receipts.—At Darling Harbour to-day 78 bales of wool were manifested to arrive by rail and 64 were received coastwise.

COMMERCIAL TELEGRAMS.

ADELAIDE, Tuesday.

More wheat is offering, and several parcels were in the market to-day at 2s 10½. This is above buyers' ideas, and a reported sale of about 1000 bags at 2s 9d represents the market level. Flour is unaltered at £6 5s. Bran and pollard are still going out largely at 11½d for export. Inquiry for currants continues; none are available. Local sales of 25-case lots were made. Sales of trade parcels of Quaker oats, Ceylon tea, and liquids took place at late rates.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

On the Stock Exchange to-day Victorian 3 per cents. (new loan) sold at £96 7s 6d, and stock £99 10s, £99 15s; Metropolitan Board Works, 4½ per cents. (1905), £104 10s; Colonial Bank, ordinary shares, sold 22s 10d, and preferential £9 16s, £9 18s; Commercial, ordinary 20s, and preferential £7; Australian Deposit and Mortgage Preferential, 28s; Melbourne Trams, 23s 6d, 23s 2d, 23s; Silverton Tram, 79s; Melbourne Hydraulic, 19s.

Wheat is steady at 2s 9½d; bran, 10¼d to 10½d; pollard, 11d. Malting barley is firm, prime 3s 4d to 3s 5d, medium to good 2s 3d to 3s. Algerian oats are steady, feed 1s 6d to 1s 7d, milling 1s 7½d; new maize, 2s 5½d to 2s 6d. Chaff is in full supply at £3 5s to £3 17s. Potatoes are firm at £3 15s; onions, £10 10s.

At the tea sales, 390 chests of Ceylon tea were offered, and 309 chests sold at steady prices, from 5½d to 7½d. Private business covers 150 chests of Ceylon, 5½d to 9d. Dates sold to 5d. Good business was done in sheep tongues, including New South Wales at 13s f.o.b., and New Zealand, 15s 6d, duty paid; cornsacks on spot, 5s 3d; bran bags, 4s 4d to 4s 4½d. 50 tons of fencing wire sold. 300 tons of pigiron sold. Kerosene is 10½d for truck loads.

PRODUCE MARKETS.—Tuesday.

TRADE IN SUSSEX-STREET.

A good extent of business was transacted in most lines of general produce to-day. The markets were quiet in tone, no particular item displaying any marked degree of buoyancy. With one or two exceptions ample supplies were under offer. A rise in chaff, butter, potatoes, and a fall in oaten hay and lard were the chief changes in prices. The market for maize had a decidedly better tone, sales being effected more easily than was the case a few days ago. Oats had a moderate turnover, while a little trade was noted in the other grain lines. Both bran and pollard moved off steadily at the prices quoted. Under the hammer local chaff sold freely at higher rates, while imported makes had fairly good sale at firm prices. Oaten hay was in good demand at reduced values. Both straw and lucerne hay were in request at the prices quoted. The sale for potatoes was good at improved rates. Choice Tasmanian Circulars made 80s per ton. Onions continued scarce and dear. In dairy produce trade was steady in most lines. Butter was scarce, and in brisk request at 12d for choice brands.

Wholesale quotations were:—

REDFERN SALE.

At the Redfern railway terminus markets this morning a heavy supply of forage, principally chaff, was offered for sale. There was a large attendance of buyers, who operated with a considerable amount of freedom in all lines. The chief movements in prices were a rise in chaff and a fall in straw and oaten hay. Despite the large supply of chaff to hand auctioneers managed to make quick clearances at advanced rates for the bulk of the consignments. Extra choice green made 3s 11d to 4s 4d, prime to 3s 10d, good medium to 3s 6d, and rough from 2s 9d per cwt. Oaten hay was plentiful, and is good demand at reduced rates. Prime rack fetched 4s 9d to 5s 2d, good medium 4s to 4s 6d, and very rough from 2s 7d per cwt. Straw was cheaper and in moderate request. Derrick bales brought 1s 8d to 2s and bundles 1s 7d to 1s 11d per cwt. The inquiry for lucerne hay was good at about late firm values. Choice in small bales realised 3s, good medium 2s 6d to 2s 8d, and rough 2s 4d to 2s 5d per cwt. A prime lot of chickwheat found a buyer at 2s 5d per bushel. Bran moved off at 8¾d to 8½d, and pollard at 8½d per bushel respectively. A few bags of Brownell potatoes were taken at 2s 3d per cwt.

Appended are the proportions of the various descriptions of produce actually submitted at to-day's sale:—Chaff, 60 trucks; oaten hay, 10; straw, 11; lucerne, 6; wheat, 2; bran, 3; potatoes, 1; and oats, 1.

Among the consignees were:—Messrs. Ellis and Co., Dent and Perry, J. Bridge and Co., H. M. Suttor and Co., H. Prescott and Co., G. Wells and Matthews, B. Hall and Son, S. B. FRUIT MARKETS.

A moderate amount of business was passing in the fruit trade at the Bathurst-street markets this morning. Supplies under offer, though light, proved about equal to requirements. Lemons moved more freely, especially choice samples. Tomatoes were dearer and in good request up to 4s per half-case. The bulk of the pines offering were rather too green for immediate use. Apples sold fairly well, as did pears, which were not so plentiful.

Current quotations were:—

Passionfruit.—3s to 4s, good 5s to 6s, choice 7s 6d to 8s per gin-case; choice, 4s to 4s 6d per half-case.

Tomatoes.—2s 6d to 3s, choice 3s 6d to 4s per half-case.

Persimmons.—Choice ripe 3s 6d to 4s, others from 2s 6d to 3s per half-case.

Pears.—Victorian: Josephines, 5s to 6s per packer, extra large cases 8s; Napoleon, 3s to 4s per case. Tasmanian: Swan Eggs, 2s to 2s 6d; Bishop Thumbs, 1s 6d to 2s; Winter Coles, 2s 6d to 4s; Winter Nelis, 3s 6d to 5s per half-case. Napoleon 1s 6d to 2s 6d per half, 3s 6d to 4s per case, inferior and damaged pears almost unsaleable.

Oranges.—Main crop, rough, 1s 6d to 2s 6d, good to 4s 6d, choice 5s to 6s; Navel, 5s to 8s per gin-case.

Mandarins.—Emperors, 3s to 4s 6d, prime 5s, Thorales 2s to 6s per gin-case, choice 3s and 4s to 5s per half-case respectively.

Quinces.—Slow sale. 1s 6d to 2s 6d, choice 3s per gin-case.

Bananas.—Fiji, 2s to 3s, choice 3s 6d to 4s per bunch; Queensland, 1s 6d to 3s 6d, 8s to 9s and 7s to 8s per case respectively.

Lemons.—Dull of sale. Rough, 1s to 1s 6d; good, 2s to 3s, choice 3s 6d per gin-case.

Apples.—Tasmanian Alexanders, 4s to 5s 6d; Alphistones, 3s 6d to 4s; French crabs, 5s to 6s; Adam's Permains, 3s 6d to 5s; Scarlet Permains, 4s 6d to 6s, choicest 6s 6d to 7s; New York Pippins, 4s to 5s, choicest 6s; Victorian, cooking 4s to 5s, dessert 4s 6d to 7s per case; local sorts, dessert, 3s to 4s; Five Crowns, choice 8s to 10s, medium to 6s 6d per gin-case; good cooking, 4s to 5s; jam lots, 1s 6d to 2s per gin-case.

Pineapples.—Common, choice 7s to 8s, green 6s; Queens, choice, green, 7s per case.

VEGETABLE MARKET.

Only a moderate supply was under offer at the Belmore Markets this morning. The inquiry for all lines was good at about late firm rates.

Prices were as follow:—Cauliflowers, local, small 1s 6d to 2s, best to 4s 6d, Victorian 3s to 4s; cabbages, 6d to 1s, good 1s 6d to 2s 3d, choice 2s 6d to 3s, extra large 3s 6d, red cabbage 2s to 4s; horseradish 8s to 9s dozen bunches; beetroot, 9d to 1s; all herbs, 6d; mint, 8d; plain spinach, 6d to 8d; eschalots, 1s; leeks, 10d to 1s; white turnips, 1s; parsnips, 1s; rhubarb, 1s to 2s; celery, table 2s to 2s 6d, soup, 1s; watercress, 1s 6d to 2s; radishes, 6d; carrots, 8d to 9d; parsley, 9d to 1s; lettuce, 6d to 1s; green stuff, 4d; horse carrots, 4d per dozen bunches; green peas, 3s to 5s; French beans, 2s to 3s per bushel; vegetable marrows, 1s to 2s 6d per dozen; pumpkins, 2s 6d to 5s per dozen; tomatoes, 2s 6d to 3s per half-case, 1s 6d to 2s per quarter-case; chillies, 2s 6d to 3s; Jerusalem artichokes, 4s to 6s per cwt.; new kidney potatoes, 10s to 11s, Victorian 5s to 6s, Early Rose 5s to 6s; sweet potatoes, 3s to 3s 6d per cwt.

SYDNEY WOOL SALES.

The auctions held this week will be the last of the statistical year, closing 30th instant, and to-day, Tuesday, the following catalogues were submitted by the undermentioned brokers:—

Goldsbrough, Mort, and Co., Limited	448
Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited	392
Pitt, Son, and Badgery, Limited	103
Pastoral Finance Association, Limited	517
Dalgety and Co., Limited	527
	1987

Goldsbrough, Mort, and Co.'s selection, though small in the greasy division, comprised a fairly large assortment of scoured wools, of which the CG over Retreat brand, being a further consignment, was the chief attraction.

For greasy up to 7½d was realised for 12 bales of the LW over Timor mark, from Blandford, 7 bales bringing 7d. The wool showed fair quality and was of nice appearance and staple, rather heavy, though free. For a six-bale lot of lambs marked GB over DURI, from Tamworth, 8½d was paid.

Scoured sold to 15½d for 7 bales C in diamond over ALPHA from Queensland, 8 bales bringing 15d; of good quality and colour, and well got up. Other sales were:—Pikes Creek, from Stanthorpe, (Q.), 77 first lambs at 13½d, and 27 second lambs at 9½d., of fair length but rather dull; H and TM from Bourke, 6 locks at 9½d; GH over Gayles (local), 6 SP at 9d; JRL over PC from Stanthorpe, 5 first PW at 10½d; NA over Erambong (local), 6 SPC at 5½d.

Harrison, Jones, and Devlin's catalogue was also more important in the scoured than in the greasy section, local and country washeries contributing the bulk of the offerings.

Their highest price for greasy was 8½d, obtained for 44 bales marked MK over B, from Warialda, 15 bales realising 7½d and 5 bales bellies 5½d. The wool was of good quality, bright, well grown, and sound, though carrying a few seeds. Other sales were:—DM over B, from Queensland, 6 at 3½d; M over Molong, 7 at 7½d.

In scoured the best price was 15½d, paid for 14 bales B clothing of the Coolostai brand, from Warialda, 23 bales making 12½d, 15 bales C clothing 10½d, and 8 bales 9½d; 5 bales second stained pieces, 7½d. Other sales were:—RG over New England, 11 bales, nicely got up by Swinbourne and Stephens, at 13½d; CWF, 5 bales, prepared by the same scourers, at 12½d, 6 bales seconds at 8½d; HF in diamond over Downs, 8 locks at 7½d.

Pitt, Son, and Badgery's offerings were small and unimportant in both sections, the highest price for greasy being 8½d, obtained for 5 bales marked JP over Midway, from Quirindi, which, though of fair quality, carried a considerable proportion of burr. Other sales were:—RG over C, from Cooma, 32 fleece at 6½d, of medium quality and free, but rather heavy; G over A, from Inverell, 6 fleece at 5½d.

The Pastoral Finance Association, Limited, brought forward a very fair off-season selection, the offerings, both in greasy and scoured, being representative of the qualities and descriptions usually met with at this time of the year.

Greasy merino sold up to 8½d, this price being obtained for 10 bales marked — over JT over Young, 4 bales pieces bringing 6½d. The wool showed very good quality, and was very light, showy, and free. Other sales were:—JG, from The Rock, 6 bales at 8d, fairly bulky, free, and in dry condition; Head over Koolanurra over Mudgee, 25 at 6½d, of fair quality, but very burry and imperfectly skirted; AGN, from Gunnedah, 7 at 4½d, 5 at 4½d very burry; GB over F over Scone, 4 super black, of good colour, at 8½d; JCM over New England, 9 at 7½d.

Scoured sold to 16½d for 14 bales super combing, marked JH over Allora, very dry, and of light appearance, well scoured and got up by the Sydney Wool Scouring Company. Other sales were:—F&S in diamond over Glenbrook, 11 at 12½d, of fair length, strong-haired, free, and of very fair colour; WB over A over New England, 22 at 13½d, 4 locks at 8½d, 15 D at 8½d, bulky, and of good colour, free, with a fair amount of condition; NB over Riverview, from Inverell, 5 locks at 7½d.

Dalgety and Co.'s offerings consisted chiefly of Queensland consignments, many of which showed the effects of an unfavourable growing time. For greasy up to 8d was realised for 7 bales. RN over Galong, from Capilla, Q., a wool of good quality, fair length, generally light and free, with a slightly dusty tip. Other sales were:—SB over Turkey Creek (Springsure, Q.), 38 at 7¼d, 8 pieces at 6¼d, of useful quality, good length and staple, showing signs of a dry season in a dry and mushy tip; TF & Co. over Graredale (Richmond, Q.), 92 at 7¼d, 32 at 7d, 15 at 7d, 30 first pieces at 6½d, 4 pieces at 6¼d. This wool showed useful quality, deep growth, and general soundness, though the season had k.. some unfavourable effects. WG over R (Jericho, Q.), 9 at 6½d, of good quality, fair length, but heavy condition; LOM over Watervi w (Prairie, Q.), 21 at 7½d, 8 first pieces at 7d, of combing length, soft fine quality, slightly dusty.

Scoured sold up to 17d, the top price of the day, for 14 bales first combing of the Burslem over Q mark, from Hughenden, 45 bales bringing 16½d, 4 bales 16½d, 7 bales first pieces 16½d, 6 second pieces 15d. This wool was bright and attractive, showing fine quality, and was well got up.

There was a very good attendance of buyers, and competition was animated and well sustained. As compared with the auctions of a month ago there was no change for the bulk of wools, and previous rates were well maintained. There was an occasional irregularity tending in buyers' favour, but this was only noticeable in faulty lots. The market had considerable support from the Japanese section, and the finer quality wools were as usual in best demand.

Other sales were:—P&B over Corella, from Queensland, 9 at 14d, 6 at 13d, 11 at 12½d, 5 pieces at 11½d, 5 second pieces at 12d, of good length and staple, medium colour, somewhat irregular in quality and seedy. D in diamond over Baneda, from Tambo (Q.), 6 at 14d, bright, of medium length, dry, but weak in staple; WG over R, from Jericho (Q.), 5 bellies at 14½d, good length and quality, practically free; Aitkenvale over LM, 5 combing at 13d, 4 first pieces at 12d.

MELBOURNE LIVE STOCK MARKET.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

In the live stock market to-day the supply of fat sheep was moderate. Only 11,100 were yarded. They consisted chiefly of medium and useful descriptions. The general tone of the market was firmer, and though the demand was slightly irregular in most instances best descriptions ruled about 1s per head higher. Failing the competition of graziers, however, middling and inferior sorts were in slack request at late rates. Quotations were:—Prime crossbred wethers, 17s 6d to 19s; extra prime and heavy, 19s 9d to 21s; good, 15s to 16s; middling, 12s 9d to 14s 6d; prime crossbred ewes, 14s 6d to 16s; extra, 16s 6d to 19s, a few 21s; good, 12s 6d to 13s 9d; middling, 10s to 11s 9d; inferior, from 8s; best merino wethers, 16s to 17s 6d; good, 13s 6d to 15s; middling, 10s 6d to 12s; inferior, from 9s 6d.

Four thousand four hundred and forty fat lambs were penned. The market opened with a firm demand for best descriptions, but clearing sales were easier for all drafts not suitable for trade requirements. Prices gradually weakened, several drafts being turned out unsold. Prime sold 10s 9d to 12s 6d; extra, 13s to 13s 9d.

MINING INTELLIGENCE

The week opened quietly on the Mining market yesterday after the holiday, and the volume of business was small. Western Australian ventures were generally weaker, with the exception of Croesus Proprietary, which had sales at 3s, and closing quotations showing buyers 2s 8d, seller 3s. In the copper division Chillagoe Railway and Mines shares were somewhat firmer than on Saturday, with business at 22s 6d, and quotations, buyers 21s 9d, sellers 22s 6d. There was but little movement in local silver stocks, and prices showed no appreciable change. Business in dredging companies was represented by a sale of Colombo Dredging at 3s 6d. Sales of Mount Morgan shares were recorded at 98s 6d, with buyers still prepared to operate at that figure, and sellers, at 99s. In coal companies the only transaction was a sale of Hetton Coal at 45s.

YAMBULLA GOLD YIELDS.

TOWAMBA, Tuesday.

The latest crushings on the Yambulla goldfields are:—Duffy and Falkner, 5 tons for 12oz. 10dwt., Federal battery; Janson's tributers, 10 tons for 30oz., and W. Burton, 20 tons for 10oz., at Gough's battery. Janson's tributers have 10 tons of similar ore lying at Janson's battery waiting to be crushed as soon as there is sufficient water in the creek. Burton's crushing was taken from a 12ft. reef, and there are about 80 tons of similar ore at grass. Gough's battery is now putting through 40 tons for Lindwall and party. Haugh's tributers and Delaney and party have parcels lying at the Federal battery awaiting treatment.

CHILLAGOE RAILWAY AND MINES.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

Mr. C. L. Hewitt, secretary of the Chillagoe Railway and Mines, who is at present on the field in company with Mr. Fred. Back, the managing director, has wired to the board as follows:—"Railway completed with the exception of a few minor details, and will be shortly ready for Government inspection. Mr. Back is well satisfied with the line. Public traffic is well maintained and steadily increasing. The erection of the smelters is progressing satisfactorily, and we expect to finish six furnaces within three months. As soon as the ore bin siding is completed we will commence the delivery of ore. Mr. Weinberg reports that he is favourably impressed with the general prospects for immediate ore supplies. The Mungana is looking very well and developments are most promising."

NEW ZEALAND MINING.

WELLINGTON, Tuesday.

The Waihi mine for the four weeks returned bullion valued at £33,439. The total returns to date are £1,676,958. The dredging returns on the West Coast are improving.

35 Castlereagh-street, Sydney, 4th March, 1901.
To Mr. PALMER.
Dear Sir,—Some six months ago I was troubled with very acute pains in my legs which I treated as gout, and taking different patent remedies from which I got no relief, on the contrary gradually getting worse and suffering intense pain, until at last I could not stand on my feet, and had to take to my bed. My friends noticed the change which had come over me, and advised me to go to the hospital, and with their entreaties and knowing how bad I was I decided to go, as I would receive the best medical attention and skilful nursing. After remaining there for some time I found I was getting worse, and my complaint seemed to puzzle the medical men attending me; so I decided to leave the institution, and with the aid of sticks reached home and took to my bed again. About two weeks' later a gentleman asked me to try VITADATIO, and said that it had done "wonders for him;" he very kindly sent me a bottle to try. I found it act at once, and it did me so much good that I continued to take it, the result being that I can do without my sticks, and am a changed man completely. I have put fully a stone on in weight since I started to take the medicine, and I cannot say too much in praise of VITADATIO and what it has done for me. I am deeply indebted to the gentleman who advised me to take VITADATIO, and the great benefit it has been to me.
You are at liberty to make what use you like of this letter.
Yours respectfully,
FRED. W. MOODY.

Mr. S. A. PALMER.
Dear Sir,—For the past twelve years I have been a sufferer. I have been treated by doctors in Wallsend, Hamilton, Sydney, Rockhampton, and various places, but without success; they all failed to diagnose my case. Some said I suffered from kidneys out of order, ulcers on stomach, enlarged liver, pleurisy, &c.; but Vitadatio soon showed the disease, and I am now heavier than ever I was in my life. The hydatids have come away in great quantities, as witness to this I have given two bottles of same to your manager in Newcastle. I am thankful for the good health Vitadatio has given me, and will be willing at all times to tell others of its marvellous virtues.

HAVE TO HIDE THE BOTTLE.
"IF NOT, THE CHILDREN WOULD TAKE IT ALL AT ONE DOSE THEY LIKE IT SO WELL."
There are many reasons why Scott's Emulsion is the best of all household remedies. In the first place, it is common in every household at one time or another for the health of some member of the family to decline. From any one of a hundred or a thousand causes the system becomes undermined. Then at the first exposure there is a cough or cold, or bronchitis, or some other ailment which needs prompt attention. Scott's Emulsion is the best known specific for coughs, colds, and bronchitis, and all other forms of inflammation of throat or lungs, but as a specific is only a small part of its usefulness. To get down deeper into the cause of these local affections and treat the system as a whole is the best use to which Scott's Emulsion can be applied.
In writing about the general use of Scott's Emulsion for colds, a gentleman from Preston, Lancashire, says:—
"33 Euston-street, Preston, Lancashire, England, May 3rd, 1899.
"Dear Sirs,—I cannot speak too highly of Scott's Emulsion: it has done my children more good for colds than anything they have ever taken. You may be well assured that Scott's Emulsion will be well recommended by us to friends and others. We have to hide the bottle; if not, the children would take it all at one dose, they like it so well.—Yours faithfully,
"(Signed) GEORGE JENNINGS."
In Mr. Jennings's letter we find another reference to the fondness of children for the taste of Scott's Emulsion. In fact, in the majority of letters which we have received from those who describe the benefits derived by their children from Scott's Emulsion there is a special reference to the avidity with which children take this preparation. This fact alone is most satisfactory, because as a rule children dislike taking medicine, but in reality it is of minor importance compared to the perfect form in which Scott's Emulsion offers cod-liver oil to digestion. Where the plain oil upsets the stomach and deranges digestion Scott's Emulsion will have a favourable effect upon it. In fact, this preparation stimulates the appetite, and by its ease of absorption it is quickly taken into the blood, where it is used to improve the condition of the whole system. Scott's Emulsion is a standard remedial agent endorsed by all physicians.

COUGHS, COLDS on the CHEST, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, and CONSUMPTION.
Beware of "Coughs!!"
Remember that every Disease has its Commencement, and Consumption is No Exception to this Rule.
HEARNE'S BRONCHITIS CURE,
The FAMOUS REMEDY for COUGHS, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, and CONSUMPTION, has the Largest Sale of Any Chest Medicine in Australia.
Those who have taken this medicine are amazed at its wonderful influence. Sufferers from any form of bronchitis, distressing cough, difficulty of breathing, hoarseness, pain or soreness in the chest, experience delightful and immediate relief, and to those who are subject to colds on the chest it is invaluable, as it effects a complete cure. It is most comforting in allaying irritation in the throat, and giving strength to the voice, and it neither allows a cough or asthma to become chronic, nor consumption to develop. Consumption has never been known to exist where "Coughs" have been properly treated with this medicine. No house should be without it, as, taken at the beginning, a dose is generally sufficient, and a complete cure is certain.

A WOMAN'S DEATH.

THE INQUEST.

The adjourned inquest into the circumstances connected with the death of a young married woman named Ada Lavinia Kelso, which occurred at her residence, Coward-street, North Botany, on May 25, was concluded yesterday before the city coroner (Mr. J. C. Woore) and a jury at the Coroner's Court.

Mrs. Annie Jeffries, who resides at Mary Ann-street, Ultimo, said that to the best of her knowledge she had never seen deceased in her life. Witness was at home all day on the 18th ultimo. She did not go to Botany that day. On the following day the police called at her place and she gave them certain articles which belonged to her. She had never used them on anybody. Witness had never nursed ladies, and there was no notice of any kind on her house.

By Mr. Tillett: She had been living in the house for about three years.

William Mogford Hamlet, Government Analyst, said that on May 29 last he received two tin canisters from Senior-constable Wilson. They contained two glass jars with the stomach and contents and portions of the liver, spleen, and kidneys of deceased. A chemical analysis was made of the contents. In the liver and kidneys he found traces of strychnine, but none in any of the other viscera. He was of opinion that only a minute quantity of strychnine had been taken. It was such as he would expect to find when strychnine had been taken for medicinal purposes.

Lincoln Kelso, husband of deceased, said that she had resided with him at Coward-street, Botany. When he left home on the morning of the 18th ultimo she appeared to be all right, but when he returned home she was in bed, and complained of feeling ill. Later deceased told him that a certain event had taken place, and he called in medical attendance. Witness asked her to make a statement the day before she died, but she refused to do so.

Dr. F. W. Langton said that he saw deceased on May 21. She was then in a very collapsed condition through hemorrhage. He prescribed strychnine as a heart stimulant. Deceased told him that she had hurt herself lifting a tub.

Dr. P. G. Cooley, who attended deceased from May 21 until her death, said that he had prescribed strychnine and morphia as stimulants. He asked deceased if an instrument had been used, and she replied in the negative. He was present when Dr. Taylor made a post-mortem examination, and saw a certain internal wound, which, in his opinion, had been caused by an instrument.

Dr. Taylor, Government pathologist, said that he made a post-mortem examination of the body. He found a wound in one of the organs. In his opinion death was due to septicæmia following a certain event. The strychnine administered did not accelerate death. The treatment by Dr. Langton and Dr. Cooley was proper under the circumstances.

Dr. Jamieson said that he made an inspection of the body. The wound in his opinion was five or six days old, and had been caused by a blunt instrument.

Mary Withers, sister of deceased, said that she asked deceased what caused the event, and she wanted to know what the doctor had said. When told that the doctor said that some instrument had been used she said, "He is mistaken; it was a syringe." She also said that Mrs. Jeffries had used it somewhere in town on May 16. Witness had not heard of Mrs. Jeffries before.

Norman Kelso, son of deceased, said that he drove his mother to a house in Mary Ann-street, Ultimo, on May 18, and waited three-quarters of an hour for her.

After a brief retirement the jury returned a verdict of wilful murder against Annie Jeffries.

Accused was then committed to take her trial at the next sitting of the Criminal Court.

DEPUTATION.

RAILWAY MATTERS AT CROYDON.

A deputation, representing the Croydon Progress Association, was introduced to the Railway Commissioners yesterday morning by Mr. F. E. Winchcombe, M.L.A. The deputation represented that great inconvenience had been caused by the taking off of the 10.55 a.m. train from Croydon, and it was desired that this should be restored. It was also asked that greater facilities should be extended to holders of workmen's and school pupils' tickets, that certain sanitary improvements should be effected at Croydon station, and that the picket fence across the road at that station should be replaced with a paling fence.

The Commissioners, in reply, stated that the question of the request for the restoration of the 10.55 a.m. train from Croydon should be carefully considered to see whether it could be met. With regard to the matter of workmen's and school pupils' tickets, the arrangements at present were so liberal that they could not be extended without considerable inconvenience. The sanitary improvements asked for were already being carried out. As to the removal of the wooden fence across the road, the Commissioners would look at this on their next tour of inspection.

PARRAMATTA DISTRICT.

POLITICAL.

Following on the selection of a freetrade and liberal candidate to contest the Sherbrooke Electorate it is understood that two of the candidates that were in the field have retired in the interests of the party.

STRIKE MATTERS.

There is little fresh to report in regard to the ironworkers' assistants' strike, and the majority of the men are still out. Efforts, however, have been made to induce other workers to show their practical sympathy by coming out, but so far without success.

CLERK OF PETTY SESSIONS.

Mr. J. Watt, an old Parramatta resident, who has been acting C.P.S. at Broken Hill, has been appointed to the position of clerk of petty sessions at Parramatta. Mr. H. Conrell, who has been acting C.P.S. at Parramatta, has been transferred to Goulburn.

AMENDMENT OF THE EARLY CLOSING ACT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The "general reader" of the "Herald," which is but another name for "the public," must have noticed the remarkable fact that at least eight out of every ten of the gentlemen who have announced their candidature for the State Parliament declare themselves in favour of amending the Early Closing Act.

Curiosity must therefore naturally be felt throughout the State as to what such a bald assertion means, as they have all so far signally failed to enlighten the populace as to where alterations are necessary. It may be that they consider that the Act has faults and imperfections, and have recognised that its chief defect is in the break in the middle of the week, and consequently desire to have Saturday in lieu of Wednesday as at present declared and fixed by law as the most fitting day for the half-holiday. If it is in this manner they desire to embellish the Act then they can reasonably expect a strong support from shopkeepers and their assistants in almost every constituency.

Yet we are not unmindful that a slight agitation has been kept going by the opponents of early closing, and a criticism thereof indulged in which cannot be pleased. Those who are against a well deserving class enjoying a little leisure have in dealing with the question seemingly made up their minds to be unreasonable and unjust to our way of thinking. Thus it may be that the action of a few malcontents who rail in a humorously exaggerated tone against the imagined injustice of this humanitarian piece of legislation has had the effect of causing those seeking to enter Parliament to believe that there are serious wrongs in the statute which need redress, and hence the unity of declaration in favour of amendments. There is no question that the despair of our opponents has given them vigour, while we as a body have been enjoying our new-found leisure in a rational manner when perhaps we too, should have been actively engaged in making secure that for which we so long fought. We may possibly have been "indulging in a moment's pleasure to wail a week." Yet it seems passing strange that anyone seeking the office of legislator should endeavour to attain his object by announcing a determination to render abortive that which has given not alone liberty, but has also been productive both of health and comfort to a large and powerful section of the populace.

Such a measure had long before its consummation been urgently demanded, and those whose work lies chiefly behind the counter rejoiced in the belief that the public looked upon the early closing of shops as one of the most far-sighted, reasonable, and practicable schemes of reform enacted for many years past. But still those who so think may be wrong, and those candidates who favour amendments that would bring us back to our former slavery may be wise in their generation. Time alone can prove this.

Our opponents are never tired of endeavouring to prove that the votes of assistants count as little in a general election as party cries split the votes so as to render them abortive. They further assert that had it not been for Sir William Lyne and Messrs. M'Gowen and Hughes, Ms.L.A., open shops would still have been the order of the night. This we on behalf of the E. C. and S. A. A. will not admit. The concessions which employers and employees enjoy to-day might not without the aid and advocacy of such reformers have yet come to pass, but at a period somewhat later we are convinced that Parliament would be forced to listen to the united voice of a united class and redressed their wrongs just as effectively as did the Lyne Administration. That "period somewhat later" would have been the present. Although the boon of leaving work at a reasonable hour is acquired, the self-interest of those benefited is so involved in the retention of all their present rights that they are determined to work and vote as one man. They are going to hold fast to that which they have gained, and which has rendered their present lot if not an enviable at least an agreeable one. The question of freetrade and protection may be kept alive by the Liberal and Progressive associations, but such will not divide our party. We have no desire to constitute ourselves a body of self-degraded slaves, which we should do if we allowed our fiscal beliefs to induce us cast a vote for any candidate who desires to tamper with an Act that has been a shield of liberty to thousands, giving them reasonable time for mental improvement and healthful recreation as well, as enabling them to enjoy that which 18 months previous they were strangers to, opportunity to enjoy the society of their families and friends.

We are, &c.,

PAINLESS DENTISTRY, by the aid of
"CATAPHORESIS."
TEETH can now be prepared for Filling Absolutely Without Pain by the above newly-invented process—even if the nerve is exposed.
To more fully reassure readers of this fact, I have shown the letters received from some of the Highest Officials in the colony upon whom I have used the "Cataphoresis" to representatives of the Sydney Morning Herald and the Daily Telegraph, which letters can be seen at my Chambers.
This announcement will naturally commend itself to those who have been too nervous to consult a Dentist for fear of the pain which has hitherto been inseparable from having a tooth filled.

ADVERTISEMENTS.
All advertisements charged to account must bear the authorisation of insertion. The number of times they are to appear must be stated, otherwise they will be inserted till countermanded. No verbal communication can be attended to.
While every care is exercised, the proprietors do not hold themselves responsible for non-insertion of advertisements through accident or otherwise; and they reserve to themselves the right of omitting advertisements received and paid for in the usual course of business if they appear to be objectionable.
For the convenience of advertisers, replies to advertisements may be sent to the Herald Office, Hunter-street; also the Branch Office, King-street; but the proprietors will not accept any responsibility in this respect.
Advertisements are classified as far as possible for the convenience of readers. Advertisers will oblige by indicating, in the first line of the manuscript or order, under which particular heading the advertisement should appear. While every care is taken in classification, no responsibility is accepted.
Advertisers in the country can remit payment by Cheque, Money Order, Postal Notes, or Postage Stamps.
Births, Deaths, and Marriages, 3s each insertion. This includes publication in the Sydney Mail.
Notices of BIRTHS and DEATHS cannot be inserted in this journal unless endorsed with the name and address of the person by whom they are sent.
Notices of MARRIAGES cannot be inserted unless certified as correct by the officiating Minister or Registrar.
This rule is rendered necessary in consequence of false and malicious notices having been sent for publication for the purpose of annoying respectable persons.
IN MEMORIAM advertisements and RETURN THANKS, 3s each insertion.
The Pillar Box at Redfern Railway Station for receipt of advertisements and communications is cleared every evening at 8.30, 9.30, and 10.30.
